REVISED LOCAL BEER BILL SET FOR BALLOTING

Senate Group Bans Sale in Drug Stores and New Restaurants.

WINE IS RESTORED ON PAR WITH BREW

D. C. Commissioners Voice Approval; Body's Final Meeting Is Today.

Redrafted throughout, the District beer bill, with wine added by way of embellishment, yesterday was whipped into final shape by the Senate District Committee, and a meeting called for 10:30 a. m. today to report out the measure.

A favorable report by the District Commissioners was read to the group. The only two changes recommended by the city heads immediately were incorporated in the bill.

The Senate subcommittee's alterations were sweeping. The rewritten bill precludes serving of beer in drug stores. Under its terms, no restaurant can be licensed to serve the beverage unless it has been in business at least six months.

Rules on "Curb Service."

While forbidding "curb service" to automobiles, or service to customers at tables on public sidewalks, the redrafted version nevertheless permits sale of beer to motorists where their cars are "parked entirely upon the premises designated in the permit."

Earlier, Senator Millard E. Tydings (Democrat), Maryland, chairman of the special Senate beer subcommittee, failed in an effort to get unanimous Senate consent to file a report on the measure yesterday, contingent on the full District committee acting favorably. Senators McNary, of Oregon, and Borah, of Idaho (Republican), objected.

Following yesterday's committee session, the Maryland senator, predicted confidently, however, that the measure will be favorably reported today, and action taken by the Senate "at the earliest opening."

Wine Put in Redraft.

The Senate redraft specifically put 3.2 per cent wine back in the bill. The House failed in an attempt to do this, although the national beer bill makes 3.2 per cent wine legal. The Senate bill's new language calls not only for beer, lager beer, ale, and porter, but "wine, similar fermented malt or vinous liquor, or fruit juice."

It was on recommendation of the Commisioners that the Senate District Committee yesterday struck out the plan to allow cafe tables on sidewalks. The Commissioners advised that present personnel can handle administrative work under the act. On their suggestion an authorization permitting employment of additional help up to a $25,000 limit, was eliminated.

Meanwhile, a remark, said to have been made in jest by Representative

Perfect Shot Separates Bank Bandit From Loot

Siloam Springs, Ark., March 28 (A. P.).—Three bandits who robbed the Bratt State Bank here at noon today, kidnaping the cashier, lost most of their loot in a gun battle with officers and citizens when John Haney, big-game hunter, shot a flour sack containing several thousand dollars out of the hands of one of the robbers as he fled.

The bandits escaped with the rest of the loot in the direction of Decatur, Ark., north of here, and a posse was in close pursuit.

Senate Page Collides With Mrs. Crichton in Hasty Exit From Room.

Mrs. MacPHERSON CRICHTON.

Mrs. Crichton, widely known for her political activities, was visiting the Capitol with a group of friends. As she walked past the door of the Senate reception room, James Edward

HOUSE BODY VOTES ARMS BAN POWERS

(Associated Press.)

Discretionary power for President Roosevelt to declare an arms embargo against any foreign country was voted yesterday by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

A resolution by Chairman McReynolds (Democrat), Tennessee, was reported by a strict party vote of 15 to 6, with the Republicans voicing opposition on the ground that the proposal revived the League of Nations issue.

McReynolds said he would seek house action on the resolution next week and predicted it would be approved. Meanwhile, Representative Fish, of New York, ranking Republican, and Tinkham (Republican), Massachusetts, planned to file a minority report.

Committee action came after the resolution had been assailed by Prof. Edward M. Orrd, professor of international law at Yale University. He also read a letter from John Bassett Moore, one-time counselor of the State Department, in which it was declared the measure was unconstitutional and "would permit the President to carry us into war without the prerequisite declaration by Congress."

Charging that the Democratic majority "steam rollered" committee action on the proposal, Fish said:

"The resolution in effect would put us into the League of Nations by the front door, not by any back door or trap door. It would give the President authority to sit as a judge of a war and decide which nation was the aggressor and would empower him to stop shipments of arms and munitions to that nation."

Tinkham was flushed as he came out of the hour and a half executive session of the committee. He immediately told newspapermen:

"It is a fight of pro-League of Nations entry and anti-League of Nations entry. It is the same old thing in a new and dangerous form."

McReynolds explained to newspapermen that the purpose of the resolution was not to make it effective against Japan or any other nation, but to permit all the great powers to join in a movement to stop wars by imposing embargoes.

Gallipolis, Ohio, Bank Is Robbed of $15,000

Gallipolis, Ohio, March 28 (A.P.).—Three robbers obtained between $15,000 and $25,000 in cash at the First National Bank here today after holding officials and customers at bay with guns and then locking them in a vault.

It was the first bank robbery in Gallipolis' history.

JEWISH CLAMP SET SATURDAY BY NAZI CHIEFS

Boycott to Be Effected Unless Government Intervenes.

DISORDERS REPORTED THROUGHOUT NATION

Step Surprise as Delay Was Expected Until Feeling Abroad Had Cooled.

Berlin, March 28 (A.P.).—The specter of a nation-wide boycott against Jews hung sword-like over Germany tonight with publication of extensive detailed plans by Adolf Hitler's Nazis to clamp down the lid on all Jewish business and professional activity at 10 a. m., April 1.

In 11 points the Nazi followers were advised how, why and when the boycott would be "inaugurated like a blow."

Unless the government prohibits it, no phase of Jewish life, judging from the proclamation at National Socialist party headquarters in Munich, will be spared.

Jewish merchants, doctors and lawyers will be targets of the campaign as well as Jewish children, to whom the Nazi pronuciamento would bar certain professions and even would prevent extensive attendances by Jewish children in the schools.

Comes as Surprise.

Publication of the boycott call came as a surprise, as the newspapers had insisted it would not be issued until anti-German utterances abroad had cooled down.

The release of the boycott announcement at 9 p. m. today indicated that the left wing of the Nazis had temporarily triumphed over the more moderate wing of Chancellor Hitler and Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior. Among the left leaders are Joseph Goebels, propaganda minister; Hermann Goering, minister without portfolio, and Hans Kerrl, president of the Prussian diet.

Tonight it was impossible to forecast whether the government would intervene.

Disorders Are Reported.

Sporadic disorders reflecting anti-Jewish sentiment were reported from various parts of the country. In one upper Silesian town Jews were forced to close their stores and to pay two months' wages to their employes.

At Bitterfeld, near Berlin, Nazi groups closed up Jewish market stalls and ordered their proprietors out of town.

Unidentified men swinging clubs damaged a store at Neumuenster which opened after having been closed for two weeks by the police. They drove out customers, broke windows, and upset counters. Three arrests were made.

Nazi opposition resulted in the closing of six stores of the Woolworth chain in various parts of Germany. It is understood that the Nazi stand against this chain is based on a letter from a German-American who said the original Woolworth was a Jew.

Former Theater Man Here Suicide

J. L. Thompson, 40, Found Hanging at Home at Colonial Beach.

Colonial Beach, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Coroner F. L. Denson of Colonial Beach today returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Joseph L. Thompson, 40, of Washington, who was found hanging by a window cord in the garage of his summer home this morning.

Mr. Thompson, a former R. K. O. theater employe in Washington, had been in ill health for some time following a nervous breakdown. Accompanied by his wife he came to his summer home here last Wednesday. His widow, mother and five brothers survive. Burial will be in the Cedar Hill Cemetery in Washington.

Mr. Thompson was for many years a property man at R. K. O.-Keith's Theater. He made his home at 233 Massachusetts avenue northeast. His relatives could not be reached last night, and friends were at a loss to explain his act.

6,000 Volts

Knock Out Radio Engineer, but He Survives to Tell Story.

Contact with a radio antenna, which sent 6,000 volts of electricity surging through his body, yesterday put Gormer L. Davies, Bureau of Standards engineer, in Casualty Hospital, where he miraculously lives to tell the tale.

Davies probably owes his life to a fellow engineer, William H. Orton, of 4817 Conduit road northwest. Hardly had Davies touched the wire, when Orton grabbed a switch, cutting off the current.

The two men were working at the Bureau of Standards radio beacon laboratory in College Park, Md. Inadvertently, Davies brushed against a lead wire from the radio antenna. Orton, seeing his plight, grabbed the switch.

Davies was hurled several feet, to fall unconscious on the ground. After artificial respiration was administered by Orton, Davies was taken to the hospital by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad. His condition was described last night as "fair."

MEXICAN POSTERS DENOUNCE DANIELS

Mexico City, March 28 (A.P.).—Posters attacking Joseph Daniels, the new American Ambassador to Mexico, appeared on walls in Mexico City today.

The posters were captioned "Out With Daniels" and they called him "the murderer of Azueta and Uribe." These men were Mexicans who were killed in the fighting when United States forces landed at Vera Cruz in 1914. At the time Mr. Daniels was Secretary of the Navy. The posters were signed "The Central Committee of the Communist Party of Mexico Section of the Communist International."

It was learned today that Communists stoned the American Embassy last Friday night in a demonstration against the naming of Mr. Daniels.

Several windows of the embassy were broken. Policemen who guard the embassy were lured away from the building by one group, while others rushed in to stone the place.

Arthur Bliss Lane, charge d'affaires, who had just returned from Washington, reported the incident to the foreign office and to the chief of police. The police have not yet made the matter public and it could not be learned whether any arrests have been made.

It was definitely learned today that W. F. Flanley, president of the American Chamber of Commerce, last week sent a telegram to Secretary Hull, protesting against the appointment of Mr. Daniels. The text of Mr. Flanley's telegram and Secretary Hull's reply were not made public here.

(Associated Press.)

Attacks in Mexico City against Ambassador Josephus Daniels' appointment yesterday created surprise among officials here. A noncommittal silence was maintained at the State Department.

Official reports of the poster campaign against Daniels had not reached the department from the Mexico City Embassy late yesterday, but observers there regarded an allegation that the new ambassador intended to organize the Mexican army and navy to fight an imperialistic war for the United States as too absurd for comment.

SENATE PASSES FORESTRY PLAN TO AID JOBLESS

COMMITTEE FAVORS $500,000,000 RELIEF

Wagner Bill to Ease R. F. C. Loan Limitations Will Be Studied Tomorrow.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt's bill to put men to work in the forests swept through the Senate yesterday without even the formality of a record vote and was sent to the House, where leaders forecast its approval today.

The Senate then prepared to take up today, if the Chief Executive desires, the second part of his broad unemployment relief program—a bill to create a $500,000,000 fund for direct grants to the States.

This broader plan for aid to the destitute swiftly was approved by the Senate Banking Committe earlier in the day without a dissenting vote. The necessity for its quick approval was somewhat lessened, however, when the Senate adopted an amendment to the reforestation measure removing restrictions on relief funds already authorized.

Fourth Measure Passed.

Passage of the Roosevelt reforestation measure marked the fourth of the President's emergency measures to get through the Senate this session. The others were the banking, economy and beer bills.

It is only the first of a series of steps planned by the Chief Executive, however, to relieve the Nation's millions of jobless.

In addition to the creation of the $500,000,000 relief fund, the President plans also a huge public works program running to about $1,000,000,000 and probably liberalization of the law under which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation makes loans for public construction by States and subdivisions.

Committee to Begin Study.

The Senate Banking Committee will begin study tomorrow of a bill by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, to permit loans by the corporation for all projects deemed "needful and in the public interest."

Under the bill passed by the Senate yesterday, the President plans to create a civilian conservation corps chiefly enlisted from the unemployed in the big cities to work on refores-

Nazi Bavarian Official Removes Duelling Ban

Munich, Germany, March 28 (A.P.). The ban on student duelling in Bavarian universities was ordered removed today by the Nazi commissionership for the minister of justice in Bavaria.

A criminal code drawn up by the German Republic, in 1928, contained 10 articles designed to put an end to duelling. Despite the ban, the art of student duelling, or mensuren, was practiced in secret societies known as Verbindungent, membership in which was considered an honor.

FEDERAL PAY SLASH OF 15 PER CENT TO BE EFFECTIVE SATURDAY

Tax Cuts to Balance D. C. Savings Asked

Move for "Commensurate" Reductions Started by King; Drastic Economies Threaten Closing of 3 Libraries and School Crowding.

While Washington sought to recover from the first shock of the Budget Bureau's $11,000,000 slash in District budget estimates, Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee, moved yesterday for "commensurate" tax reductions.

Senator King called on District Auditor Daniel J. Donovan for a statement of the probable revenue surplus if the proposed expenditures slash gets congressional approval. He plans to introduce a resolution to cut the general property tax to the level of local needs.

Meanwhile, House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan asked the District Commissioners and Maj. Donovan to appear before his deficiencies appropriations subcommittee at 10:30 a. m. today for the first hearing on the $30,302,000 District bill.

Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), Missouri, and other members of the old District appropriations subcommittee, will sit through today's hearings. Representative Cannon will handle the bill when it goes before the House, possibly late this week.

No further hearings have been scheduled, although Representative Buchanan has intimated citizens will be called in on major alterations in the bill.

While declining to comment on specific budget cuts until he has studied the bill, Senator King said he was opposed to accumulating a large District surplus in the Treasury just because expenditures have been sharply curtailed.

"I see no reason to pile up this money from tax receipts, unless we are going to spend it," he said. "Inasmuch as expenditures have been cut

POWERS INCREASED FOR CONSERVATORS

Banks May Permit Limited Withdrawals if Officials Agree.

The banks of the Capital which are under conservators are permitted to allow partial withdrawals by depositors, under a regulation promulgated yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury Woodin.

Whether the conservators will find it to the interests of the bank to take advantage of the regulation is uncertain. None of the conservators had received official notification of the new regulation at the close of business yesterday.

If any conservator should find it feasible to permit the withdrawals, the operation of the regulation would probably be delayed for a few days, because he must first secure the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

The emergency banking act enables the conservator to set aside for withdrawal by depositors on a ratable basis such amounts as the comptroller believes may be so used safely.

If a conservator should find that his particular bank is in a position to pay a proportion of its deposits to its customers, he may apply to the

7,000 Britons Idle After Ford Strike

Closing Notice Is Placed at Plant as Men Hold Mass Meeting.

Dagenham, England, March 28 (A. P.).—A closing notice, making 7,000 workers idle, was nailed on a wooden barricade near the Ford automobile plant today while a mass meeting of strikers was in session. Police prevented a rush to the barricade.

At the meeting strike leaders declared the company's action will not swerve them from their determination to obtain satisfaction. Picketing was continued.

The strike resulted from wage cuts. Sir Percival Perry, chairman of the Ford Co. of Great Britain, took a personal hand in the controversy by appearing at the barricade, which was erected across a private road leading to the plant, and announcing to the strikers that he would talk things over with a delegation of six men representing them. No agreement resulted from this conference.

Cummings Seen Keeping Attorney General Post

Bridgeport, Conn., March 28 (U.P.). Indication that Homer S. Cummings probably would continue as Attorney General was seen here today when official notice of his withdrawal from the Stamford law firm of Cummings & Lockwood was filed with the clerk of superior court.

President Roosevelt gave Cummings a temporary appointment as Attorney General when Senator Thomas J. Walsh died suddenly. Cummings was to have become Governor General of the Philippines, in which office he might properly have retained his connection with the law firm.

ANGLO-U. S. TALKS TO RESUME TODAY

All Other World Parleys Are Subordinated to Sessions of Hull and Lindsay.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The United States and Great Britain today enter the second phase of their Washington conference, out of which is expected to come the basis of an Anglo-American agreement on debts and on the general principles of the World Economic Conference.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador, notified the State Department last night that he was prepared to discuss the proposals made by Secretary Hull in their first meeting last Monday.

It also became known yesterday that for the present all other international talks embodying debts or economics will be subordinated to the conversations now going on between Sir Ronald and Secretary Hull.

The conversations have not progressed sufficiently to set any definite date for the economic conference.

If Sir Ronald and Secretary Hull are able to forge a common measure of agreement on the main points of the economic program, and at the same time get within a radius of conciliation on the debt problem, the most difficult work will have already been accomplished.

The order of the discussions has not been definitely drawn up as yet. In their first meeting Secretary Hull, assisted by his two experts, Assistant Secretary Moley and his economic adviser, Dr. Herbert Feis, laid down the bases of what he considered the form

A platinum bracelet set with diamonds and emeralds, valued at $2,000, was reported lost in a taxicab by Miss Ann Elliot, of Chicago, Ill., who told police yesterday that she left the jewelry in a taxi while riding from the Mayflower Hotel, where she is staying, to the Madrillon Restaurant.

An insurance policy covering the value of the bracelet was said to have expired several days ago, according to police.

Four Hurt in Stampede With Employer Amuck

Philadelphia, March 28 (A.P.).—Four persons were hurt today as 140 hosiery employes fled before the blazing pistols of their employer.

Those hurt received their injuries in leaping out windows. Police captured the man, Theodore Levinsky, 60. He was held under $1,500 bail for court.

Police said Levinsky, who had about $3,000 invested in the hosiery business, imagined the other partners were conspiring to oust him.

Richmond Asks Watch For a Counterfeiter Car

Washington police were asked last night to be on the lookout for an automobile bearing New Jersey license tags which was believed to be occupied by several persons wanted in Richmond, Va., on charges of passing counterfeit money.

When last seen the car was believed to be en route to Washington.

Three Months' Cut Is Due to Save $30,000,000.

ORDER ISSUED BY PRESIDENT

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Making first use of the vast powers voted him eight days ago by an acquiescent Congress, President Roosevelt last night ordered into operation the long-awaited 15 per cent cut in Federal pay.

The slash will take effect Saturday. It will hit directly the pay of every Government employe not protected by the Constitution. Members of Congress, Army and Navy officers and enlisted personnel, high paid department chiefs and low salaried clerks, all will come in for their share of the reduction.

Last night's executive order covered only the period from April 1 through June, but it is understood another reduction will be ordered at the end of this fiscal year, unless cost of living indices mount beyond all expectation.

Received Without Protest.

The blow was received without protest by the great mass of Federal personnel, who knew it was coming, and accepted in good faith the emergency action which made it necessary.

Earlier yesterday, the last vestige of the economy act disappeared into the limbo of dead legislation, when Secretary of Labor Perkins discontinued the five-day week in the Labor Department and ordered the more than 700 workers in her agency back on their old 5½-day week basis.

Her order was issued to comply with the provisions of the same economy act which gave President Roosevelt authority to cut pay up to 15 per cent. The furlough, under which the five-day week was invoked in the Labor Department, perished with the old economy law. American Federation of Labor officials made a futile effort to save it.

Living Costs Basis.

The general salary reduction ordered last night was based on the difference in cost of living during the last six months of 1932 as compared with the six-month period ended December 31, 1928, taken as a base period. The President was authorized to cut salaries by the amount of difference shown between the two sets of index figures, but not over 15 per cent.

Mr. Roosevelt found the index figure for the 1928 period to be 171, and for the 1932 period, 133.9. The difference between the two indices indicated 1932 living costs were 21.7 per cent below the 1928 standard.

Loiterer Admits Plot To Murder Mussolini

Rome, March 28 (A.P.).—Police disclosed today that detectives had frustrated a plot to assassinate Premier Mussolini last Monday.

On that day they picked up a loiterer in the Plaza Veezia, on which the premier's office windows face. He had a gun in his pocket and at police headquarters he was said to have confessed that he intended to shoot when the premier came out of his office. The man is still under examination.

Lindbergh Suspect Paroled Because 'He's Not Bad Boy'

Just Read Too Many Imaginative Stories, Judge Says at Hearing for Akron Youth, 15, Who Admits Sending Demand Letters.

Akron, Ohio, March 28 (A.P.).—A 15-year-old boy accused of attempting to extort $25,000 from Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh by writing threatening letters will be placed on parole because he is "not a bad boy," Juvenile Judge Oscar Hunsicker decided today.

"He just read too many imaginative stories," the judge said after conducting a hearing for the lad—Proveno "Peanuts" Marcella—behind closed doors.

The court expressed the wish that the lad's parish priest would consent to have Proveno paroled to him. Meanwhile, the boy will be held in the juvenile detention home.

Postal Inspector Ernest D. Claggett said young Marcella, a high school student, whose father, Tony Marcella, operates a store and filling station near here, admitted writing two letters to Mrs. Lindbergh demanding blackmail.

Neither of the two letters, however, reached the wife of the famous aviator. The first was intercepted here, the second at Washington.

Miami, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—A Federal grand jury, meeting here April 10, will consider evidence in the case of Gilford Clobridge, charged with attempting to extort $50,000 from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Emory Akerman, assistant United States district attorney, today announced.

Clobridge was arrested here last week by postal authorities, who charged he sent a letter to Col. Lindbergh at Hopewell, N. J., demanding $50,000 "or you know what will happen." The letter was signed "L. B." Clobridge told investigators the letters were the initials of his sister-in-law in West Brighton, N. Y.

Clobridge told authorities he sent the letter as a means of "getting even" with his estranged wife and family. He is held under $10,000 bond.

COTTON POOL PLAN'S CHANCES HELD GOOD

Senators Revising Farm Aid Bill From Big Mass of Conflicting Data.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate Agriculture Committee set about rewriting the Roosevelt farm relief bill last night with page on page of criticism and praise—product of nearly a week's hearings—to guide it.

Just what form the finished measure will take as it leaves the committee's hands, probably Friday or Saturday, was a subject on which members would only speculate as they reviewed the mass of data put before them.

Indications were that the novel cotton option pool plan, advocated by Chairman Smith as a way of removing some of the surplus and cutting production, would be in it, possibly with some form of a domestic allotment and price guaranty plan.

Nearly a dozen witnesses—for the most part opponents of the Roosevelt measure giving broad powers to Secretary Wallace to cope with the farmer's ills—went before the committee yesterday.

Two, U. B. Blalock, president of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, and Charles W. Holman, of Washington, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Association, pledged the administration bill their unqualified support.

W. M. Reid, of New Orleans, secretary of the Rice Millers Association, approved the measure, but warned that it would have to be carefully administered to prevent injustices.

Those who put before the committee varying criticism of the bill included F. E. Mollin, of Denver, secretary of the American National Live Stock Association; C. H. Corn, of Franklin, Tenn., for the Soft Wheat Millers Association; C. D. Streeter, of Keokuk, Iowa; Christian Jensen, of Putney, S. Dak.; W. W. Woods, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, and Cal A. Ward, of Salina, president of the Kansas Farmers Union.

Mother, in Court, Loses Child Move

Hears Montgomery Judge Told Its Whereabouts Is Not Known.

Efforts of a mother to regain her 5-year-old child through habeas corpus proceedings failed yesterday in Montgomery County Circuit Court when the parents of her divorced husband denied they knew of the whereabouts of either the husband or the child.

The mother, Mrs. Dorothy French, of Milwaukee, Wis., had heard that the child, alleged to have been taken from Milwaukee in January by the estranged husband, was in the custody of the husband's relatives in Takoma Park, Md.

The grandparents yesterday told Judge Charles W. Woodward they were without knowledge of the whereabouts of the child or their son.

Medical Lecture Is Given Dentists

Dr. Yater Explains Nature of Heart Disease at Society Meeting.

Addresses by Dr. Wallace M. Yater, professor of medicine at Georgetown University, and Dr. George R. Ellis, D. D. S., featured last night's meeting of the District of Columbia Dental Society, at George Washington University Medical Building. Dr. Charles D. Cole, president of the society, presided and introduced Dr. William I. Ogus, chairman of the essay committee, who in turn introduced the speakers.

Both talks were designed to show the close affiliation between medicine and dentistry. Dr. Yater spoke on "How Much of a Physician Shuld a Dentist Be" and "The Fundamentals of Heart Disease." Dr. Ellis spoke on "The Relation of General Dentistry to Systemic Diseases." Dr. W. S. Benedict discussed Dr. Yater's paper and Dr. A. D. Weakley that of Dr. Ellis.

Stolen Car Abandoned On Rails and Wrecked

Police were wondering last night whether automobile thieves were beginning to follow the practice of bootleggers in destroying the evidence.

While cruising in the Northeast section yesterday, Policemen F. S. Hawthorne, and E. E. Kane chanced to see a car that had been reported stolen. They gave chase, but were eluded at South Dakota avenue northeast. A short while later, they found the wreck of the car along the B. & O. tracks near New York avenue. It had been driven onto the tracks and abandoned in front of a freight train.

12 Men Escape Injury In Gasoline Explosion

Long Beach, Calif., March 28 (A.P.).—Twelve men narrowly escaped death or injury and $25,000 damage was done when an explosion and fire wrecked the compressor and storage plant of the Standard Gasoline Corporation here today.

Officials said the blast probably was caused by the dropping of a compressor bottom. The fire for a time threatened adjoining storage tanks and oil wells, but it was soon brought under control and extinguished.

Einstein Reaches Antwerp.

Interest Rate Deliberation Delays Farm Mortgage Bill

Roosevelt, Woodin, Morgenthau, McAdoo and Myers Confer on Credit Situation; Money to Be Raised Selling Trust Certificates.

Determination of interest rates under the plan for Federal refinancing of farm mortgages yesterday blocked the path of the bill, but its final draft is expected to be ready for Congress by the end of the week. The plan was discussed yesterday at the White House by the President, Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Henry Morgenthau, jr., governor of the new Farm Credit Administration; Senator McAdoo, of California, and W. I. Myers, of the Farm Board. Secretary Woodin, Senator McAdoo, Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Myers will continue the discussion until the rate is fixed.

The money to take over farm mortgages from present holders would be raised by the sale of trust certificates. The interest paid on these certificates must be high enough to assure their sale, but at the same time low enough to reduce the interest the farmer pays on his present debt. It is understood that there is a difference of opinion about the possible rate. This difference caused the hitch in the discussion of the bill, it is reported.

It is also understood that Senator McAdoo today will introduce a measure for the refinancing of farm mortgages. This plan will not be the administration measure. Senator McAdoo, however, is not offering it as a substitute for the President's bill, and is also working with the administration forces on their plan.

The plan so far does not set any limit on the amount of refinancing to be done. Estimates of the general total range from $2,000,000,000 to almost $9,000,000,000, which represents the outstanding mortgages on the country's farms. A low interest rate would probably lead to the refinancing of nearly all mortgages, unless the bill limits the operation.

Under the plan, the Government would guarantee the interest on bonds issued to raise money for refinancing but would not guarantee the principal. Guaranteed interest payments, it is hoped, would enable the bonds to be sold at a lower rate of interest, making possible lower charges against the farmer. To guarantee the principal, it was pointed out, might classify them as an obligation of the Government.

Another provision of the plan would allow the Federal Land Banks to take second mortgages on farm property. The money loaned on these mortgages would be applied to reducing the first mortgages to not more than 75 per cent of the value of the farm. The second trust would not amount to more than three-quarters of the farm's value, so that both mortgage holders would be protected by a 25 per cent margin against shrinking values.

Meanwhile, the Department of Agriculture was making plans to have money ready for distribution by June if the farm relief plan passes Congress without major changes. The department would issue adjustment certificates to farmers who have agreed to reduce acreage, if the bill passes in its present form.

One plan is for these certificates to be cashed, at least in part, by the Treasury. The other would allow them to be used as collateral security for loans from banks. The plans are only tentative at present because of the possibility that the bill will be changed in the Senate.

Loring Black, jr. (Democrat), New York, that Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride was "apparently in league with the brewers," drew denials both from the corporation counsel and Chairman Mary T. Norton of the House District Committee.

Mrs. Norton's Statement.

"I would be the first person to condemn Mr. Bride if I thought that the charges were well founded or true," Mrs. Norton said, in a 500-word statement. "It is because I am absolutely convinced that a great injustice has been done to him personally that I authorize this statement."

In the beer bill revised yesterday by the Senate District Committee, a new type of permit was authorized. In addition to the "on sale," "off sale" and brewers' permits created, providing fees of $100, $50 and $1,000, respectively, a wholesalers' permit was established, allowing the licensee to sell beer to other licensees "for resale only." This permit would cost $250.

Where the House bill had provided that only incorporated clubs collecting dues of at least $15 a year from each member could be licensed, the Senate bill reduced this requirement to $6 a year.

"Rushing the Can."

The old practice of "rushing the can" would be ruled out under the revised draft. The measure provides that beer sold at "off sale" stands must be carried away in the original containers.

A limit of 5 permits would be placed on chain stores and other "off sale" operators maintaining more than one stand.

A prohibition on serving beer in drug stores was provided by requiring the beverage could be served in rooms dedicated exclusively to the consumption of food. Nowhere could the beer be served at counters or bars, the measure legalizing "public table" service only.

Precaution was taken against brewer control of the beer business by denying brewers the right to any financial interest in establishments run by "on sale" or "off sale" licenses.

A drastic $1,000 fine or one year's imprisonment was recommended by Tydings as penalty for violations of the act, but on the advice of committee members, this was cut down to $500 or six months' imprisonment.

There was talk of giving the Commissioners authority to extend the age limit from 18 to 21 years, at their discretion, but no final action was taken in this respect.

Senator Arthur Capper, dry Kansas Republican and former chairman of the committee, sat through yesterday's session, but announced he would vote against the bill.

Sidewalk Tables Opposed.

Participating in the discussion were Senators Austin, Vermont; Couzens, Michigan, and Carey, Wyoming (Republicans), and Copeland, New York; Gore, Oklahoma; King, Utah, and Tydings (Democrats).

Explaining their objection to sidewalk tables, advocated by Senator Tydings "to keep drinking in the open," the Commissioners wrote:

"The courts have held that the District must use reasonable care in keeping its sidewalks and parking adjacent thereto in a safe condition for use by pedestrians. Should a pedestrian be injured by falling against a table or chair placed by such licensee upon the sidewalk or parking it is quite probable the District would be mulcted into damages. Furthermore, the Commissioners believe the serving of beverages or food at tables in the open close to the roadway of a street should not be permitted for the protection of the public health, since such beverages and food are likely to become contaminated by the dirt and dust necessarily stirred up by the use of the street."

TAX REDUCTIONS IN KEEPING WITH D. C. ECONOMY ASKED

under the new budget, I favor reducing taxes commensurately."

Representative Buchanan and Representative Cannon declined to comment on the extensive budget reductions. It was generaly conceded in Congressional circles, however, that anything the Budget Bureau recommends that has Mr. Roosevelt's indorsement is likely to go through the House with few changes.

If given an opportunity, District citizens will protest the cuts on a wide front. The commissioners today will point out a few of the changes that are likely to develop an undesirable situation unless remedied.

While school officials refrained from comment yesterday, it is known that failure to provide funds for construction of the new Woodrow Wilson High School, one elementary school and two junior high school additions, is likely to result in overcrowding. Double shifts may be in order in some of the high schools as result of eliminating the Woodrow Wilson project.

Dr. George F. Bowerman, District librarian, said curtailment of library funds will result in closing at least three library branches, located in Chevy Chase, Tenleytown and Woodridge. He pointed out that demands on the central library are more than can be taken care of, and are constantly increasing. Seven trained library workers and two janitors will have to be discharged unless salary allowances are expanded, he said, adding that a serious curtailment in the library's service also will result from the decrease in the book fund.

Elimination of most of the major street construction projects originally provided under last session's budget estimates will result in the loss of hundreds of jobs, it was said.

Further, District engineers will have on their hands the problem of the old Calvert Street Bridge, which is sadly in need of repair. In failing to appropriate for a new bridge, the bureau made no provision for repairs.

District P.-T. A. Hits Slash in School Funds

Resolutions deploring the action of the Bureau of the Budget in reducing the amounts recommended by District officials for the public schools, and petitioning the District Committees in Congress not to allow the curtailment of classroom instruction and the school construction program, were adopted last night at a special meeting of the executive committee of the District of Columbia Congress of Parent-Teachers Associations.

It was pointed out in the resolutions that the proposed school building program would supply work needed in solving the unemployment program in the District.

Minton, Radio Magnate, Goes Back to New York

Maurice Minton, one of the directors of the World Broadcasting Co., who has been in the Capital for some time conferring with several administration leaders, returned to New York City last night.

Mr. Minton has been prominently identified with several radio organizations and is expected to figure in the relations between the Federal Government and the radio groups of the country in the near future.

Pat Kearney, Writer, Dead From Gas Fumes

Cermak Child Memorial Proposed in Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, March 28 (A.P.).—The Oklahoma House of Representatives adopted a resolution today asking Congress and President Roosevelt to create a "lasting, living memorial" to the late Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, through promotion of child health work in cooperation with the Federation of Women's Clubs.

A medal with Cermak's picture on one side and that of a child on the other would be awarded in competition each year.

Youth Sentenced in Assault.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 28 (Special).—When he pleaded guilty today in Harrison County Criminal Court to a criminal assault on a young boy, Wayne Morgan, 19, of Center Point, Doddridge County, was sentenced to serve eight years in the Moundsville Penitentiary.

ARCHITECT'S OFFICE HARD HIT BY SLASH

D. C. Engineer Program Cut to Skeleton Basis Under Budget Proposal.

The District engineer department will be forced to operate on a maintenance-only basis during the fiscal year 1934 and a number of employes will be released if the municipal budget as submitted by the Budget Bureau is adopted by Congress.

The municipal architect's office will suffer the hardest blow under the retrenchment program as all new District construction projects are eliminated from the supply bill. This will mean that the architect's office, now comprising about 30 employes, will be reduced to a mere handful of men, who will be engaged in supervising work now under construction or for which money is available under existing appropriations.

It is virtually certain that the office of municipal architect, made vacant by the death of Albert L. Harris recently, will not be filled during the next fiscal year. H. W. Baker, director of construction, will doubtless continue as acting municipal architect. This will save the District $7,500, which was Harris' normal salary.

Inspectors to Go.

Work in the Highway Department will be reduced to a minimum, as only one small new project remains and the maintenance estimate is cut more than 30 per cent. This will probably bring about the discharge of inspectors and perhaps other employes, although the department is already operating on a winter or minimum basis.

Inspection of buildings, electrical and plumbing installations, and the like will be left to an even smaller staff than at present, and District officials have previously complained that they are handicapped in making required inspections before issuing licenses to apartment houses, hotels, and rooming houses, in accordance with the new license act.

Calvert Bridge Off.

Sewer construction is likewise curtailed considerably under the revised bill, but not so severely as municipal construction.

One of the losses felt most keenly by Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, is the elimination of the $575,000 agreed upon by congressional conferees for construction of the Calvert Street Bridge. Plans have been drafted for this project, the completion of which has been the dream of Maj. Gotwals almost since the day he took office.

Besides the elimination of new schools, the Budget Bureau's bill will again delay construction of the contagious disease ward at Gallinger Hospital. This project has long been the dream of Health Officer William C. Fowler, and it appeared near fulfillment with the drafting of plans this spring. Enough money is available to start the hospital, but not enough to place it under contract.

Blue Law Enemies Will Meet Today

Senator Hilton Will Attend Bethesda Gathering of Liberal Citizens.

A mass meeting at which proponents of the liberalization of the Montgomery County blue laws to permit Sunday moving pictures will be heard by State Senator Robert G. Hilton will be held at 10 a. m. today at the State Theater, Bethesda, Md.

A mass meeting had been held several weeks ago at Rockville, where opponents of the measure were heard. The senator yesterday announced that he would attend the meeting to hear the expressions of those in favor of the measure.

The proposal to liberalize the blue laws was indorsed by the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce and by the Montgomery County Civic Federation, as well as several other civic bodies and in petitions signed by several thousand residents of Bethesda, Rockville, Silver Spring and Gaithersburg.

Franklin-Bouillon Flays 'Peace Club'

Premier Daladier Cheered by Deputies When He Defends Program.

Paris, March 28 (A.P.).—Italy's proposed four-power "peace club" was attacked in the Chamber of Deputies today by Henry Franklin-Bouillon as an "abominable collusion between Mr. MacDonald and Signor Mussolini."

The assault on the plan by the opposition to the government was met by Premier Edouard Daladier, who was enthusiastically cheered by the deputies. Defending both Prime Minister MacDonald, of Great Britain, and the Italian premier, M. Daladier refused to discuss the peace plan they worked out in their recent Rome conference, but promised Parliament that France would take no step in the matter without its knowledge.

The chamber, by a vote of 369 to 212, postponed interpellations made to the foreign affairs committee, particularly concerning the Mussolini plan.

Members for Free Votes on Idle Bill

Caucus Control Is Rejected by Fourth Steering Zone Group.

(Associated Press.)

House members from the Fourth Steering Committee District—Virginia, Maryland and North Carolina—decided at a meeting yesterday against being bound in District caucus on President Roosevelt's unemployment relief bill.

In a discussion behind closed doors, several members were said to have opposed application of the party whiplash in the small district groups and the meeting adjourned without any binding action. Representative Drewry, of Petersburg, Va., who called the meeting, declined afterward to discuss what took place.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that a proposal to bind the members of the unemployment program was abandoned after members exchanged views across the conference table.

Rainey to Use Own Car And Not Government's

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Rainey does not plan to ask for the "Speaker's automobile" which usually goes with the office.

When John N. Garner, of Texas, became Speaker in the last Congress, because of economy he rejected the automobile used by the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth.

Congress usually had provided a $5,000 automobile and about $3,000 a year for maintenance and a driver for the machine.

Rainey said yesterday he had not sought the "Speaker's automobile" and would use his own machine.

Meanwhile, Vice President Garner is using the automobile left by former Vice President Curtis.

BLACK MISQUOTED, MRS. NORTON SAYS

Alleged Remark Connecting W. W. Bride to Beer Interests Scouted.

Charges attributed to Representative Loring Black (Democrat), New York, that Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride was "apparently in league with the brewers," yesterday drew a statement in defense of Mr. Bride from Chairman Mary T. Norton, of the House District Committee.

"Under the circumstances, I am compelled to believe that Mr. Black, whose value as a committee member I am happy to acknowledge, must have been misquoted," Mrs. Norton stated. "I know that Mr. Black would not willingly injure Mr. Bride.

"He has always been in perfect accord with me in my estimate of the present corporation counsel's integrity, ability and genuine desire to be of service to the residents of the District of Columbia."

She said she was convinced a great injustice has been done the official.

Denying charges that his draft of the beer bill had given any advantages to the brewers, Corporation Counsel Bride pointed out to newspapermen that all questions of policy had been left to Congress. In a provision relating to brewers, however, Mr. Bride drafted the bill so as to prohibit sale of beer by brewers directly to consumers.

Mrs. Norton's statement read in part:

"An article in today's press has come to my attention wherein Congressman Loring Black in commenting upon the District beer bill has referred to Corporation Counsel Bride as the apparent brewers' tool.

"My service on the District of Columbia Committee of the House of Representatives during the past five years, and particularly during the past two years as chairman of that same committee, has brought me into almost daily contact officially with Mr. Bride. His services have proved most helpful not only to the committee but in my own opinion to residents of the District of Columbia. As a result I have acquired the conviction that his sincerity of purpose and integrity are beyond question.

One of Ablest Members.

"I consider Mr. Black one of the ablest members of the District Committee. I regard him, further, as one of the most fair-minded men in Congress. I can not believe, therefore, that he has been correctly quoted in the above-mentioned article.

"The facts in connection with this beer bill matter are as follows: At the time when the District beer bill was presented to the House District Committee I was confined to my apartment due to illness. Having the utmost confidence in Mr. Bride, I called him and suggested that he prepare a statement which could be submitted to the committee for its consideration. Such a statement was furnished promptly and I passed it on to the committee. The bill was considered and reported and the amendments that were finally adopted came from the office of the legislative counsel of the House and not, as reported, from Mr. Bride's office. These amendments received careful and painstaking attention by the full membership of the House, and a few were adopted after considerable debate, all of which is available in the Congressional Record.

"I have examined with care the bill which Mr. Bride submitted to Senator Tydings and find that it contains a provision definitely precluding the issuance of licenses to brewers to sell directly to consumers."

Hearing Questions Real Estate Values

Richmond, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Wide divergence of value in real estate owned by the Old Dominion Power Co. was charged before the State Corporation Commission today by A. K. Merrison, counsel for the Virginia Coal Operators Association.

Continuing his cross-examination of F. K. Merriman, power company witness, Mr. Morrison said that real estate owned by the company had been given four different valuations. He said it was valued in the tax report at $10,000, in book value figures at $74,000, by Vice President A. A. Tuttle at $113,000 and by the Ford, Bacon & Davis report at $313,000.

This last estimate, which includes rights of way and easements not subject to taxation, is the real estate valuation which enters the company's proposed rate base of $3,396,614. The Coal Operators Association, alleging that the rate base should be less than $2,000,000, are asking a rate reduction of at least 30 per cent.

A note asking that Capt. Armstrong at Walter Reed Hospital be notified was found, but no reason was given for his suicide.

U. S. CONTROL PLAN DRAWN BY OIL MEN

Drastic Regulation Urged in Program Submitted to Secretary Ickes.

(Associated Press.)

The oil industry through spokesmen representing the men who produce most of the country's petroleum, turned last night to the Federal Government with the request that it take charge to bring order out of chaos.

A committee of fifteen, representing governors of thirteen oil-producing States, the major companies and many of the independent groups, late yesterday drew up a tentative program for stabilization of the industry which included the request for drastic Government regulation.

The plan was submitted to Secretary Ickes, who said he had not approved it as yet and would not indicate his attitude. He has participated, however, in many of the conferences discussions. The meeting was called with administration approval.

The committee did not reach an agreement until late in the day, and Secretary Ickes, standing by his desk, outlined to newspapermen some of the "highlights." He explained the oil industry representatives had reached a conclusion that their situation could not be handled "effectively" by cooperation betwen State authorities and individual producers.

Federal Representative.

Secretary Ickes explained:

"The suggestion looks to naming a representative on the part of the Federal Government with wide powers to see that overproduction is curtailed and (oil) bootlegging stopped." It was known there had been strong differences of opinion on the request for Government intervention, and Ickes said the plan might be revised to some extent.

The program presented to Secretary Ickes will be gone over today at another conference meeting. The Secretary said he intended to study the plan last night.

Meanwhile, there was no reconciling the group of independent producers that has from the first expressed its opposition to the general trend of affairs at the meeting.

Under the leadership of John B. Elliott, of Los Angeles, they formed "The Independent Petroleum Association Opposed to Monopoly," and followed that step by a conference with Secretary Ickes, in which they told him they were against Federal regulation.

The group also asked for a rigid enforcement of the antitrust laws and an investigation of the industry for the prosecution and elimination of monopolies.

144 Constitution Changes Proposed

Review of 72d Congress Shows Fundamental Law Under Fire.

One hundred and forty-four resolutions to amend the Constitution were introduced at the first session of the Seventy-second Congress, according to the George Washington University Law Review, published today.

The articles on the persistence toward changing the fundamental law of the Nation is by Prof. Paul H. Giddens, of Allegheny College.

This apparent widespread dissatisfaction with our governmental system, he said, is no cause for alarm, for out of the 3,000 proposals to amend since 1789 only 20 have been ratified by the States.

RAILWAY MEASURE BEFORE ROOSEVELT

3-Point Program Calls for Dictatorial Coordinator and Reorganization.

(Associated Press.)

A three-point railroad measure, calling for the appointment of a Federal coordinator with extraordinary power to supervise reorganizations, is before President Roosevelt.

The President plans early study of the proposal and a general conference late in the week of all interested parties, including operators, labor and shippers.

Two parts of the legislation—repeal of the recapture clause of the transportation act and Federal regulation of holding companies—already are pending in the House.

It is the administration plan to include these with the more general proposal to appoint a director general or coordinator of railroads.

Objectives of Program.

Readjustment of top-heavy financial structures through appropriate reduction of fixed charges is one of the objectives of the program. The coordinator also would be given authority to suggest and recommend consolidations in the interest of efficiency and economy.

Another proposal that has been pressed vigorously in the days of conferences here over emergency railroad legislation would have pooled the interests of the roads for the elimination of mileage and operating costs. This, however, has been sidetracked.

Conference Saturday.

The measure that went to President Roosevelt's desk yesterday emanated from a conference of experts headed by Secretary Roper and including Joseph B. Eastman, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and W. W. Splawn, rail authority.

Tomorrow the Railroad Labor Executive Association assembles here to consider the legislation. By Saturday the spokesmen of all interested parties are expected to be named for the bold conference, which the President is contemplating for about Saturday.

Power is given by the legislation for the President to name the coordinator. Several names have been heard in the discussion, including Eastman and Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific.

"Women Have Their Way," a two-act play by Josquin Alvarez Quintero, was presented to an enthusiastic audience at the Arts Club last night. The cast was made up of members of the club under the direction of Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest.

Typical of the subtlety and intrigue always involved in small-town matchmaking, the play depicts the helplessness of a man when women once make up their minds upon a course they think he should follow.

Members of the cast were: Capt. Eugene P. Smith, Ida L. Clagett, Donald A. Bolton, Edith Le Fevre, Laney P. Saddler, Marjorie Folks, Mary G. Minnix, Adele Martell, Hall Hopper, Dorothy Lawrence, Harry Angelico, Frances Bolton and M. Forney Reese. The play will be produced again tonight and at the Washington Club Friday night.

200 HELD AS CHILD IS SLAIN IN ATTACK

Brooklyn Tragedy on Girl, 6, Near Sites of Three Like Recent Crimes.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Criminally assaulted and strangled to death with her own skipping rope, the body of 6-year-old Barbara Wiles was found crumpled beside her doll buggy today.

Police, spurred by the recollection of three similar child slayings in the same borough within the last two years, tonight were rounding up 200 suspects for questioning.

The list of suspects included men questioned in connection with previous cases of a similar nature. One youth was taken into custody on the spot when he pushed his way through the crowds while physicians were waging a two-hour battle to revive the girl with inhalators.

Mother Finds Body.

Barbara was found by her mother in the basement of her Brooklyn apartment home, within two blocks of a police station, and within a mile of the cellars in which two other Brooklyn girls, one 5 and the other 6, were slain within the last year.

In the last two years six Brooklyn girls, none older than 7, have been attacked in hallways or basements. Only two lived.

An ironic phase of today's case was that Barbara herself unwittingly furnished the rope with which she was killed.

Yesterday afternoon, after she and a playmate who owned a "half interest" in the rope, had finished skipping, Barbara tossed it into the cellar of the six-apartment house in which she lived, so she could get it quickly when she wanted it.

This morning Harold Wiles, the child's father, went to the nearby police station to get his "dole" of a bag of coal. He is an unemployed mill worker, a native of England and a cricket player of some reputation in New Jersey, Philadelphia and New York sporting circles.

While he was gone Mrs. Wiles sent Barbara down to the basement to bring up her younger sister's baby carriage. After the child had been gone fifteen minutes, the mother went to look for her.

Mulrooney Takes Charge.

In the dim light of the basement she saw a still form. The skipping rope was knotted around the child's neck. A long iron spike had been used to tighten the rope and make death more certain. A burlap bag, which police later said the slayer apparently had intended to use to hide the body, lay nearby.

The mother ran screaming to the street. In a short time police filled the neighborhood. Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney hurried across from Manhattan to take charge.

Emergency squads with respirators, physicians with adrenalin and ambulance squads with five tanks of oxygen worked over the still figure for two hours and ten minutes before they gave up attempting to resuscitate her.

ALABAMA OVERRIDES MILLER'S WET VETO

Six Other States Speed Up Legislation Bearing on Wet Traffic.

Montgomery, Ala., March 28 (A.P.).—Over the veto of Gov. B. M. Miller, the Alabama Legislature today speedily passed a measure calling for a prohibition repeal convention. The Senate vote was 26 to 7; the House, 66 to 32.

The bill provides for the election of 116 delegates whose vote at the convention will be controlled by a Statewide repeal referendum to be carried on the ballot. Ten delegates will be elected from the State-at-large and the others according to their legislative representation.

The election will be held the first Tuesday 90 days after sine die adjournment of the Legislature, and the convention 3 weeks later. If the Legislature continues its customary schedule, adjournment will be next Friday, placing the election of convention delegates in mid-July.

Columbia, S. C., March 28 (A.P.).—The South Carolina House of Representatives tonight passed on second reading a bill legalizing the sale of 3.2 per cent beer. The vote was 63 to 39.

Tennessee Senate Favorable.

Nashville, Tenn., March 28 (A.P.).—Overriding protests of dry members, the Tennessee Senate late today passed a House-approved bill providing that delegates to a convention to pass on repeal of the eighteenth amendment be elected from the State at large. The vote was 20 to 13.

The Senate fixed the date of the election as July 20, and the convention August 11. As passed by the House the bill provided for the election, June 22, and the convention July 12.

Providence, R. I., March 28 (A.P.).—Bills providing for a State convention to ratify repeal of the eighteenth amendment and making an appropriation of $20,000 for the expenses of the special election of 31 delegates were reported to the House of Representatives today by subcommittees with recommendation of passage. The measures go on the calendar for action Thursday.

Delaware Revokes Stand.

Dover, Del., March 28 (A.P.).—The Senate today reconsidered the vote by which it passed the House bill providing for State conventions to act on proposed Federal constitutional amendments.

The purpose of restoring the bill to the calendar was not disclosed.

It provides for the election of 17 delegates at large, and for the convention to meet 28 days after the election date fixed by the governor. The Senate passed it yesterday.

Concord, N. H., March 28 (A.P.).—A bill legalizing the manufacture of beer for export only was passed by the State House of Representatives today in the face of an adverse committee report.

The bill, which permits the manufacture of a beverage not exceeding in alcoholic content that permitted under Federal law, was advanced by a vote of 289 to 79.

Objection was raised on the ground that the measure did not permit the sale of beer in the State. Legislators were discussing the framing of another bill to attain that end.

Maine Goes Whole Route.

Augusta, Maine, March 28 (A.P.).—Practically the last hurdle in the move to legalize beer in this pioneer prohibition State was taken today when the House of Representatives after lengthy discussion adopted a bill to permit manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of malt beverages.

The bill was passed by the Senate last Thursday without debate and without a vote registered against it. Gov. Brann has said he will sign it.

The vote on roll call was for 105, against 43, more than the two-thirds which would have been necessary to put an emergency clause on to make the bill law when signed by the governor. Only two of the 151 members were absent.

WOMEN ASK EQUAL NATIONAL STANDING

(Associated Press.)

A delegation of American women laid siege yesterday to the Immigration Committee of the House determined to win approval for the equal rights in nationality bill under which women marrying foreigners will retain for themselves and their children American citizenship.

So big a crowd of witnesses did they bring that Chairman Dickstein (Democrat), of New York, who sponsors the bill in the House, moved the whole meeting to the larger Naval Committee room. There, under leadership of Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, of New York, a long list of prominent women presented arguments.

Mrs. Ashfield Stow, of California, born Baroness Virginia Nugent de Delvin of Hungary, told the committee that "as a victim of the law" she favored changing it so that the child of an American mother who had married an alien would be an American citizen.

"My mother," she said, "was an American. She married a native of Hungary. When the war started, mother was widowed and we were in Switzerland.

"Mother applied to the American consulate for a passport. She was told that she could have one, but that I was not an American citizen and had no claim to a passport.

"Mother either had to come back to the United States on an American passport and leave me, a minor, behind, or stay with me. She chose to do the latter, and we stayed in Switzerland six years."

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, however, appeared against the bill. He contended the proposed change in the law would "greatly complicate cases involving dual nationality."

Miss Charl O. Williams, of Tennessee, summarized their case: "We believe this bill completes the act of giving men and women equal rights as to American citizenship."

FEDERAL PAY ORDERED CUT

Accordingly, the maximum cut of 15 per cent was invoked.

It was estimated that the slash will save $30,000,000 during the next three-month period, and $120,000,000, if considered on an annual basis.

As workers already were taking an 8 1-3 per cent salary slash in the form of payless leave, under the old economy act, the 15 per cent cut takes only 6 2-3 per cent additional out of their pay envelopes.

Constitutional judges' pay can not be touched under the pay cut order, nor can the President's own salary be reached unless he voluntarily reduces it. President Hoover of his own volition accepted a 20 per cent reduction in his pay.

Savings under the new economy measure have been estimated all the way from $500,000,000 to $600,000,000, but the great bulk of these economies have still to be achieved in the form of reductions in veterans' benefits.

Executive orders placing these savings into effect are expected to follow last night's pay cut announcement in short order. Preliminary drafts, scaling down nonservice connected benefits all along the line, already have been prepared by Budget Director Lewis W. Douglas.

Secretary Perkins, in ordering a return to the old 5½-day week basis yesterday, said she was advised by lawyers that there was no alternative under the credit act. The new bill carried no "five-day week" clause, as did the economy act.

The Labor Department under Secretary Doak had been the only Federal executive agency to take advantage of this provision, which carried with it a slightly steeper pay reduction. The Civil Service Commission tried it, but the short week was abandoned there after a poll of employes demonstrated it to be unpopular. Many Labor Department workers welcomed the 5½-day week announcement as "good news," holding the five-day week denied them an opportunity to take extended leave.

Text of Roosevelt Order Cutting Government Pay

Whereas Section 2 and 3, Title II, of the act entitled "An act to maintain the credit of the United States Government," approved March 20, 1933 (Public No. 2, 73-D Cong.), provides:

"Sec. 2. For that portion of the fiscal year 1933 beginning with the first day of the calendar month following the month during which this act is enacted, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, the compensation of every officer or employe shall be determined as follows:

"(a) The compensation which such officer or employe would receive under the provisions of any existing law, schedule, regulation, Executive order or departmental order shall first be determined as though this title (except Section 4) had not been enacted.

"(b) The compensation as determined under subparagraph (a) of this section shall be reduced by the percentage, if any, determined in accordance with section 3 of this title.

"Sec. 3 (a) The President is authorized to investigate through established agencies of the Government the facts relating to the cost of living in the United States during the six months' period ending June 30, 1928, to be known as the base period, and upon the basis of such facts and the application thereto of such principles as he may find proper, determine an index figure of the cost of living during such period. The President is further authorized to make a similar investigation and determination of an index figure of the cost of living during the six months' period ending December 31, 1932, and each six months' period thereafter.

"(b) The President shall announce by Executive order the index figure for the base period and for each subsequent period determined by him under paragraph (a) of this section. The percentage, if any, by which the cost of living index for any six months' period, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, is lower than such index for the base period, shall be the percentage of reduction applicable under section 2 (b) of this title in determining compensation to be paid during the following six months' period, or such portion thereof during which this title is in effect: Provided, that such percentage of reduction (including reductions made under any existing law, regulation, or Executive order, in the case of subsistence and rental allowances for the services mentioned in the pay act of June 10, 1922) shall not exceed 15 per centum."

And whereas, through established agencies of the Government, I have investigated the facts relating to the cost of living in the United States during the six-month period ended June 30, 1928, and during the six-month period ended December 31, 1932, and have determined index figures of the cost of living during such periods, such index figures being based upon an index figure of 100 for the year 1933;

Now, therefore, pursuant to the authority so vested in me, I hereby announce:

First. That such index figures are—

(a) 171.0 for the six-month period ended June 30, 1928, the base period; and

(b) 133.9 for the six-month period ended December 31, 1932;

Second. That the cost of living index for the six-month period ended December 31, 1932, is 21.7 per centum lower than the cost of living index for the base period; and Third. That this per centum being in excess of the maximum per centum prescribed by section 3 (b), the percentage of reduction applicable under section 2 (b), in determining the compensation of officers and employes to be paid during the period from April 1, 1933, to June 30, 1933, inclusive, is 15 per centum.

Broker for Cannon Quits Prison Camp

Harry L. Goldhurst Served Five Years for Using Mails to Defraud.

Fort Eustis, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Harry L. Goldhurst, the broker who handled Bishop James Cannon, jr.'s stock market account, was released from the Federal prison camp here today at the expiration of his five-year sentence for using the mails to defraud. He was understood to have left for New York.

Goldhurst had served a little less than the five years, after a parole granted in July, 1931, had been revoked following a protest from Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, and others.

The New Yorker was connected with the firm of Kable & Co. and was market adviser for Bishop Cannon prior to the 1928 Presidential campaign. Charles Kable, supposed head of the firm which went bankrupt in 1928, said that he was not active in the firm's operation and was given a suspended sentence on an indictment similar to the one returned against Goldhurst.

Swimming Tank Bill Is Sent to President

(Associated Press.)

Congress gave its approval yesterday to the construction of a swimming tank at the White House for President Roosevelt from private funds, and then sent to the White House for the Chief Executive's signature a House resolution authorizing acceptance of a fund for the project raised by the New York Daily News and other newspapers.

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, who called the resolution up in the Senate, said the President was willing to accept the gift provided he was authorized to do so by Congress.

Alabama's Jury System Attacked

Judge Dismisses Motion to Quash; Patterson Case Is Up Tomorrow.

Decatur, Ala., March 28 (A.P.).—A new attack on Alabama's jury system was in the offing tonight as defense counsel gathered evidence on which to base their contention that no Negroes were included in the jury box from which the venire for the trial of Haywood Patterson, 19-year-old Chattanooga Negro, was drawn.

The trial of Patterson was set for Thursday, after Judge James E. Horton dismissed the first motoin to quash the indictments against Patterson and six other Negroes involved in the "Scottsboro case," in which they are charged with attacking two white girls.

The motion to quash was based on an allegation that the defendants were deprived of their constitutional rights because the grand jury which indicted them contained no Negroes.

Willard Is Acquitted Of New York Perjury

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—A general sessions court jury today acquitted Louis H. Willard of a charge of perjury growing out of testimony he gave last summer before the Hofstadter legislative committee.

An indictment was returned against Willard charging that he testified falsely when he denied that he was ever in Rochester, practiced law in this State or used the name of "A. Guy Hirsch" in Rochester. The defense alleged that one Mike Lehr, and not Willard, used the name Hirsch.

of an Anglo-American agreement. The thesis of Secretary Hull has been to harmoniously coordinate the ends of the ecenomic conference with the settlement of the debt question. On the tentative agenda of the conference, the Hull-Lindsay conversations did not progress beyond the first point which has to do with the abolition of exchange restrictions.

The British Ambassador was accompanied Monday by his financial counselor, T. K. Bewley. At the conclusion of that meeting the ambassador cabled a complete explanation of the American position on this primary point and yesterday he received the official foreign office attitude. He is expected to develop the British reaction to the first American proposal today.

If a reasonable basis of compromise is afforded by the British reply, the conversations will then pass on to the intergovernmental debt. In this way Sir Ronald will be prepared to carry on the conversations up to the very conclusion of all points at issue.

Talks at Warm Springs.

Only in the case that a deadlock developes is it expected that a British cabinet delegation will come here. After he talked with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ambassador Lindsay went to London and returned with the fullest powers to proceed on the economic and debt discussions without delay. The President had indicated that he would be prepared to receive a British representative to discuss the debts and any representatives for the economic discussions.

However, Prime Minister MacDonald believed that the sending of a plenary delegation to Washington would arouse such hopes that in the event of a failure to agree on preliminaries, the effect would seriously affect the success of the world economic conference. For the present, at all events, the British Ambassador will therefore explore the possibilities of agreement both on the debt situation as well as on the economic agenda.

As soon as a reasonable basis for general agreement has been reached, it may be that the prime minister himself will want to seal the accord by a ceremonial visit such as he made after the London Conference to the Rapidan.

Ambassador Claudel Calls.

French Ambassador Claudel was a caller at the Department of State with Deputy Jacques Stern, who was yesterday received by the President. The Ambassador confirmed the impression that had been received here from Paris, that the new French Ambassador, who is expected to arrive within the next three weeks, will take up the debt problem where it was left December 15.

Roumanian Minister Charles Davila called to inquire if there had been any date fixed for hearing Roumania's plea for debt reduction. Roumania has scrupulously fulfilled her financial obligations to date to this country, but the imminence of the next due date for her debts has induced Minister Davila to call at this time.

Mr. Davila was informed that for the present nothing has been fixed for a hearing for his country, but that at the earliest possible moment Roumania would be invited to send a delegation here. It is believed that the minister himself will be a member, if not the chairman of the delegation, as his competence on financial matters is well known in American financial circles. The financial counselor of the legation, George Boncesco, probably will be designated adviser.

MORE BANKS HERE ALLOWED TO OPEN

comptroller for the permission, and he is empowered to grant it.

If the permission is granted, the bank would set aside a certain percentage of its deposits, which would be available to depositors on a percentage basis, each depositor being allowed to withdraw an equal fraction of his total deposits.

The object of the regulation is to bring relief to depositors whose funds are frozen in unlicensed banks. The banks which are allowed to release a part of their deposits will not be allowed to perform other normal functions until licenses have been received by them from the Secretary of the Treasury.

Senators Ask Cummings For Penal Laws Data

(Associated Press.)

The Banking Committee of the Senate yesterday sent to Attorney General Cummings for a report on all penal laws now in effect pertaining to banks, their officials and employes, and Government banking authorities. The information was asked for use in drafting stricter legislation.

The committee asked also that Secretary Woodin come before it tomorrow to make recommendations on new laws and to discuss general financial conditions.

A symptom of the reaction to continued closure of many banks meanwhile manifested itself at the Capitol when Representative Sweeney (Democrat), Ohio, told reporters he would ask Senator Bulkley, of Ohio, to obtain Senate investigation of the Cleveland bank situation. Later he added he would seek to have Akron banks included.

He said his purpose chiefly was to quiet unpleasant rumors that have reached him. He said he wanted the Senate Stock Market Investigating Committee to turn its attention to affairs of the Union Trust Co. and the Guardian Trust Co. of Cleveland, both now on a restricted withdrawal basis.

The request to Cummings for a summary of existing law on bankers and banking officials was made in the form of a resolution which specified the committee wanted everything applicable to "officials, employes and appointees of the Treasury Department, Federal Reserve Board, national banks, Federal Reserve banks, members of the Federal Reserve System and otherwise, in connection with the administration of the national banking laws and the Federal Reserve Bank laws."

FORESTRY MEASURE TO HELP JOBLESS PASSED BY SENATE

tation and similar improvements on public lands.

The men will be enlisted for a year and paid about $1 a day in addition to subsistence and medical care.

The program will be financed at first from unobligated construction funds in the Treasury, which Lewis Douglas, budget director, estimated yesterday at $148,000,000.

Amendments Adopted.

Several amendments were adopted by the Senate, though none materially changed the scope of the bill.

One, offered by Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, would remove the limitation now preventing any State from obtaining more than 15 per cent of the $300,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation fund for relief loans.

This is designed to afford further relief to Illinois, which has about exhausted its quota of $45,000,000 under the present law. Only about $89,000,000 remains in the fund, which the administration's proposal for a new $500,000,000 authorization is designed to replace.

Another amendment, offered by Senator Hebert (Republican), Rhode Island, limits the duration of the proposed law to two years. The administration did not oppose this limitation.

Further Authorization.

Under an amendment sponsored by Senator Walcott (Republican), Connecticut, the President would be authorized to extend the work of the corps to county, municipal and private lands where necessary to control forest disease, fires or floods. Previously the bill was restricted to national and State lands.

The amendment which drew the most debate was offered by Senator Couzens (Republican), Michigan, to prevent use of the funds for the purchase of any land except plots contiguous to Federal land.

The amendment was approved after Couzens said if the money was used to any extent for the purchase of land the bill would become a measure "for the relief of the land owners rather than the unemployed."

Opposing the bill because of its transfer of funds from public construction projects, Senator Dickinson (Republican), Iowa, read a letter from a constituent protesting against granting such broad power to the President, and warning against "another Hitler."

Defended by Copeland.

"Who is this man who compares President Roosevelt with Hitler?" Senator Lewis (Democrat), Illionis, asked. "He's a big financier." Dickinson said. "We can go too far in centralizing power and we are plodding along that road now. We will probably rue the day we granted such power."

Defending the President as a "kind-hearted man who is determined to solve these problems," Senator Copeland (Democrat), New York, said he was "not a Hitler or a Mussolini."

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, then jumped into the debate to observe that "this is rather late to start talking about granting extraordinary powers."

Borah referred to the legislation already enacted this session and said the talk of "too much power" did not arise until the farm relief bill appeared.

Hit by Robinson.

"There is nothing in this bill that is unconstitutional," Borah added.

Just before the bill was approved, Senator Robinson (Republican), Indiana, loosed a blast against it, contending it undid the efforts to balance the budget in the economy bill.

"We just got through robbing the disabled veterans in order to turn it over to another class of citizens and the budget is still unbalanced," Robinson said.

"Everybody knows the budget won't be balanced this year or next. If the President's program goes through we will be billions unbalanced."

House to Take Up Bill.

House leaders planned to take the bill up today and pass it by nightfall, possibly in time to send to the White House.

It is opposed by Chairman Connery of the Labor Committee, but Democratic leaders were confident the measure would be approved after a few hours of debate without material change.

There was rumbling of more strong opposition among Senate Republicans to the direct relief phase of the Roosevelt relief plan, however.

Senator McNary, Republican leader, predicted the regular minority vote would be almost solid against the $500,000,000 bill, which marks a departure from the Hoover policy of lending, rather than giving, to the States.

Japanese Clean-Up New Chinese 'Nest'

Position Occupied South of Great Wall to Stop Sniping Peril.

Chihlingkow, Jehol Province (Wednesday), March 29 (U.P.).—Japanese troops today occupied a Chinese position inside the Great Wall. The seizure was made to wipe out a "nest" from which Chinese snipers had been firing on Japanese on the Jehol side of the wall. Two Japanese officers and nineteen privates were killed in the attack. Japanese sources claimed 200 Chinese were killed.

Tokyo (Wednesday), March 29 (U.P.).—Rumors apparently originating at Tupan, Kirin Province, today said Gen. Chang Tso-Hsiang had been assassinated at Peiping.

Shanhaikwan, China (Wednesday), March 29 (U.P.).—Clashes between Manchu and Chinese troops continued in this area today. The Manchoukuo Gen. Chen Pao-Cheng was killed and many of his aids were wounded in fighting near Shiho, it was reported.

Johns Hopkins Student Found Dead Near Rifle

Baltimore, March 28 (A.P.).—Stanley M. Reynolds, 18-year-old student at Johns Hopkins University, was found dead early today in the home of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Reynolds. A bullet wound was in his right temple and his arm encircled the barrel of a .22-caliber rifle.

The youth was found by his sister, Miss Beverly Reynolds, slumped in a chair in the living room. Coroner John J. Morrissey was notified. Reynolds was the son of the late Stanley M. Reynolds, a prominent Baltimore newspaperman, who died in 1930.

Delaware Veto Overridden.

Dover, Del., March 28 (A.P.).—The Senate today passed over the governor's veto the bill which would require all boards of education outside of Wilmington to be reelected instead of being appointed by the courts as at present.

SECURITIES CONTROL MESSAGE DUE TODAY

Bill May Accompany Note of Roosevelt to Congress on Sales Regulations.

Control of sales of new securities will be discussed in a message to be sent to Congress today by President Roosevelt, it was said yesterday at the White House. A bill to put the plan into operation may accompany the message.

The security sales bill was presented to the Cabinet for discussion yesterday afternoon. It has been the practice of the President to submit with his messages bills to carry out their suggestions.

In addition to the plan for controlled sales of securities, measures to regulate stock exchanges are under consideration. It is reported that the Government will be given power to control the issuing of securities and that publicity on bond sales will be required. The stock exchange control measures, which will be submitted later, will probably require all exchanges to operate under Federal licenses.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—News that a proposed bill for Federal regulation of security issues had been submitted to President Roosevelt attracted keen interest in Wall street today, as did information that a measure to regulate security exchanges was planned later.

It was stated at the office of Richard Whitney, president of the Stock Exchange, that he would have no comment to make, at least until he had had time to study such measures as are proposed.

Wall street's traditional antagonism to Federal regulation of the security business has waned decidedly in the past year or two, and a number of leading bankers have expressed the view that more regulation was necessary.

Mrs. Longworth Sits In At Hearing on Farm Bill

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth is taking a lively interest now in the farm question.

Taking a seat at the long witness table in the Senate Agriculture Committee room yesterday, the widow of the Speaker sat for several hours listening to arguments for and against the administration farm price parity bill. Dressed plainly, but chic and smoking a cigarette occasionally, she appeared to enjoy the proceedings immensely.

Pinchot Says Tax Hike Unnecessary

Governor Pleads for Poor and Expresses Regret at Beer's Return.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Pinchot today told several thousand cheering taxpayers that there is no need for any increase in taxation and that he is sorry beer is coming back. He scored the Legislature for what he termed its failure to act on relief legislation, and said he regretted the bill cutting teachers' salaries had failed to pass in the House earlier today. The governor addressed the throng on the plaza of the capitol.

"I think you're doing a great thing by coming here," he said. "This is the way things ought to happen in a republic like ours."

Turning to relief, the governor said that it would be a disgrace to the Commonwealth to allow any one to starve. He stated there are 2,000,000 persons in the State who can not feed themselves. The governor said he was sorry that beer was coming back, "but now that it is coming back, we must see to it that it is kept out of politics and that there will be no saloons."

Five Plead Guilty To Ballot Thefts

Organizer of Group and Wife Are Arraigned on Murder Charge.

Medford, Ore., March 28 (A.P.).—Five reputed members of Jackson County's so-called "good government congress" pleaded guilty today to charges of burglary in connection with the recent theft of more than 10,000 ballots from the vaults of the Jackson County courthouse. They were Wesley McKitrick, R. C. Cummings, Wilber Sexton, Mason Sexton and C. J. Connor. The cases were continued for sentence.

Llewellyn A. Banks, organizer of the "Congress," and his wife, Edith R. Banks, were arraigned on first degree murder charges for the slaying of Constable George Prescott, and were given until April 10 to plead.

Banks and Mrs. Banks were charged with murder after Constable Prescott was shot to death when he tried to serve a ballot theft indictment on him.

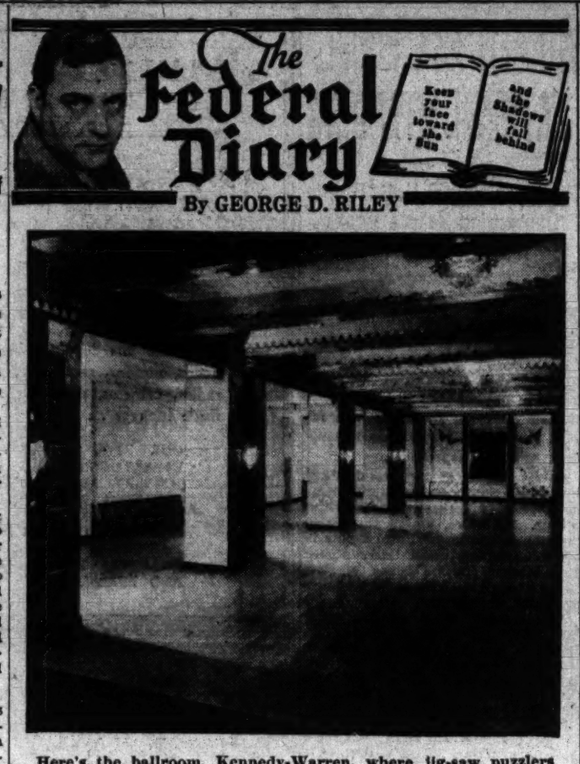
The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY



Here's the ballroom, Kennedy-Warren, where jig-saw puzzlers will compete tomorrow evening.

FINAL invitation for jigsaw puzzle contestants in the Federal Diary's tournament tomorrow evening at the Kennedy-Warren at 8 o'clock. We'll all sit down together at the same time and work this thing out.

One Federal worker yesterday explained that his daughter has a very good system for working puzzles. It appears she matches the shades and colors first. Then she fits the border into place.

The University Distributing Co. has shipped the Federal Diary department 500 sets, and that's a lot of puzzles.

Most of the departments have responded with entrants in fine fashion. We are a bit puzzled, however, over the fact that Interior has lagged. We have room for a few more from I. C. C. and Congressional Library.

A young woman called last night to ask if there is any charge connected with the contest. The answer is, "No." This party is on the Federal Diary. Bring the friends, whether they be in Government service or private enterprise. No strings and no catchpennies in the contest.

It has been decided to eliminate tickets. If you like to have fun, your presence at the party is all the ticket you need.

Welcome to I. H. York, Treasury; Miss Fannie E. Johnson, Postoffice; Mrs. Laura Moore, Treasury, and Miss Betty Whitfield, Agriculture. They're the latest entrants.

* * * *

* * * *

The Federal Diary Department has outgrown its former quarters and has moved to the fifth floor, front, where we can see all the parades.

* * * *

Mrs. Barbara Aller, Fisheries, knows all the answers to treating guppies with spring fever. And she has the facts concerning tropical fish of all kinds.

* * * *

TAKE A CHANCE!

You owe yourself a jig-saw puzzle evening.

No strings are attached to the tournament. Yours to make or break.

It's a free-for-all. You may be a prize winner.

SCISSORS, PLEASE.

Please enter me in the Federal Diary Jigsaw Puzzle Tournament, March 30.

JOKERS in the New Deal shuffle already are coming to the top of the deck. Beginning Saturday, April 1, April Fool Day, the employes in the Labor Department go back to the old basis of five and one-half days a week.

It was learned yesterday that Mme. Secretary Frances Perkins would have been glad to continue the five-day-a-week schedule, but she was left with no alternative. Her circular order follows:

"Due to the provisions of Public No. 2, of the Seventy-third Congress approved March 20, 1933, which eliminates legal furloughs of Government employes, the order of the Secretary of July, 1932, is hereby rescinded and beginning with Saturday, April 1, 1933, in accordance with the provisions four hours shall constitute a day's work on Saturday on the same regulation as existed prior to July 30, 1932."

The Federal Diary assumed several weeks ago what some called an unpopular stand on this plan to "maintain the credit of the United States Government." With few exceptions Congress snapped into line and passed the economy act with little understanding of the deeper meaning of its provisions.

THE Federal Diary took the stand that a horizontal pay cut was unfair. That view is still unchanged. It was pointed out more than two weeks ago that figures of the Bureau of Statistics, Labor Department, to be used as a basis for readjustment and probably the most authentic, showed that Government employees might be cut as much as 23 per cent, except for the 15 per cent maximum clause. Those figures have just been borne out officially by the bureau itself, in the very department first to receive an order stipulating longer work weeks.

Government employes in Washington have had more chance than Congress to analyze some figures. Inquiry of a large number of workers yesterday brought out these views:

Washington still is not on a parity with the rest of the country with regard to lowered living expense. Why then should Washington employes be lumped in with the rest of the country on the same pay cut basis?

"We are to receive several hundred dollars less from now on than we did before the World War," said one. "I figure the total reduction will not be 15 per cent but 30 per cent or more."

A certain big department, the new Secretary of which declared even before he took office that he intended to "shake the building from top to bottom," continues to be racked by rumors thick and heavy enough to cut with a walking stick. Feelers still are being sent out, evidently for public consumption, to learn the reaction. This would be an interesting straw vote to conduct in Congress now:

Did you vote for the Economy Act? Did you know what the full provisions called for? Would you now vote for it?

As we said to start, the jokers are coming out of the card pack. There'll be others. Why, to top it off, April Fools Day was chosen as the big day—well, one guess is as good as another.

TEN O'CLOCK CLUB PRESENTS RECITAL

Elizabethan Music Program Features Instruments of Centuries Ago.

Time turned back four centuries last night when the Ten O'Clock Club presented at the Washington Club a costume recital of Elizabethan music arranged by Sade C. Styron, assisted by the Madrigal Singers, Her Majesty's Consort, Helen Howison, and Calderon Howe, as the fourth of the Washington Artists' series for the benefit of musicians.

Though preponderately vocal, the hit numbers of the program were Miss Styron's four clavichord selections and Mr. Howe's numbers on the flute-like recorder, both instruments prominent in the sixteenth century, but which have long since become museum curios.

These instrumental numbers, as well as all the others of the program, are decidedly of the folk-song type—songs sung and played from the heart, for the sheer joy of living.

The Madrigal Singers—Elizabeth Waters, Elizabeth T. Copping, Elsie M. Graham, Mrs. Erbin G. Thomas, Edward L. Simpson, George Roth, Benjamin Y. Morrison, Lee S. Tillotson—did admirable service in these lilting melodies that, despite their apparent simplicity, are difficult properly to render. Mrs. John M. Sylvester has done a fine piece of work in directing the singers.

The string sextette, here called Her Majesty's Consort, is composed of Mary P. Clements, Paul Brightenburg, Helen Foster, Oscar Spencer, Marcel Ancher and Louis A. Potter, jr. Besides acquitting themselves creditably in their several numbers, Musicians Brightenburg, Clements, Foster and Ancher accompanied Miss Howison, soprano, in a trio of charming old English airs.

The next concert of the series will be held on April 4, when Violinist Milton Schwartz and Pianist Robert Ruckman are presented in a recital of French music.

Futrell Signs Refunding Bill Despite Protests

Little Rock, Ark., March 28 (A.P.).—Gov. J. M. Futrell today signed the Ellis highway bond refunding bill despite protests from bondholders and the threat of the attorney general of Pennsylvania to institute suit against the State of Arkansas.

The bill provides for the refunding of all State highway obligations, amounting to approximately $146,000,000, through issuance of new State bonds bearing 3 per cent interest and maturing in 25 years.

Mooney's Trial Put Back in Brady's Lap

State Attorney General Rules San Franciscan Must Prosecute.

San Francisco, March 28 (A.P.).—The job of prosecuting Thomas J. Mooney in his forthcoming trial on an old murder indictment growing out of the 1916 preparedness day bombing, was handed back to District Attorney Matthew A. Brady today by State Attorney General U. S. Webb.

It was an unwelcome assignment to Brady, who long ago joined those favoring a pardon for the convicted man on the theory he was unjustly found guilty 16 years ago. When Superior Judge Louis H. Ward last week granted the new trial at the defense's request, Brady asked to be relieved of the prosecution.

Judge Ward asked Webb to act in the case when Brady moved to withdraw as prosecutor. After conferring with Brady, Webb today held Brady could not disqualify himself for his personal feelings and should proceed, either by trial or by "insisting" that Judge Ward dismiss the old indictment.

TIME TO VINDICATE JAPAN, ENVOY SAYS

Matsuoka Declares Anarchy in China at Bottom of All Orient's Ills.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—A belief that "time will vindicate" Japan's actions was voiced tonight by Yosuke Matsuoka, who was in the international spotlight as head of Japan's delegation to the League of Nations.

"Japan has been waging a war against a world that has misunderstood her and she has suffered a defeat," the American-educated diplomat said, in addressing the Japanese Chamber of Commerce in his first formal address since he returned from Europe last week.

"But I believe that time will vindicate her actions," he continued. "I am confident that, at a not far distant date, the rest of the world will say that we have not been wrong or selfish in our motives."

He made no direct reference to Japan's withdrawal from the league.

Much of his address was a crisp criticism of China for what he termed her lack of integrity and responsibility.

"In the league's eagerness to deal with the Manchurian question," he said, "it neglected the big question that lies at the root of all the troubles in the Far East—the anarchy in China."

He told his audience that the world powers "have long been dealing in fictions" regarding China, and averred that "peace and welfare in the Far East is the purpose of Japan and the reason for Manchukuo."

"The fundamental cause of the trouble in the Far East," Matsuoka declared, "is the lawless condition in China, the impossible reign of self-will in that country, withotu recognition on her part of her obligations to her neighbors. China has long been derelict in her international duties as a sovereign state, and Japan, as her nearest neighbor, has been the greatest sufferer on that score."

Arkansas Flood Predicted.

Memphis, Tenn., March 28 (A.P.).—Meteorologist F. W. Brist said today that hundreds of acres of lowlands near Memphis and in Crittenden County, Ark., will be flooded next week when the Mississippi River likely will go above flood stage on the Memphis gauge.

Sheep Story

Orphaned Maryland Lamb, Raised by Hound, Hunts Rabbits.

Easton, Md., March 28 (A.P.).—H. Leavenworth Holden, Talbot County sportsman, is inviting friends down to see his rabbit-hunting sheep at work.

This sheep, Mr. Holden avers in extending invitations at the Chesapeake Yacht Club, was left an orphan while still in swaddling wool. It was adopted by an old rabbit dog and raised with her puppies.

"One day while hunting," said Mr. Holden, "I was astounded to see the sheep running along with the hounds, hot on the trail of a rabbit. He apparently follows the scent perfectly, but he is practically useless for hunting because he can not bark. His faint bleatings while on the trail can be heard only at a short distance."

Government Bars New Construction

Building Contracts Held Up Pending Formation of Roosevelt Plans.

(Associated Press.)

Determined to find out how the Government budget stands and to fix its own policy, the administration has ordered that no new contracts for public improvements be let.

The sweeping order extends to building construction, inland waterways developments and to new general work not now under contract. It was requested by Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, pending the formation of a new Roosevelt policy. It is the present intention of the President to incorporate all this work in his general public works bill which he will submit to Congress at this session.

He intends to pay for this vast program through a bond issue that will spread the cost of the emergency period over a number of years rather than take the money from current receipts in these times.

Rochester Gets Flower Show.

Rochester, N. Y., March 28 (A.P.).—This city, it was announced today, has been selected by the National Flower Show and allied organizations for their 1934 convention.

15 DEAD IN BELGIUM AS PLANE CRASHES

Craft Falls Near Dixmude; Several Leap Trying to Avoid Flames.

Dixmude, Belgium, March 28 (U.P.).—Fifteen persons lost their lives today when the passenger plane City of Liverpool crashed to earth and burst into flames near here. It was the worst crash in the history of British civil aviation.

All 12 passengers and the three members of the crew were killed instantly. No Americans were aboard. The dead included one Belgian, three Germans and 11 British.

Eyewitnesses said they saw bodies falling before the flaming plane crashed on a farm on the outskirts of Dixmude, toward Essen. Victims apparently leaped to avoid burning to death.

One observer said he saw a woman attempt to leap. She was caught on the tail of the plane and dragged screaming to earth with the huge machine.

Some bodies were found 100 yards from the charred wreckage of the plane.

The worst accident previous to the crash today occurred at Croydon Airport, outside London, in 1924, when eight passengers were killed.

The crash today occurred shortly after 2 p. m. The City of Liverpool twice gave her position by wireless in reporting to the airport at Brussels, which she had left on her way to Croydon. The second report was at 2:20 p. m. There was no indication of trouble in the routine report, officials of the air line said.

Rail Fire in Oklahoma Takes $300,000 Loss

Oklahoma City, March 28 (A.P.).—Fire destroyed the St. Louis-San Francisco Railroad roundhouse with an estimated loss of $300,000 here today.

R. L. Bare, 29, was burned by flaming gasoline. He said he was cleaning a trap under a 250-gallon gasoline tank on a motor car when an electric light bulb broke and caused an explosion. The motor car and 13 locomotives were in the roundhouse. B. V. Swain, yard foreman, who estimated the damage, said a few of the locomotives might be reconditioned without great expense.

U. OF MD. SALARIES DECLARED TOO HIGH

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 28.—Holding that H. C. (Curley) Byrd has played a large part in the general upbuilding of University of Maryland and that in his triple role of vice president, athletic director and football coach, he "occupies a position at the institution that would be difficult to replace," the special committee of the Maryland Senate appointed to investigate affairs of the institution tonight filed its report with that body.

The special committee, of which Senator E. Milton Veazey, Worcester County, is chairman, was appointed about a month ago and covered activities of the university both at College Park and Baltimore in a comprehensive manner. A goodly section of the report is devoted to praise for Vice President Byrd, but certain practices at the university, particularly as regards salaries, are broadly criticized. Salaries are entirely too high, the committee holds, and the piecemeal methods of fixing them are found objectionable.

The committee says it investigated reports concerning outside activities of Vice President Byrd, namely, his banking and real estate connections and writing for a Washington newspaper, but found these did not in any way infringe on his time of the university.

The committee recommends that tuition for out-of-State pupils be not increased, but that for students from the District of Columbia should not be less than $50 more than those from Maryland. It also recommends that the student enrollment be limited to 2,000, unless Congress should appropriate $50,000 as an aid fund. The enrollment now is 1,993.

The committee urges the General Assembly to approve a $200,000 bond issue for construction and equipment of an arts and science building at College Park, also $150,000 for a woman's dormitory, together with other smaller funds for certain additions.

For sake of economy it is urged that the dairy be consolidated with the University dairy plant. The former is now costing annually $6,000 for a superintendent and a secretary at $1,500.

Residents of the Washington suburban sanitary district and of corporated towns, where there are sewer connections, would be exempted from provisions of the proposed law. The bill was introduced at the request of the county health officer.

Hen Theft Suspects Seized At Home of Chief of Police

Three Baltimore Men Are Jailed After Farmers in Four Counties Report Loss of Chickens; One Allegedly Confesses.

Three Baltimore men, believed involved in a series of depredations on chicken farmers of Carroll, Frederick, Howard and Montgomery Counties in the past several months, have run afoul of the law.

When they allegedly attempted to enter the barnyard of Montgomery County Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley, near Damascus, Md., they came a cropper and soon found themselves incarcerated in the Rockville Jail, according to police.

County Policeman Paul Watkins several weeks ago noticed a truck parked at the side of the road near Damascus, apparently out of gasoline. He had no reason to suspect the truck at the time, but when several chicken robberies within a short radius of where he saw the truck were reported the next day his suspicions were aroused. One of the victims, Samuel Warfield, made tracings of the truck's tire tracks, which were unusual in this section. Since then the same tracks have been observed several times near places where chickens have been stolen.

Policemen Watkins and Ralph Howard had been on the lookout for the truck for several weeks. They recognized it as soon as they saw it parked near the home of Chief Moxley. They lay in wait for a few moments until they saw a figure crawl over the fence around the chief's yard. A moment later they seized two men at the truck but could find no chickens. Policeman Watkins took the men to Rockville, where they gave their names as George Gordon and Harvey Meadows.

In the meantime, Policeman Howard found a third man who asked him for lodging for the night.

One of the three has confessed, police say. The third prisoner gave his name as Martin J. Ward. Nine charges of larceny were placed against each of the men yesterday as well as a charge of carrying concealed weapons against Ward.

Ritchie to Request R.F.C. Relief Loan

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 28.—Counties of Maryland that are encountering difficulty in meeting the demands of unemployment and other relief, are offered a solution of their problem through a move initiated tonight by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie.

The executive has practically determined to request relief along this line from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and accordingly sent a telegram to boards of county commissioners throughout the State outlining his plan and requesting them to set forth amounts they would need. The governor took this step after a relief commission appointed by him to study conditions filed a report and recommendations with him tonight.

Maryland has thus far found it unnecessary to ask assistance of the Federal corporation, but the governor and his advisers after mature reflection, found this the most advisable course to meet the existing emergency.

24,048 May Work In Virginia Forests

Preliminary Survey Made on Number Eligible in Senate Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Improvement of national forests under the reforestation bill approved by the Senate yesterday would give work for one month to 24,048 men in Virginia. This was reported yesterday in "preliminary survey" of the Forest Service in which only national forests were covered. Other provisions in the measure, such as flood control and work on State forests would give additional employment in every State.

Work in the national forests would be divided into two classes. The first group of men would be employed on projects for which funds normally would be provided, including construction of roads, fire breaks and lookouts, range water developments and a limited amount of planting.

The second group would be used for erosion control, poison plant and rodent eradication and other types of range and forest cultural activities not strictly essential.

The Coat Without Fur

is a spring perennial...

We picture an outstanding creation of a large collection in sizes for women, misses, and half sizes. A reproduction of Schiaparelli's "Whip Coat," fashioned of Forstmann's Navy corta cloth, contrasted with a white leather "whip" fastening on tortoise-shell plague. A white leather belt hugs the waistline smartly. The tray shoulder contributes that wide-in the-shoulder look. An additional navy blue whip and belt is available at no extra cost.

WORLD ECONOMIC CONFUSION.

Efforts are being made to convene the world economic conference at an early date. Apparently the debtor nations are anxious to outline their ambitious plans for world recovery before the next installments on the war debts become due in June. The State Department is trying to discuss the whole field of international problems with a view to facilitating the work of the conference.

An unusual degree of confusion seems to surround these plans for international action, looking toward economic recovery. Every nation is, of course, interjecting its own interests into the discussions. The statesmen who are trying to set the world right by a single maneuver must fight their way through a welter of conflicting ideas or be overwhelmed by them. Each nation's viewpoint is balanced against the viewpoints of a dozen other nations. Each subject becomes a minor part of the entire jumble of world-wide issues. Negotiations become so involved that progress must be very slow, and achievements most difficult.

Among the problems to be thrown into the international cauldron at London are: Restoration of the gold standard; abolition of exchange restrictions; stimulation of international trade, and the increase of commodity prices. Preliminary discussions are even more complicated, because they involve the war debts and reciprocal tariffs and even disarmament. It is understood that the war debts will not be on the agenda of the world economic conference. Nevertheless, the debtor nations consider adjustment of these debts as part of the international program for recovery. Agreements they make at the economic conference will doubtless be conditional upon revision of the debts. In the preliminary discussions apparently the war obligations are treated as only one factor in the general situation to be dealt with.

The debts alone are a tremendous problem. Tariff agreements and elimination of trade restrictions constitute another formidable issue. Restoration of the gold standard is an issue of such momentous proportions as to challenge the most astute statesmen of the world. What will happen when all these problems are thrown together? Disarmament conferences have failed; tariff conferences have come to futile endings. Is there any reason to suppose that by throwing all these controversial issues into one series of diplomatic negotiations satisfactory results can be achieved?

The United States is in a particularly difficult position. The concessions offered by other countries in this grand trading jamboree may be very nebulous. But the concessions which other countries seek from Uncle Sam are very definite. They can be calculated in dollars and cents. The grave danger is that after these definite concessions have been made the supposed benefits to American taxpayers may prove to be of temporary or insignificant value.

It is apparent that European nations are looking forward to suspension of the June debt installments on the ground that payment should await the results of the economic conference. President Roosevelt is resisting this view. No doubt he fears that if payments were once suspended the United States would be forced to accept the results of the conference or forego all future war debt collections. Obviously the President does not want to put the United States in such a precarious position.

It is too early, of course, to forecast the outcome of this ambitious effort to cure the world's economic ills in one supreme effort, but the confusion into which the movement has fallen by reason of its many complicated issues does not presage extensive achievements.

DEBT INFLATION.

The administration is developing plans which call for enormous drafts upon the national credit. The public debt of the United States is to be increased to cope with the emergency.

Congress and the people approve of the bold plans thus far proposed by President Roosevelt. The bill to provide $500,000,000 for the States does not stagger the people. They would approve of twice or three times that amount if it should be necessary to prevent suffering.

At the same time, the public is cautious, and wishes to have relief measures well thought out. There is no occasion for making gifts to States that are not at the end of their own resources. The distribution of Federal money to States capable of providing for themselves would merely encourage them to indulge in extravagance or fail to lay upon their citizens a just load of taxes. Many of the State governments have shown that they are unscrupulous beggars in approaching the Federal Government. Instead of being props of the Federal structure, they are willing to drain the Treasury. The pending bill should be amended to make certain that gifts shall not be made to States that have not exhausted their resources. Every dollar going from the Treasury must go back in taxes, besides additional charges for interest.

Inflation of the public debt is infinitely preferable to inflation of the currency. Money borrowed by the United States from its citizens should be gold dollar money, and repayable in gold dollars. The country knows where it stands so long as the dollar is unadulterated. Once the value of the dollar becomes uncertain and diminishing, chaos ensues.

Additional currency is not needed. The emergency currency prepared by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to meet banking needs remains in the hands of the Federal Reserve banks. The country's business is conducted again by bank checks. No condition exists that justifies any demand for debased currency.

The public debt amounts to $20,000,000,000, more or less. It was $26,000,000,000 at its highest. The Government's credit is good. If desperate conditions required great borrowings the Treasury could raise the money at fairly reasonable interest rates.

The temptation to regard conditions as desperate may result in the flotation of larger loans than are necessary. Cool calculation is called for. Local excitement should not be permitted to sway the judgment of the Government. Every community may think that its condition is so desperate as to justify heavy demands upon Washington, but the national situation as a whole must be considered. Moreover, the national authorities are in duty bound to have in mind the repayment of debt and interest. Every dollar borrowed by the Government should be repaid in gold or its equivalent. That means the future imposition of heavy additional taxation. The threat of this taxation hangs over business and tends to retard private enterprise, upon which depends the employment of the masses.

Whatever is plainly necessary to prevent destitution and suffering should be provided by the Federal Government after it has been ascertained that local and State resources are exhausted. The amount thus required is not so large as seems to be imagined. The fact that the Government has good credit should not be twisted into a process of coaxing "easy money" out of Uncle Sam by States or communities that can provide for themselves.

RELIEF JOBS.

Changed from an "unemployment" to a "relief" measure, President Roosevelt's reforestation bill passed the Senate yesterday. The amended bill will doubtless be accepted by the House today and will soon be on the statute books.

Some objectionable features of the bill were removed. It does not fix a $1-per-day wage for the men to be employed in the work of restoring forest lands. The theory of the Government using unfortunate individuals at subsistence wages is thus removed, but that has not altered Mr. Roosevelt's intention of carrying out his original plan. Opposition seems to have subsided chiefly because of the administration's insistence that this is a project for relief of men in indigent circumstances and not an employment measure.

Apparently this measure will offer relief principally to the Western States where the great national forest are located. The scheme to have workers recruited by the Government at low wages rehabilitate private lands on a contract system did not meet with the approval of Congress. It may be that President Roosevelt will find some nonforest projects for Eastern workers, but the possibilities open to him seem to be limited.

This form of relief work is untried. Workers participating in its benefits will be separated from their homes. Many of them may not be capable of the strenuous work that is required of reforestation crews. Yet this measure does offer a means of subsistence to men who are willing to work, and it aims at the accomplishment of useful tasks by those who receive aid from the Government. In some States it will serve a useful purpose, but it will probably cause widespread dissatisfaction among working men who are accustomed to higher standards.

It remains to be seen whether private concerns will imitate the Government's example. Several large corporations may have work they want done and can afford to do at the $1-per-day rate of wages. They may decide to hire crews on similar terms, arguing that this special work will not have an adverse influence on wage scales. The Government can not launch such projects in the name of "relief" or otherwise without encouraging private enterprises to do likewise. Indeed, there seems to be no more objection to private "relief" projects of this kind than to the Federal undertaking.

HITLER'S FIRST TEST.

Chancellor Hitler's attempt to silence foreign criticism by boycotting Jewish business houses in Germany recalls the antics in which children indulge when playmates call them "names". Regardless of what conditions in Germany may be, the alleged mistreatment of the Jews under the Hitler regime has aroused widespread protests. Instead of ignoring this criticism and guaranteeing protection to all races in Germany, the Hitlerites undertake to punish the German Jews for the outcries of their brethren in foreign lands. If this is the type of statesmanship that Hitler intends to give Germany, that country is to be pitied.

It is strange that Hitler is so sensitive to adverse publicity in foreign countries. Most men of iron who aspire to dictatorship over a great nation thrive on the hatred of foreigners. They pursue their own course within their own realms quite oblivious of what outsiders think. Witness Stalin in Moscow and Mussolini in Italy, especially in the younger days of his absolutism. But Hitler at the height of his power over a greater nation than either Russia or Italy stoops to inflict his wrath upon German citizens because members of the same race in other lands criticise him.

A few days ago The Post remarked that events would soon take the measure of the new German dictator. His stature is being measured even sooner than was expected. Hitler has made himself ridiculous by trying to silence the Jews of America and all other countries, instead of removing the cause of their complaints. His first international problem has been handled with all the awkardness of a vindictive school boy and the arrogance of a small-town politician.

ECONOMY RUNS WILD.

Economy is carried to ridiculous extremes in the estimates of the Budget Bureau for the District of Columbia budget. Many items have been slashed beyond all reason. The total budget is cut far below the figure that is necessary to maintain the District government efficiently and to keep abreast of necessary improvements and repairs. It appears that the Budget Bureau applied the knife with reckless disregard for the actual needs of the Capital City.

The slashing of items for routine public improvements and much needed repairs can not be reconciled with President Roosevelt's program for relief of the unemployed by the promotion of public works. An example is the Calvert Street bridge. A $750,000 allowance for this improvement was eliminated from the budget. But a new bridge must be built within the near future. If this item is not restored it will be necessary to repair the existing structure at considerable expense, yet the necessity for a new bridge would not be removed.

Washington's need for new school facilities is urgent. Yet the Budget Bureau struck out the items for two new schools and for additions to two others. Interruption of a reasonable program of school building will bring more dangerous portable structures into use and throw a double burden upon local taxpayers for school construction a few years hence, besides depriving children of security and instruction. That is not economy.

Ample money for highway repairs will be available, thanks to the gasoline tax, but this item was virtually cut in half. At the same time the emergency relief fund was doubled. Apparently the Bureau of the Budget contemplates that extra funds will be needed to take care of families whose income will be cut off by the cessation of normal construction work here. In other words, the bureau's budget would result in the accumulation of surplus funds in the Treasury, while urgent work remains undone and the unemployed are fed at public expense. Certainly, that is the antithesis of the principle advocated by President Roosevelt.

A large part of the money saved by this parsimony would, under the Budget Bureau's plan, redound to the benefit of the Federal Government. The bureau recommends a contribution of $5,700,000 by the Government to the National Capital, compared with an appropriation of $7,600,000 recommended by the conference committee on the District bill in the last Congress. The bureau has swallowed whole the theory of Representative Mapes that the people of Washington should be forced to develop and maintain an elaborate Capital City for the entire Nation.

Congress would do well to ignore the Budget Bureau's advice and to draft an appropriation measure that will adequately supply the needs of the District. The Senate District committee has already undertaken a study of the proper fiscal relationship between the Federal City and the Government. Since the Budget Bureau passed over this problem with merely a flourish of the economy knife, its recommendation is meaningless. In fairness to the District Congress ought not further to reduce the lump sum until such a study has been made.

If Congress is not disposed to do injustice to the people of Washington, an adequate budget can be provided with a considerable surplus that will make tax reductions possible at the same time.

If Lew Douglas' budget for the District goes through, they'll have to get a new name for the Federal contribution. It won't be big enough to be called a "lump sum."

Why not suspend the League of Nations' rules and let Japan out now?

The alumni of the Electoral College are grieved at the move to abolish their alma mater and wonder whether it would do any good to make Senator Norris president emeritus.

With over 200 beer speak-alouds in Washington there should be quite a saving in shoe leather.

What price civilization, when the alleged advanced and intelligent nations of the world foresee inevitable war that they don't want, but haven't the wit to avoid?

Defaulting war debtors and bonus nonwar vets consider forming an amalgamated society of misplaced hopes.

Farm interests can't talk the same language on general legislation, but wait till you hear what the railroads can call each other.

As Huey Long's impassioned statements are subject to heavy discount, Gen. Ansell's libel suit is only for half a million.

When the city slickers come back home as full-fledged lumberjacks in 1934, the Boy Scouts must be available to show them the way about town.

Before sending any more entanglement notes, Uncle Sam might ponder the effects that world protests on the Mooney case have had on this country in seventeen years.

The case of beer has been decided. Judgment can be passed as soon as it is delivered.

You may not notice it, but it is predicted that today will witness a brief eclipse at the Naval Hospital for Post Haste. PAUL HUDSON.

SLEEP.

I am the strangest thing man knows,
The kindliest and loveliest, too;
I still the clamoring of his foes
And strengthen him to fight anew.
I take his heavy cares away,
I end his grieving and his pain
And hold his creditors at bay
Until to toil he wakes again.

I take him from his selfish shell
And make him great of heart and kind,
Set him in marble halls to dwell
And fill with lofty thoughts his mind;
Or play pranks with him at times
And fret him with embarrassment
Or let him think for dreadful crimes
To prison he is being sent.

I strip a king of robe and crown
And set some poor man on a throne;
Take toilers where is none to frown
And only happiness is known.
Nothing of earthly care or doubt
Or splendor can resist my powers.
I can blot all man's history out
And change him for the night's few hours.

No scientist can me explain,
No sage knows why I come or go;
Some sadly woo my charms in vain,
At times my peace the poorest know.
I am the great escape from care;
The chasms weary mortals leap
From rugged earth to regions fair,
I am the curious gift of sleep.

When Frogs Gave the Crane Authority, He Authorized Himself to Eat Frogs

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If you have power or authority, either much or little, you are tempted to abuse it. And the greater your power, the more you are tempted.

The jungle animals, being free of ambition, envy and the lust for glory, use their power only to preserve their lives. The leopard alone kills in wanton cruelty—as the house cat does.

Man can not be trusted with power. In all history you will find no evidence that he can possess power without abusing it. And your own experience and observation will corroborate the testimony of history.

What is the abuse of power? To do any unfair thing you would not dare to do if you had no power.

The parent forbids the child a drink; the teacher slaps a pupil; the captain accuses the private of lying; the policeman clubs a tramp. And in every instance the tyrant takes advantage of his power or authority to do something he would not dare to do if his victim were an equal.

Nations abuse their power, now as always.

The Japanese, murdering and looting in China, have no justification except the might of their war engines. Other great powers, without exception, have taken advantage of China's weakness.

The patriot's blood boils as he reads the history of British and French depredations when America was weak. American ships were stopped at sea, their cargoes confiscated and their seamen taken off in irons. And angry notes of protest were ignored or answered with frank and cynical contempt.

Why? Because England and France had the power to blow our little Navy out of the water.

But is America herself innocent? Ask Haiti, Mexico, Colombia, Nicaragua. Our Marines are not landed in France to collect bad debts.

Why do men of great wealth ignore the laws of God and man and prey upon the weak? Because wealth gives them power to do it without risk.

Are gangsters braver than other men—hard-boiled, tough, fearless? On the contrary, most of them are rats. Machine guns, automatics and scorn of law give them power, and artificial power brings out the brute.

The moral is so plain that the dullest mind should comprehend it.

The decent, the peaceful and the weak are preyed upon, now as always, by those who have power.

And they must, at any cost, keep from any man or nation the advantage of power that would expose them to injustice, humiliation and abuse.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Topeka Capital.

Step by step President Roosevelt is fulfilling the hopes invested by the country in the new deal. A suspicion that he was vacillating and lacked backbone was first broken at the Jimmy Walker hearing. But it was not until he took charge with a firm hand of the banking breakdown that doubt of his courage and resoluteness began to be dissipated. This was promptly followed up by the request for a free hand from Congress in dealing with the Veterans' Bureau, with which the most powerful lobby at Washington had been associated for some years. The President's frankness as well as his fidelity to farm groups, which had given him their support in offering his farm relief project, further strengthened public confidence in his definite purpose to fulfill his promises.

The latest demonstration of the new deal is the President's request to the Senate Finance Committee that it continue its investigation of banking practices, following up all leads, and his instruction to Attorney General Cummings to keep in touch with the inquiry and prosecute any violations of law that have been or may be revealed.

After Beer Comes—What?

Minneapolis Journal.

Passage of beer legislation by Congress and by the States may be regarded as a skirmish victory preceding the real battle over repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

However, the declaration, implicit in the legislation, that 3.2 per cent beer is nonintoxicating is highly important and puts a different face on the whole future treatment of the liquor problem. In the event that the prohibition amendment is repealed, the regulation of liquor will be back entirely in the hands of the States, but with two classes of beverages to regulate. One, containing 3.2 per cent or less of alcohol by weight, will be classed as nonintoxicating, under the precedent made by the beer bill. All more potent liquors must be treated separately, as intoxicants.

A Gentle Nudge.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Secretary Hull's cryptic answer to the question whether the United States will discuss revision of war debts with countries that have defaulted on their December payments is a gentle reminder to the defaulting nations that the first move should come from them and that they should be in a position to make that move. All that the Secretary of State will vouchsafe, however, is "I can not say at the present time that we would sit in with those governments in future discussions of their debts."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Constitution Now the Jest of Mountebanks, but Respect for It Will Return.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: What's the matter with the United States Constitution? So far as I am concerned—plain citizen that I am—it's all right. Not that I have ever been very ambitious to expound it. The opinion of political thinkers of other countries as well as this that it is a reliable basis of human government has been satisfactory to me. And I believe the rest of Abe Lincoln's common people have considered it so up to this time.

I used to think it had solid qualities which would cause it to last like Shakespeare and the Bible, but, judging from what I observe, it looks as if we were beginning to consider it old-fashioned, like great-grandmother's hoopskirts and sunbonnets, and are getting ready to change it for something else, as we do with things such as free verse or technocracy.

There was a time when even ordinary politicians talked as if they meant it when they mentioned the Constitution. Today there are not many legislators who talk Constitution as if their hearts were in it. And one of the worst signs is the way in which the several States are neglecting their responsibilities and getting ready to depend on Uncle Sam hereafter for their spending money.

The latest indication of growing disrespect for the Constitution, and that is what started me to write this letter, is the way in which the eighteenth amendment has made it a thing for a mountebank like Bernard Shaw to laugh at. Arguments for repeal on the ground that the amendment lacks constitutional fitness have not been earnest enough to attract much attention. The eloquence of the repealers has been mostly to the effect that a unanimous thirst is in this case the will of the people and that revenue from taxation of alcoholic beverages is necessary to relieve the financial distress of the Government. As for the prohibitionists, they showed their disrespect for the Constitution when they insisted upon it as a proper vehicle for the regulation of our drinking habits.

Not a single one of those who wrote the Constitution thought it was perfect. They provided for changes in it to meet changed conditions. But I am sure they would be grieved if they could come back and view the present situation. However, it has come safely through a good deal of heavy weather in the past, and I believe the Constitution in three or four years will have a place in the public confidence just as bright as ever. If its safeguards are ever taken away from our system of government, it will be because the people are too unintelligent and fickle to appreciate it. H. F. JENKINS.

Groggery and Saloon May Be Different, or Identical, Just Depending.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When the question of the repeal of the dry amendment was being discussed in Congress and out I always said there was more "hot air" than cold common sense in the declaration of both sides that, by this and by that, the saloon must not come back. Now that regulation of the sale of booze stares us in the face, it will take something more than wind to settle the question, What is a saloon?

Since beer for the District has become a fact I have given the subject some thought, to which The Post is welcome if it wants to print it. To make the picture clear I will use the word "groggery" in place of "saloon."

My first point is that the kind of furniture in a place where drinks are sold does not justify calling it a groggery. Once on a time somebody said stone walls do not a prison make, any, just so, a brass rail, a mahogany bar, barrels, kegs, an ice box and a barkeep in a white apron do not make a groggery. It is the stuff sold in a place and the effect of that stuff on its patrons which make it such.

For instance, if there is too much rowdyism and ungodly noise in a place you can call it a groggery. Where the barkeeper has to use the bung-starter for a weapon and a bouncer is needed to preserve order, that is a groggery and, of course, it ought not to come back.

In fact, any place where you would not feel exactly like a gentleman when you take your drinks is a groggery. At a soda fountain, for instance, if a schoolgirl should get to giggling and talking silly on two or three drinks of lager, that would make a groggery, if you want to call it that. C. F. JAMES.

Congress Must Be Free From Mob Interference — District Government a Practical Matter.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In remarks favoring suffrage for the National Capital, Representative Hoeppel says: "This Congress has no moral right whatsoever to legislate for the District." But it is not a matter of sentiment except in so far as respect for the Constitution is concerned. For what they considered good reasons the framers of that instrument saw fit to set aside a spot where the affairs of the National Government could be administered free from outside distractions and interference.

In practice the wisdom of this arrangement has been well established. Within a year its worth has been proved in the face of an attempted intrusion by a mob on the proceedings of Congress. I think it would be well if new congressmen—and perhaps some old ones—would devote some study to the practical relationship of the District of Columbia to the National Government and not base their conclusions upon the sentimental view of suffrage agitators. BAILLIE-STEWART AWAITS SENTENCE

Three Charges Dismissed, but Conviction on Other Seven Held Certain.

London, March 28 (A.P.).—Trial of one of the strangest cases in the annals of the British armed services ended today in a finding of not guilty on three of the ten charges brought against Norman Baillie-Stewart, lieutenant of the Seaforth Highlanders, accused of selling military secrets to a foreign agent.

No announcement was made of the decision of the court-martial concerning the remaining charges, but military custom made it clear that the findings would be other than not guilty. Otherwise they would have been made public.

The case now goes to higher military authorities. If the decisions of the court-martial are confirmed by the army council and approved by the king, the war office will announce the penalty to be imposed. This may take several days, perhaps even weeks.

In the meantime, the young Scottish officer will remain under guard in the Tower of London as he did during the 67 days he awaited his court-martial.

Just before he was taken away to the Tower tonight he heard the ruling of the court martial that "sentence will be promulgated in due course."

The findings were returned after 2½ hours of deliberation and with a smart salute the immaculate Highland officer, with kilts swishing almost jauntily, followed his escort from the courtroom.

His officer brother, Lieut. Eric Stewart Wright, heard the court findings with set and serious face. His mother, Mrs. Elsie Beatrice Wright, was not present. The defendant changed his name from Wright to Baillie-Stewart in 1929.

Outside the Duke of York's headquarters in Chelsea, where the trial was held, an unbroken line of people surrounded the tall spiked iron railings inclosing the barracks, indicating the intense public interest in the case.

The charges that Lieut. Baillie-Stewart sold military secrets have centered around £90 ($311) which he received in letters from Berlin. His defense was that this money was in payment for his lovemaking and that it came from a young German woman known to him only as "Marie Louise."

The Meanderer

Has Front Seats in Two Style Shows; Ginghams for Street Wear and Sheer Cottons for Evening.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

The manly material of the "shirtmaker's dress"—for golfing—of blue or tan or green pink stripes on broadcloth for $1.95—rivaled the feminine fluffiness of organdy and mousseline de soie in the interesting showing of cotton garments for spring in an F street shop yesterday. The difference in the cost of the "shirtmaker's dress" and the sheer party gown is not great. It follows that wardrobes made up from cotton frocks may be smart wardrobes on slim budgets.

Shoppers in plaid ginghams may be met with frequently after the cotton style show for one plaid gingham frock, modeled by a smart young matron, brought whispers of "I'm going to have one like that" from many spectators. The model wore brown plaid gingham with well-cut yoke lines and a trim pique collar buttoned to the throat. Stylists suggested wearing this dress for street, with a plain brown cotton or woolen jacket.

Young figures parading in yellow mousseline over swishing taffeta petticoats (Yes, we are going to swish, again, the capable mistress of style show ceremonies insists), young figures adorned with ruffles and bows and flowers were no more charming than were white-haired models in their carefully selected costumes. The Meanderer was decidedly impressed with a white-haired matron wearing a cotton lace dress in rose, pink and white pattern, with small starched pique flowers in the same colors as a corsage. And a blue-corded cotton frock for the matronly figure, made with oblique yoke pipings in white was equally attractive, as were a green and white leaf-design print in linen and an orchid linen in surplice style with orchid-tinted Irish crochet trimming. Few of the daytime dresses were priced at more than $5.95.

A beige, brown and melon color combination in a knitted suit was received with enthusiasm in a style show staged last night by one of the smartest of the smaller shops on F street. The knitted material was fashioned in boucle with a drop-stitch pattern, making it lighter in weight than many knitted fabrics. The suit consisted of a plain beige, sleeveless dress, with the boucle jacket in harmonious horizontal wide stripes of brown, beige and melon.

Large, indefinitely designed poppies in palest yellow and black made a mousseline dress in the style show just metnioned one of the most distinctive garments the Meanderer has seen this season. The delicate tint of the yellow and the shadings in the large design prevent the gown from being gaudy in any sense. It is worn over a slip of the pastel yellow. The mousseline skirt of the frock, in deep circular effect, is fully 6 yards wide.

Another model from this shop that is decidedly new in effect is in rose-colored tones. Its sheer rose evening gown is topped with a quaint jacket of rose cire taffeta (stiff almost to rattling). The back of the jacket has a distinctly new bustle effect.

The knit wear modeled in this showing from the smaller F street shop is priced from $16.75 up, while other garments shown sell for $12.95 up.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

Running Errands.

CHILDREN naturally want to please their parents and are ready to do anything within reason to win their approval.

Often this attitude is exploited unconsciously. Literally dozens of times in a morning a child's play may be interrupted by requests of all sorts: "Bring in the newspaper for daddy." "Go answer the telephone, find out who it is and say I'll be there in a moment." "Turn off the radio." "See if you can find my glasses, I left them somewhere in the living room." "Run down to the grocery for mother with this list——." "See who that is at the door." "Reach me those matches." "Run upstairs and fetch mother's sewing basket." "Go tell brother dinner is ready," and so on.

The more willing and capable a child is, the more grown-ups are likely continually to ask little favors of him. Eventually even the most good-natured and obliging child protests.

Perhaps he grumbles and says impudently, "Oh, do it yourself," perhaps he just turns a deaf ear so that his parents discover that it is easier to wait on themselves than to get him to do it.

When a child seems especially unobliging and unwilling to do even such tasks as may properly be expected of him, it is well to observe the number of times in a single hour that we ask him to interrupt his own work or play to do something for us.

Such checking-up often makes clear that the child is not selfish and lazy but that his elders, through disregarding his right to be busy about his own affairs without constant interruptions at their convenience or thoughtlessness, have spoiled his natural will to be helpful.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A darling wee dress that has bloomers to complete it.

What makes it so individual is the cunning round shoulder yoke with triple collars and the puffed up sleeves. The sash arranged underneath the front of the dress, emerges through slashed openings at the side-backs. It ties in bow at the center-back.

What Today Means

"ARIES."

IF March 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m., from 5:30 p. m. to 6:15 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:15 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m.

As a result of influences operating on this March 29, all mental activity will be sluggish in nature; matters of routine nature will be the primary objects of thought. Nothing out of the ordinary may be expected from any source or direction. Travel will be pleasant.

The child born on this March 29 will go unassumingly through his early years and through his school activities. In his late "teens" he will quite likely develop a great interest in those of the opposite sex; this may seriously retard his progress. Inclined to be fickle and not always truthful.

If March 29 is the date of your birth, you have within you the qualities that will enable you to accomplish great things, but not on "your own hook." You are the type of person who must constantly be guided or pushed into doing things, for you lack initiative. Your greatest successes will come if you find some suitable person or persons to "team" with—persons who can supply the qualities which you lack. You are a person who must be inspired in order to do his best work. A pure and fine love, culminating in a happy marriage will spur you on to great accomplishments. An unhappy marriage will prove disastrous to your career.

Born on March 29, you are a very self-sacrificing person. To protect or help others you will at times act to your own detriment, leaving yourself open to severe criticism. You seldom become angry and only on rare occasions do you allow yourself to become annoyed; it takes a good deal to disturb your equanimity. You are not interested in many people; generally, they bore you. You are always willing to "talk shop" with any one who will initiate the conversation. About yourself, you are unusually reticent. You are honest almost to a fault and most conscientious about your work. You believe in giving your employer his money's worth and if in business for yourself, you work for results.

Successful people born on March 29:

Frank Leslie, publisher.

Carl Hering, electrician.

Stephen Bonsal, newspaper correspondent.

Joseph Cawthorn, actor.

Henry White, diplomat.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Talbot gives us the veil hat at the top in defiance of the masculine mode, and one of the new bonnet shapes next is something different in silhouette. Center is the new long back dip, from Patou; and below a canary yellow paille porcelain trimmed with periwinkle and yellow morocaine, is matched by a bolero-scarf. (From New York shops.)

IN hats—as in every other phase of the style of today, one has a wide, wide choice. There seems to be a hat for every type of face and figure in the world, one from every age and country, and one for every real or imagined occasion. Therein is the pitfall.

In all the confusion and welter of delightful and desirable hats, the clever woman keeps her head, literally. She chooses shapes, types, materials and colors that suit her. And that suit the occasion for which she intends to wear them. These two simple rules simplify the whole hat story and no woman needs be other than the last word in style and chic, even if her hatbox boasts but three hats!

Starting with the hat for morning wear, for street wear, for business, for town wear generally, there is the sailor. Ah, there is the sailor! And in straws or fabrics, plaids or dots, matched with some other subtle and cunning accessory somewhere on the costume. And it is safe to say that the sailor is universally becoming—having such a wide choice of brim width and degree of ripple or straightness, and such a choice of crown heights and shape. A round crown, a squat crown, a square crown or a slightly draped one, all available in the sailor.

Next there is the type of street hat that is less severe, and quite as chic and becoming. This is the hat I sketched in the center and below in today's illustration. In the center one sees the longer-in-back effect that Patou sponsors, for more comfort achieved by the trimming rather than by the hat itself. And below is the straw hat matched with a bolero scarf, delightful, informal, more suitable for daytime wear of the more formal type than that which is correctly worn with the sailor type of hat mentioned above. In this class are a bewildering variety of shapes from which to choose, but take care that you choose not too dressy a hat—which is suitable only for later in the day and with more formal costume. I might say that you need only one of either type of hat mentioned today—because both are suitable for morning wear, street wear or business. This is if your income only allows one practical hat, you see.

After disposing of the matter of your "practical" hat, which you will find that you wear more often than any other kind, turn to a dressy hat, one that will be suitable for any afternoon affair, and most evening affairs. Depending here upon your social activities, you choose one of the two hats sketched in the upper part of today's illustration. Here you have the new bonnet shape that one leading Parisienne modiste insists upon—a radical silhouette, this. And a delightful veil and tiny hat that another modiste insists upon for feminine loveliness.

Remembering that you have one hat for any morning or daytime affair, choose this second hat for real dress wear—and the occasions and the clothes you have for such. You have an unlimited choice in shapes and materials, trimmings and elegance. Choose well, especially if you can choose but once.

And lastly, your summer hat for the occasional outing or vacation, week-end or whatever. This hat has to await discussion another day, I see! But I conclude by saying that with these three hats you can be perfectly and stylishly hatted for any and every occasion for this spring and summer—and that's not too much to look forward to, is it now?

* * * *

Next to hats, I think sleeves are most important today. If your dress has a plain or an old-fashioned-looking sleeve—you are lost. No need for it either, when all you have to do is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Post for this week's illustrated leaflet and find out how to make over all your old sleeves into new ones! There are at least a dozen ways to do it sketched for you—with directions for doing them yourself if you don't want to give the leaflet and the old dresses to your dressmaker.

Au revoir!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

EXPRESSION AND THE LOWER FACE.

THE expression of the lower part of the face is dependent partly on the bones. From the eyes up the face is the front part of the brain box. Except as its shape is somewhat modified by the sinus located in the brow region, it reflects the shape and size of the brain.

All of that part of the bony head below the eyebrows and in front of the eyes is something of an addition attached to the brain box, but not an essential part of the structure. A small part of this bony face lean-to attached to the brain box consist of two caverns that give shelter to the eyeballs. Another part provides the tunnels through which air is taken in and warmed, moistened and cleaned. The sinuses opening off this air tube are responsible for the cheek bones, and this takes some part in determining the features.

The size and shape of the bones of the lower face develop according to a plan of growth and change which is started long before birth and continues until death. The pituitary gland furnishes the motive power for the carrying out of this plan. If the jaws do not grow large enough to hold the teeth and some are crowded out of line, the pituitary is at fault. If the lower jaw projects beyond the upper or if its line of bite falls far behind that of the upper jaw, again the pituitary is at fault. Whether a man is to be jimber jawed or to be a chinless Susie depend on his pituitary.

There is a well-recognized pituitary disease which is manifested by lionism. In this disease the bones of the lower face become so heavy and prominent that the sufferer bears some resemblance to a lion, hence the name.

There is a specialty in dentistry called orthorontia, which consists in shifting the positions and alignments of the teeth. A field of research for this group of scientists is to find a way to prevent irregularities of the teeth rather than by correcting them. Research in this field is directed toward the pituitary.

The heavy muscles which move the jaws contribute somewhat to the expression of the lower part of the face. Some research on methods of changing the facial expression by developing these muscles has been done recently.

The greater part of the contribution of the muscles to the expression of the lower part of the face arises from the action of the muscles around the mouth. These muscles hold the lips closed in a straight line, or they allow the mouth to sag open. They pull the corners of the mouth up and cause that expression to set. Or they pull them down, and, in time, cause another expression with different meanings to become fixed. They make radiating wrinkles at the corners of the mouth and deep folds which run sometimes in one direction and sometimes in another.

THE PSEUDO-SQUEEZE.

THE pseudo-squeeze is a ruse by no means uncommon among experts, but, as Mr. John W. Jacobson, of Toronto, points out, it is only the occasional hand that presents an opportunity to deceive the enemy by a pseudo strip play, a strategem most difficult to fathom. The following example occurred in a Duplicate game a the Toronto Whist Club and resulted in the making of an apparently impossible Slam contract.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

Mr. Roy Funston.

Mr. W. H. Anderson.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♠	3♡
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

The heart 6 was opened, won by the Ace and the heart 4 ruffed in Dummy. West's play of the 5 showed that East held seven hearts originally, and Mr. Anderson decided that his only chance was to disguise the location of the deuce and play East for the Ace of clubs and not more than two diamonds, which seemed a reasonably safe assumption from the bidding. He therefore returned to his hand with the spade Ace, reassured by the drop of the 9 by East. Then he laid down the Ace and King of diamonds, followed by the singleton club, on which he played the 9 from Dummy. East won with the Knave and was confronted by the following situation:

♠ K 8
◇ 10 6
♣ K Q 7

♠ 7 5 — ♠ —
♡ — — ♡ K Q J
◇ J — ◇ 10 9
♣ 10 8 5 4 — ♣ A 6

♠ Q J 10 6

Of course, a heart lead would defeat the contract, but who had the deuce? If West had it and South's remaining cards were five spades, one diamond and one club, what then? So East guessed wrongly, led the club Ace and Mr. Anderson's strategy was rewarded.

Tomorrow's Hand.

If you were playing the South hand below at a contract of four spades, against which a diamond had been opened and returned, thus forcing you to ruff, how would you plan the play from this point to make most probable the fulfillment of your contract?

♠ 10 7 6

The solution will be given in tomorrow's article.

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

New York—Charles Parmer, novelist, was stopping at a hotel in the West Forties which looks out upon the stage entrance of one of those theaters that feature girly-girly shows.

The other morning he was awakened by a loud voice calling: "Get on your costumes. Time to work." Much mystified, he looked out the window, but could not discover the whereabout of the mysterious voice. A few minutes later it called out again: "All right, you girls. Don't be so lazy."

Finally, he solved the problem. In each of the dressing rooms in the playhouse across the way is a loud speaker through which the stage manager can speak to all the show girls. What the stage manager doesn't know is that on these spring mornings the girls leave their windows open, so all his orders to them are broadcast throughout the block.

Costly Refrigerator.

Some years ago when he was managing a couple of ham prizefighters, Sam Taub took them along with him on a trip to New Jersey to help bring over an automatic refrigerator he had bought from a pal.

On the ferry trip across the river, one of the leather pushers became violently seasick. Such a sign of weakness annoyed Taub so much that a few weeks later, he sold the fighter's contract to another manager.

Well, something less than a year later that mal de mer puncher, one Goodrich by name, stepped out and won the world title. To add to his chagrin, Taub discovered that not only was the refrigerator no good, but for the same price he could have bought a new one.

It's License-Getting Time.

It is just about this time of year that New Yorkers get ready to take their tests for auto driving licenses. The first license I received, back in 1926, was won practically without a test.

The date set for the examination also marked the entry of a blizzard over New York. A group of us gathered with the inspector on Amsterdam avenue, and he first started with the eye test. But snow was falling so thick one couldn't see the wall, much less the eye test card which was tacked against it.

Finally, the inspector gave that up, and we started on driving tests. But the streets were so slippery with ice that that was out of the question, too. So everything was called off. Nothing else ever happened except that about a week later there came a notice through the mail saying that I had passed all the tests perfectly and therefore was being granted a license. I didn't contest the point.

SAVINGS AND CHECKS BARED IN BALL TRIAL

Mackey Again Fails to Have Mistrial Called Because of Letter Read Jurors.

Consuming almost the entire day with B. Agee Bowles, vice president of the Potomac Savings Bank, on the stand in the case of E. Wade Ball, former treasurer of Arlington County on trial charged with failure to turn over county funds totaling $515,959.92, the prosecution yesterday showed that checks totaling $56,561 were drawn from the defendant's personal accounts in 1929 and 1930.

The major portion of the afternoon session was taken up with the identification and reading of deposit slips of Ball's personal account covering a period from January, 1924, to January, 1932, inclusive. While no totals for any one year was given, the following monthly totals were shown: November, 1925, $20,640; November, 1926, $20,565; November, 1927, $15,000.

This testimony was admitted over objection of defense.

Renewing his motion for a mistrial because of a letter contained in the audit being introduced as evidence, Crandal Mackey, defense counsel, claimed it had been read by the jury and contained matter prejudicial to the case.

"It is a denial of justice," Mackey declared, "to let this case go on since the jurors have read the paper."

Mackey said the letter mentioned "kiting" and details of personal use of county funds.

Denying the motion, Judge Walter T. McCarthy repeated his instructions to the jury to the effect that the letter is to be disregarded in considering the evidence.

The first witness called at the morning session was Jesse Cheney, clerk in Ball's office for more than eight years. Questioned by Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas, he stated that two tax tickets, one for $1.50 and the other for $6.50, had been turned over to him by Ball for collection after he had, at Ball's direction, marked them paid. He also stated that Ball had informed him that the taxes had been paid. During the latter part of March, 1932, Cheney testified that Ball told him that he had out about $5,000 worth of tax tickets.

On cross-examination by Mackey, Cheney was asked why he had not told of this before. He replied that he had not been asked before.

H. W. Burnside, assistant cashier of Riggs National Bank of Washington, will be called to the stand today.

60 Days

Appearing in Police Court impeccably dressed and with his broad "a" working overtime, Hayward A. Stevens, yesterday was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail on a charge of beating a board bill at the Mayflower Hotel.

Stevens had been in jail for three months before it was decided to bring him to trial. He appeared none the worse for his confinement, and he attempted to outargue Michael F. Keogh, assistant United States attorney, who prosecuted him before Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

Stevens, it was said in testimony, had stopped at the hotel and had asked that a ticket for a Florida city be purchased for him. He took the ticket and exchanged it for one to Southern Pines, N. C., and some $30 in change. He was arrested there and brought back for trial.

COAD MAY RESUME OYSTER FILIBUSTER

Measure Advanced to Third Reading After Amendment Is Voted Down.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 28.—The Senate advanced to the third reading file today an administration oyster bill designed to throw the waters of the Potomac River open to dredgers for two months in the year, but only after Senator J. Alan Coad, St. Marys County, made a determined fight to amend it by deferring such action at least a year until Virginia adopts similar legislation.

This is one of several controversial measures still in the legislative files and upon which Senator Coad engineered a filibuster that carried the Senate through an all night session on Friday.

The amendment was voted down, 13 to 12. After losing this fight, Senator Coad intimated he may launch another filibuster, or at least resume his battle against the measure when it comes up for final passage within the next day or two. Senator Robert Hilton, Prince Georges County, was absent when the vote was taken, and may hold the key to the situation. He lined up with Coad during the recent filibuster. One of Coad's strongest supporters was Walter J. Mitchell, Charles County, president of the Senate. Whatever may be the Senate's final action, indications are that the measure will encounter rough sledding in the House.

While Baltimore City's representatives in the House wrestled with beer legislation for a greater part of the day, owing to opposition to the administration State-wide measure, as compared to features of the city's proposal. Both the Senate and House waded through considerable other legislation in an effort to relieve the existing jam.

The Senate killed, through an unfavorable report, the bill designed to eliminate the retirement system for public school teachers of the State, Senator Dudley Roe, Queen Annes County author of the bill, endeavored to override the report by moving to substitute, but was voted down, 21 to 7.

The Senate finance committee, after a heated session, also returned unfavorable reports on two measures affecting the marriage laws. One of these is known as the "civil marriage bill," designed to permit judges and court clerks to officiate at rites, and the other is directed against hasty marriages.

Another proposal rejected by the House was that calling for an investigation to determine the practicability of a municipal power plant for Cumberland.

ALL DETROIT GETS BEHIND NEW BANK

Watkins Committee Is Told Conservators to Move Slowly in Liquidation.

Detroit, March 28 (A.P.).—Long-smouldering dissension against plans of assimilating within the New National Bank of Detroit the more liquid assets of the city's two largest banks, both closed, apparently was dying tonight, as officials and citizens alike moved to support the new 100 per cent liquid institution, first of its kind under Federal regulations.

Last of the active dissenters was Police Commissioner James K. Watkins' committee, en route home from Washington with the word to the public that the new bank should be supported, in view of reported concessions for depositors of the two closed banks, the First National and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce.

And Uncle Sam Clash on "Conservator," Decision Going to Latter.

Baltimore, March 28 (A.P.).—Not even the English language is escaping the arbitrary aspects of the new deal.

The dictionaries say its "con'-ser-va'tor" and so do other authorities. But Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin has decided it should be "Con-serv'-a-tor" and "con-serv'-a-tor" it is.

In answer to a query by Harry Edward Warner, a newspaper employe and lexicographer here, F. G. Awalt, acting comptroller of the currency, wrote:

"Regardless of the pronunciation given by the dictionaries, the Secretary of the Treasury has adopted the pronunciation which places the accent on the second syllable. The official pronunciation used by this officer therefore is con-serv'-a-tor. Should anyone wish to justify this pronunciation, he may do so with the explanation that the word has a new meaning under the provisions of the emergency banking act."

SHIP LOST IN FIRE; ENGINEER IS BURNED

Trawler Is Destroyed After Blast Off Virginia; Crew Rescued.

Norfolk, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Ablaze from stem to stern, the trawler Mobjack of Hampton was reported a total loss this afternoon by the Creeds Hill Coast Guard Station in a statement to Norfolk division headquarters. The crew of three men was saved, one man severely burned.

Austin Moore, of Norfolk, the trawler's engineer, was severely burned about the face as he and the captain, J. J. Coughlin, and Alix Doirazef, seaman, of New Jersey, were rescued.

Coast Guardsmen sent a radio for an ambulance plane at the naval base at Norfolk to fly here and take Moore to the Marine Hospital for treatment.

The trawler, loaded with fish and out of Newport News, Va., burned to the water's edge 2 miles southeast of Creeds Hill Coast Guard Station.

Capt. Coughlin said that about 10:30 this morning, while the crew sorted fish on deck, an explosion of undetermined origin set fire to the 60-foot craft, burning Moore, who was in the pilot house at the time.

Stocks Continue Advances As Other Markets Rally

One Point Gain Recorded as Sales Mount to 600,690 Shares.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Firmer commodity markets and a couple of regular dividend declarations today offered a better footing for stocks, and prices rose slowly after a period of indecision and inaction.

Improvement in grains and cotton during the afternoon gave more impetus to shares than did the midday announcement that Allied Chemical's directors had voted another quarterly disbursement of Allied Chemical. This news was received calmly, even though it may have come as a surprise to some traders who had thought the company might decide against maintaining the rate in view of last year's lower earnings, but the market felt more cheerful when wheat started to rise and sentiment was further bolstered by authorization of the usual $1 dividend by American Can.

Net gains generally ranged from fractions to 3 points, though volume remained at 600,690 shares. Farm implements issues, mail order equities and the rails did fairly well on the upturn. Case was up 3, Sears Roebuck about 1, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, International Harvester, Delaware & Hudson, Southern Pacific, corn products and Union Pacific, 1 to more than 2, while a number of industrials, utilities and specialties, including United States Steel, Consolidated Gas, American Sugar, International Silver, United Fruit, United States Industrial Alcohol and American Tobacco "B" showed similar advances. American Telephone, after bogging below 90, closed 1½ higher. American Can gained 2 and Allied Chemical 3.

Stockholders of American Telephone Co., at their annual meeting, did not question the management as to its dividend policy which recently has come into special prominence through reductions in payments made by several operating subsidiaries. The next dividend meeting of the parent company is scheduled for May; if the rate is maintained American Telephone will have to make a heavier draft on its own reserves, since income from dividends has been further reduced. First-quarter earnings are expected to be well under the present disbursement.

News of direct interest to markets was rather light. Wall street commission houses found public interest in stocks at a minimum, though they regarded the extremely light volume of offerings as an encouraging symtom. It was agreed that the market needed an impetus, but Washington developments were currently at a standstill. Freight loadings last week for several important railroads showed a continuation of the upward seasonal trend, reflecting further readjustment from the upsets of the banking holiday.

Foreign exchanges were very dull, which meant a steady dollar. There was no word as to lifting of the gold embargo, but Europe did not appear to be particularly interested in that phase of the situation.

American Metal Market, in its weekly review, said demand for steel appeared slightly better of late, though "the significance is merely that the decline extending over the four preceding weeks came to an end." The average rate for March, this survey pointed out, would be "scarcely above" 14 per cent against better than 20 per cent for last month. The mean for this quarter is expected to be slightly above that for the last three months of 1932.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

What the Stock Market Did

	Tues.	Mon.
Advances	208	81
Declines	139	303
Unchanged	137	110
Total issues	484	494

Stocks.

Bonds.

Lower prices were improved slightly near the close. Demand was firmer. The average loss stood at two-tenths of a point. Trading volume increased to $10,427,000.

Curb.

Wheat.

A sensational report on crop damages in Kansas and the Southwestern area sent wheat prices higher. Corn and oats followed. May wheat sold at 53⅜ to 53¾ cents.

Cotton.

Early declines were succeeded by a rally on trade buying and covering. May sold at 6.32, with the general market up 10 to 13 points. Liverpool reported an inactive market.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Gold mining issues and gilt-edged securities continue to be the firmest and most active features on the stock exchange, the latter improving on increased support by investors. Argentine rails improved while other sections were inclined toward irregularity. The closing was quieter.

Paris—Business on the bourse was quiet and prices were weak owing to the heaviness in Wall street. The market closed irregular.

Berlin—Prices on the boerse drooped all day and closed weak.

RISE IN BONDS CUTS LOSSES TO FRACTION

Demand Firmer at Close; Dealing Increases to $10,427,000.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Bonds dragged along the lower path for much of today's session, but improved moderately on the appearance of a somewhat firmer demand in the late trading.

Volume approximated $10,427,000 and the average of 60 domestic corporate issues was off .2 point net.

U. S. Government issues gave a good account of themselves, the majority edging forward in response to a moderate demand. Bond traders, however, took their cue not from the action of Federals, but from the spiritless action of most other security markets and consequently gave little attention to the buying side until near the end of the session.

The best of the market's action consisted in the cutting of early losses, which in many of the rail, utility and industrial loans ran to 2 or 3 points. There were no developments to account for this soft tone.

As selling pressure lightened a fair number of obligations representative of most of the domestic groups climbed toward some real net gains, with a few finding levels well above the previous close. Rock Island general 4s stepped out as late leaders of the rails, rising 4 points in appreciation of the road's now comfortable position with respect to April 1 interest obligations.

There was also a good tone to some of the loans of Missouri Pacific, Erie, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway. Western Union 5s and other communications issues were weak features of the utility group.

In the foregin division prices shifted erratically. German, Italian and Japanese obligations, hardened following early heaviness, Argentine issues were strong features of the South American group.

Farm Implement Concerns Expect to Wipe Out Deficits

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Watching hopefully the administration's efforts to put its "hand to the plow" are the important farm implement companies which expect to transform large deficits into profits if the farm relief plans work.

For 1932 deficits were reported by the J. I. Case Co. of $2,611,000, by Deere & Co. of $5,167,000 and by International Harvester of $7,583,000. Last year Case had current assets of $32,522,000 compared with $37,082,000 in 1931; Deere & Co. showed $64,793,000 against $76,000,000, and International Harvester had $232,978,000 compared with $246,455,000 at the end of the previous year.

The debts of the farmers to the companies and their dealers for machinery, &c., are largely listed in the annual reports as "receivables." That payments have been slow in the past few years, due to the sharp drop of farm income, is indicated from the reserves which the companies have set up against these receivables while the Case Co., at the end of 1932, carried a reserve of some $2,500,000, about the same in 1929; Deere & Co. had reserves for losses and receivables of $6,284,000, as against $3,997,000 at the close of 1929, and the reserve of International Harvester for receivables amounted to $19,900,000 compared with $13,323,007 in the 1929 period.

Sales of farm implements, a survey by Moody's points out, depend upon gross farm income. This income for 1932 was estimated at some $5,240,000,000, which was $1,715,000,000 under 1931, $4,153,000,000 under 1930 and $6,710,000,000 below 1929. The Case Co. estimated that in 1929, purchases of farm machinery amounted to 4.95 per cent of gross income and in 1932 declined to 3.05 per cent of gross income.

"Considering this reduction in expenditure, along with the sharp decrease in gross farm income," comments the survey, "it is not hard to understand the large losses reported by the farm implement companies in 1932 and the continuing high receivables. Unless some form of adequate farm relief is given to the farmers in the near future the position of the farm implement companies will become more difficult."

Offices Expanded By Brown & Sons

New Banking Quarters to Be Occupied Next Friday.

Alex. Brown & Sons, now located at 737 Fifteenth street northwest, will move on March 31 to their new local office directly across the street at 734 Fifteenth street. This is now being renovated and equipped to provide modern banking quarters.

The firm of Alex. Brown & Sons, it is said, has the distinction of being the oldest banking house in the United States. It dates back to the year 1800, when it was established in Baltimore by Alexander Brown. For seven generations since, his decendants have successfully guided this historic old house through every financial storm and business crisis which has beset this Nation. Its leadership now is in the hands of B. Howell Griswold, jr., who is the senior partner. Other partners include Alexander Brown Griswold, Thomas Hildt, Walter N. Stromenger and Harry F. Swope.

The Washington office was established in 1921 as a branch of the investment department, under the management of Lawrence M. Proctor. Its personnel today includes Mr. Proctor, Robert T. Norman, John W. Haines and Peter I. Hamilton.

Mohawk Mining Votes To Liquidate Company

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Stockholders of Mohawk Mining Co., today voted to liquidate the company as proposed by the directors early this year.

The corporation has long been known as a low-cost producer of Lake Superior Copper. In 1932 it had net loss of $268,161 after depletion.

Two-thirds of the stock was voted in favor of dissolution.

AnthraciteInstitute Increases Group

Seven New Members Join Forces; Controls Industry.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The Anthracite Institute, a research and statistical organization maintained by the hard coal industry, announced today that seven new members had joined forces with the organization, so that it now represents 83 per cent of the industry.

The upholding of Appalachian Coals, Incorporated, a sales organization for the bituminous industry, by the United States Supreme Court, has led to expectations that the hard coal industry might form a similar joint marketing organization possibly through the medium of the Anthracite Institute. So far as could be learned today, however, no positive steps in that direction have been taken.

The companies joining forces with the institute today, Gen. Brice P. Disque, its president, announced, represent a total production of about 8,000,000 tons annually, or 15 per cent of the total anthracite production. The companies were Susquehanna Collieries Co., Penn Anthracite Mining Co., Madeira, Hill & Co., Weston Dodson & Co., Wyoming Valley Collieries Co., East Bear Ridge Colliery Co., the Lytle Coal Co. A general meeting of the heads of the anthracite companies has been called at Atlantic City for April 7 and 8, to be followed by a trip of inspection of the institute's laboratory, near Philadelphia.

Steel Seen at Bottom.

Wheeling, W. Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Alexander Glass, chairman of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, told stockholders today that he believes the bottom has been reached in the industry and business now is on the upgrade.

CURB STAGES RALLY AFTER DULL OPENING

Baltimore Gas Advances as Turnover Increases to 110,000 Shares.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The curb market drifted through another dull session today, but developed a little more robust appearance in the late dealings in sympathy with a late bulge in the big board.

Trading quickened but slightly, with a turnover of 110,000 shares, against 90,000 shares yesterday.

Utilities were mixed, but the more active issues stiffened in the late trading. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore gained 2 points, Electric Bond & Share 1½ and American Gas & Electric ¾. Some of the thinly traded preferred issues appeared several points off from previous transactions, however, notably Consolidated Gas of Baltimore prior preferred and National Power & Light preferred.

In the industrials issues linked with agriculture improved, in sympathy with improvement in the wheat market. Deere and American Cyanamid B each gained fractions. New Jersey Zinc was unresponsive to winning of a patent suit on a rayon process and lost a fraction. Aluminum Co. converted an early loss of a point into a net gain of like extent.

Oil shares were steady to firm, as petroleum circles' attention was focused on Secretary Ickes' conferences. Gulf closed up ⅜ of a point, while others were barely changed. A little activity developed in some of the lower-priced gold mining shares, but changes were negligible, and Lake Shore, a higher-priced issue, sagged a fraction.

France's Default on Debt Costs 4 Billion Francs

Paris, March 28 (A.P.).—France lost 4,000,000,000 francs in trade with the United States as a result of defaulting on the $19,000,000 debt installment due last December, former Senator Gabriel Tauffleb today told a meeting of business men and others called on behalf of the campaign to pay America.

Steamship lines, hotels and business houses lost heavily because of an American boycott of French products, said Mr. Tauffleb, who recently returned from the United States.

WHEAT VALUES GAIN ON CROP'S DAMAGES

Kansas and Southwest Area Losses Boost Prices; Other Grains Up.

Chicago, March 28 (A.P.).—Sensational crop damage advices both from Kansas and adjoining States southwest and from the Pacific Northwest led to an abrupt rise in wheat values today.

Detailed unofficial reports tended to confirm tremendous losses to wheat by winter-killing, and furnished indications of big abandonment of acreage. Most of the wheat price gains came in the late dealings after the market earlier had dragged downgrade owing to absence of any developments helping to remove uneasiness relative to agricultural legislation at Washington.

Wheat closed unsettled at nearly the day's top, 1⅛ to 1⅝ over yesterday's finish; corn, ¼ to ½ up; oats, unchanged to ¼ to ⅜ higher, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down.

Buying Attributed to East.

Active buying attributed to Eastern sources entered the wheat market shortly after midday, and this encouraged pit traders to purchase. Previous speculative sellers turned quickly to the buying side. Selling that earlier was in evidence on the part of Government-financed agencies was not apparent during the late bulge. One private estimate that the 1933 Kansas wheat field would amount to hardly 50,000,000 bushels attracted particular notice, the State last year having produced 106,000,000 bushels.

Advices from the Pacific Northwest were that disaster to winter wheat appeared general, with little likelihood of sufficient reseeding to offset the losses. In Umatilla County, Oreg., 90 per cent of the winter crop was reported killed. Benton County, Wash., reported all winter wheat destroyed, and Klickitat County said winter killing was ten times normal. Walla Walla noted that farmers were reseeding as far as they had money.

Corn and oats trailed after wheat, going downward early and up later. Prospective use of a percentage of grain alcohol in motor fuel helped to strengthen the corn market.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values.

Fox Film Corporation Action for Receiver

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—The Fox Film Corporation, the Chase Securities Corporation and four Fox directors were ordered by the Federal Court today to show cause Friday, why an equity receiver should not be appointed for the film company.

Benjamin Schellenberg, of Brookline, Mass., a stockholder, obtained the order from Judge Alfred C. Coxe on representations that the Fox Film Co. is unable to pay $900,000 semi-annual interest on its gold debentures and that its subsidiary, Wesco Corporation, is unable to meet $15,000,000 principal on gold notes, both due Saturday.

W. C. Durant Will Quit Rayon Company Board

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—William C. Durant today announced his resignation from the board of directors of Industrial Rayon Corporation. His action, it was said, was due to a desire to devote his entire time to other interests.

Mr. Durant became associated with Industrial Rayon in 1927, when he was reported to have acquired a large block of the stock in the open market. In the next year he provided underwriting necessary to increase the company's capacity by more than 100 per cent through construction of a plant at Covington, Va.

COTTON PRICES RISE ON TRADE'S BUYING

May Sells at 6.32 With General Market Up 10 to 13 Points.

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—After slight declines, cotton rallied today in a late spurt of buying and covering, which was attributed partly to a report published by one of the financial news tickers that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was considering a more liberal bank lending policy.

Strength in wheat and a firmer turn in the stock market contributed to the advance which carried the price of May contracts from 6.18 to 6.40, or 21 points above yesterday's closing quotations. This advance met considerable realizing and there were reactions in the late trading with May closing at 6.32, or about 8 points off from the best. The final tone of the market was barely steady at net advances of 10 to 13 points.

The opening was 1 to 2 points higher in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables and trade buying.

Demand Is Increased.

A slight forenoon decline attracted an increased trade demand, and when the late buying movement started contracts seemed rather scarce.

Active months sold about 17 to 21 points net higher with October advancing to 6.76, making a recovery of 27 points from the forenoon low level, but realizing was encountered at this level. Closing quotations showed reactions of 7 to 11 points from the best.

While Liverpool cables were slightly better than expected, the market there was reported inactive, with traders awaiting developments at Washington. Spot business was slow in all departments. There appeared to be fewer orders here from abroad than yesterday, but houses with Liverpool and Japanese connections were credited with selling a little cotton here during the morning. Exports today, 8,745, making 6,104,027 so far this season. Port receipts, 20,976. United States port stocks, 4,418,316.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable cottonseed oil was steady today in sympathy with the steadiness of other commodities, although trading was light. Final prices were unchanged to 7 points net higher. Sales were only three contracts, or 450 barrels. Bleachable spot closed 3.80; May, 3.90; July, 4.07; September, 4.21; November, 4.20.

COMMODITY TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Men's wear—It is said that mills making fabrics for top-coatings and men's suitings are sending a fair amount of goods to this district and there is moderate spot business from now until Easter.

Canned foods—Dealers have been advised that the Northwest and Alaska pink salmon prices are going to be advanced on April 1. Reds will be unchanged, it is said.

Copper—The market shows about the same inertia as before the bank holiday, and dealers admit that signs of early improvement in demand are absent. In the export market conditions are about the same.

Paper boxes—A steady recovery has taken place in the paper box industry during the past three months, according to Fibre & Brad Paper Cases. Prices of materials and boxboard quotations have been withdrawn by many concerns, it is stated.

Paint materials—Demand for lead in oil has been disappointing in its seasonable development, but corroders are said to be looking for improvement with the advent of more settled weather.

Flannels—Contracts placed with primary houses in the past week were in fair volume though somewhat smaller than a few weeks ago, according to trade reports.

SINCLAIR OIL WELLS YIELD HUGE OUTPUT

127,870 Barrels Pumped in Two Hours; Nation's Run 2,284,055 Daily.

Kilgore, Tex., March 28 (A.P.).—Operation for two hours Monday of the Sinclair Oil Co.'s 481 wells in the east Texas field showed the tremendous size of that producing area.

Capt. E. N. Stanley, in charge of field headquarters of the Texas railroad commission, State oil regulatory body, estimated that in that period 127,870 barrels of crude were pumped, an average of about 135 barrels an hour for each well. Stanley said that should every one of the approximately 10,000 wells in the field average 135 barrels hourly during a proposed two-hour test run Thursday, production would aggregate 2,700,000 barrels. The Nation's average daily production last week, as reported by the Oil and Gas Journal, was 2,284,055 barrels.

Sinclair's action was a surprise. The commission had announced a postponement of a scheduled two-hour test run from yesterday until Thursday. Sinclair officials stated the original order had not been officially postponed and pointed out they had shut all their wells down after the two-hour run. The commission's plan was to shut in the field, after the test, until a new program measure could be drawn up.

To make binding the Thursday order, two members of the commission prepared to return home from Washington where they had gone to attend an administration sponsored conference into the ills of the industry. They made this decision after Texas' attorney general, James V. Allred, ruled that one member of the commission who remained in Texas—Lon A. Smith, chairman—could not by himself enter a valid order requiring the Thursday test run.

Gross sales for 1932 totaled $61,295,561, against $98,731,385 in the previous year. Current assets on December 31 were $50,988,891, compared with $64,116,432 at the end of 1931, while current liabilities were $6,674,865, against $7,816,655.

Hershey Chocolate Co. today placed the common stock on a $3 annual dividend basis, against $5 previously paid by declaring a quarterly disbursement of 75 cents a share, payable May 15 to stock of record April 25.

On January 31 the company had cash, United States Government and municipal bonds totaling $6,264,300, compared with $4,554,694 at the close of the preceding year. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities was 7.74 to 1, against 7.23 to 1 a year ago.

Directors have recommended a reduction in capital represented by the no-par value common stock from $7.26 a share to $1 a share. The effect of this will be to increase surplus account to $10,962,823.

Roanoke, Va., March 28 (A.P.).—Maintaining approximately the same operating revenue as it reached in January, but effecting large savings in decreased operating expenses, the Norfolk & Western Railway last month earned a net income of $1,376,376.68. Its highest figure in several years, it was announced here today. The increase over February, 1932, was $585,936.09, and over last month, $84,449.20.

Only a comparatively small amount of the savings in operating expenses has been effected through reduction in forces, railway officials said. The only salary cut was the 10 per cent reduction made in February, 1932.

For the first two months of this year the net income reached a total of $2,688,304.16, a gain of $1,441,320.34 over the corresponding period in 1932.

Railway operating revenues last month were $5,141,504.71, a gain of $17,820.04 over February, 1932, and a decrease of $86,486.38 from January.

Woolen Company To Retire Stock

65,000 Preferred Shares Call Will Reduce Capital.

Springfield, Mass., March 28 (A.P.).—Stockholders of the American Woolen Co., voted in the annual meeting here today to retire 65,000 shares of preferred stock, which will reduce the total to 413,148.

These shares have been accumulated by the company in the last year. Business included reelection of several directors.

President Lionel J. Noah in his report cited decline in the volume of sales, but says that notwithstanding he was convinced there has been a steady improvement in the company's general situation, indicated by the fact that, while there was a substantial loss for the entire year, there was a profit before depreciation for the last six months of $7,285.27 compared with a loss before depreciation during the first six months of $6,258,444.95, a substantial part of which was necessitated by the drastic decline in raw wool during the first six months of 1932.

PRESS CLUB HONORS ROOSEVELT TONIGHT

Thomas and Downey to Sing and Aids Will Get Swords, Gun and Ax.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be presented with the card signifying he is a paid-up member of the National Press Club at a silver jubilee party in the club quarters in the Press Building at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

John Charles Thomas, noted American barytone, has come to Washington to sing for the newest member of the famous club, and Morton Downey, the keening radio tenor, also is to sing.

Raymond P. Brandt, president of the club, will welcome the President and the other distinguished guests, and the histrionic stars of the club will present an original one-act play, "The Stork Stalks," which has been directed by Clifford Brooke and has been advertised in advance notices as the best skit which has been presented by the Press Club.

President Roosevelt will just be admitted as a member of the club, but the "secretariat" will be accorded signal honors. Louis McHenry Howe, Marvin H. McIntyre and Stephen T. Early will be made "colonels" and Charles Michelson, publicity director of the Democratic national committee for the last few years, and Postmaster General James A. Farley will be made "admirals."

Messrs. McIntyre, Earl and Michelson have long been members of the National Press Club. They will be accorded their new Kentucky ranks tonight. Cols. Howe and McIntyre will be presented with swords. Col. Early will be presented with a gun, probably in recollection of his enlistment as a buck private in the District's "suicide" club—the local machine gun squad which served overseas in the European war. Postmaster Farley will be given an ax.

Industrial Savings May Add to Stock

Plan for Capitalization of $100,000 to Come Up on April 19.

Stockholders of Industrial Savings Bank will consider a resolution for the increase of the capital stock of that institution to $100,000 at a special meeting at that bank on April 19. Stockholders will be given notice of the special meeting today.

Officials of the bank, which is the oldest and now the only colored banking institution in the city, said last week that they are considering, among other plans, an application for a national bank charter for the bank, which opened for business at Eleventh and U streets northwest in 1913, and has been in business at that location ever since.

Officials of the bank have stated that for twelve successive years it paid a 6 per cent dividend on a capitalization of $50,000. Last year, this bank absorbed the Prudential Bank, a savings bank, which was located at 715 Florida avenue northwest.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

THE open season has now arrived for the week-to-week juggling of the probable date on which the season of the so-called legitimate theater will come to an end in Washington.

A short time ago it was the expectation that the National would terminate its season of regular road show bookings with the engagement of Rachel Crothers' "When Ladies Meet," opening next Monday night with Selena Royle, Spring Byington, Herbert Rawlinson and Walter Abel in the principal roles. Now comes word that a new importation, from the pen of Edouard Bourdet, author of "The Captive" and "The Sex Fable," will receive its first presentation in America on the stage of the National the week of April 17—Easter week—under the managerial direction of Lee Shubert, with Peggy Wood starred. This would be "Best Seller."

Mr. Stephen E. Cochran, executive panjandrum of the Rapley theatrical enterprises—freshly returned from an early spring jaunt to Cuba, Bermuda, Miami, the Riviera and the north coast of Africa, which happily never progressed beyond New York's East River quays and Lake Hopatcong, N. J.—furthermore, expresses it as his surmise that still another attraction or two may play the National following "Best Seller," thus crowding the opening of the ninth summer season of his National Theater Players back into the remote recesses of May, or even further.

This would make the opening of the stock season a month or so later than it was last year. However, that is crossing the bridge before the chickens are hatched, or something, for nothing approximating a definite date has even been hinted for the opening of the National's "little season."

Incidentally, depression or no depression, bank holiday or no bank holiday, new deal or no new deal, the 1932-33 theatrical season has been a pretty good one. A season that started out so precariously that at one time Mr. Cochran could not see beyond February and then developed into a year productive of such scrumptious entertainments as "Design for Living," "The Green Pastures," "Of Thee I Sing," "Forsaking All Others," "Counsellor-at-Law," "Pigeons and People" and divers and sundry others—not to mention "The Sign of the Cross" and "Cavalcade" in film form for good measure—can hardly be looked back upon regretfully as a complete bust!

If your curiosity has been piqued—in view of M. Bourdet's peculiarly Gallic point of view, as exemplified in the slightly startling revelations of his earlier plays produced on this side—by the imminence of "Best Seller," this further description of the work, communicated to this department by C. P. Greneker, of the Shubert executive staff, may be wholly pertinent at this time. Says Mr. Greneker:

"'Best Seller' is a play about the literary racket in France, and, according to Mr. Bourdet, who should know, there should be a French word for 'racket.' The same light and skillful touch that made 'The Captive' and 'The Sex Fable,' the plays which established Mr. Bourdet's reputation in the United States, makes his new contribution a highly sophisticated and felicitous piece of work.

"A good many of our famous and highly touted novelists become suspiciously like scavengers under his lens, and the sardonic humor with which Mr. Bourdet reveals the sly diplomacy among French publishers out to get a famous national literary prize for one of their authors, tempers the somewhat caustic commentary on the sharp practices of a mellowed Old World people.

"Some indication of the pertinency of this play to real life is the fact that it ran for over a year in Paris."

If you are one who does not recall "Best Seller" among the plays you last enjoyed in the French capital, it may refresh your memory to be told that it was called "Just Out" in Paris.

A ghost out of the past—a ghost, by the way, that has gained some 50 pounds or so, grayed a little about the temples and otherwise submitted itself to the indelible marks of marching years that have fairly blended prosperity and mild adversity—walked into the office in the early morning of a recent Monday (which would be approximately 1:30 or 2 p. m.) in the person of Louis C. Pedler.

Mr. Pedler, in case you have forgotten, was at one time in charge of the art department of The Post, abandoned art for the adventure of an advertising agency in New York and now bobs up—by one of those drolleries of Fate—as part owner of a bit of photoplay prophylaxis known to the trade as "The Seventh Commandment."

It is highly probable that this salutary contribution to the renovation of urban morals will find its way to a local screen in due course—probably before segregated audiences.

For the benefit of those who may prefer leisure with their desserts, it may be suggested that dinner need not be hurried in order to reach the first curtain of Mr. Cohan's "Pigeons and People," unless Monday night's tardy overture at the National was an inadvertence. On opening night, the antic genius of the theater's first actor heard no starter's pistol at 8:20 and so didn't break from a patient barrier until a half hour after that.

Which, of course, makes it possible to enjy two souffles, instead of one, "Pigeons and People" being almost as feathery as that!

PRESIDENT INDORSES ARMY CELEBRATION

Occasion, April 6, Is Fitting to Consider Ideals of Defenders, He Says.

Stating that "the celebration of Army Day at this time is fortunate in that it presents a fitting occasion for the Nation to take stock and consider the ideals which led us to stand shoulder to shoulder, facing the dangers of war," President Roosevelt yesterday gave his indorsement to the Army Day celebration to be held on April 6. He wrote a letter to that effect to Brig Gen. John R. Delafield, commander in chief of the Military Order of the World War.

Col. Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, and Gen. John J. Pershing, war-time commander of the American Expeditionary Forces, have already indorsed the celebration on the anniversary of America's entry into the World War.

President Roosevelt's letter follows:

"My Dear Gen. Delafield: The celebration of Army Day at this time is fortunate in that it presents a fitting occasion for the Nation to take stock and consider the ideals which led us to stand shoulder t shoulder, facing the dangers of war.

"Present emergencies are being met with this same spirit of unity. The problems are great, but will be overcome. Together we can not fail.

"I wish to add my indorsement to the celebration of Army Day and especially to commend the citizen component of the military service for their patriotism and continued service to their country."

Records Are Made In Naval Gunnery

Secret Maneuvers Hailed by Experts as Mighty Armada Moves.

San Pedro, Calif., March 28 (A.P.). The Navy today added a new page to the history of American gunnery and seamanship records with an unprecedented secret firing maneuver.

Some 75 mile offshore, west of the Channel Islands, in a drill ground from which all commercial shipping has been cleared, the United States fleet, combined Atlantic and Pacific forces, carried out the greatest gunnery event of the year, force practice.

Details of the tactics, dispositions, distances and results of the firing are official naval secrets. They involve instruments of precision controlling an inferno of fire against the surface craft and air forces of an enemy represented by moving targets. The feature was a high seas battle maneuver that many naval strategists had declared impossible, a countermarch of dreadnaughts in the midst of battle, with mighty turrets concentrating salvos of high explosive shells on targets as ships turned.

Actress Has Shavian Cry

Ann Harding Weeps When Wit Hints She Played in "Piratical" Piece.

Culver City, Calif., March 28 (A.P.). One of George Bernard Shaw's characteristically caustic remarks today left a star movie actress in tears and briefly interrupted production on a movie set where he had been visiting.

The actress was Ann Harding. She wept after the Irish playwright had hazarded the opinion that a play of his, in which she once appeared, probably "was a piratical performance."

Miss Harding said later that it "was an uncalled for bit of rudeness to an organization which has sincerely admired him for years."

"It cut to the quick," she commented.

After a luncheon at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, Shaw had been escorted to a set where Miss Harding, Alice Brady, Myrna Loy and Robert Montgomery were playing a comedy scene.

Acknowledging an introduction to the visiting celebrity, Miss Harding remarked that "In a few months I'll be playing again your Lady Cecily of 'Capt. Brassbound's Conversion.'"

"And where did you play it before?" Shaw inquired.

"At a little theater you probably never heard of—Hedgerow, near Philadelphia," was the reply.

"And would you mind giving me the name of the manager?" asked the dramatist. "I'm sure it must have been a piratical performance."

Apparently startled, Miss Harding said:

"Indeed it was not. Hedgerow had permission in writing from your agent."

Then she walked away.

Jury Selection Is Slow In Muncie Attack Case

Muncie, Ind., March 28 (A.P.).—Attempts to select a jury occupied the opening day of the trial in Delaware Circuit Court here of the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, suspended pastor of the Madison Street M. E. Church, charged with criminal assault on Miss Helen Huffman, 18-year-old Sunday school teacher.

State attorneys questioned the regular panel and a special venire of fifteen prospetcive jurors today without obtaining twelve persons to hear the evidence. Counsel for both sides indicated tonight that those already examined probably will be dismissed tomorrow and another special venire called.

Senator J. J. Davis Faces Knife Again

Pittsburgh, March 28 (A.P.).—Senator James J. Davis, convalescing from an appendicitis operation, may have to undergo another operation, his physician, Dr. J. W. Shirer, revealed today.

X-rays taken yesterday show the senator is suffering from an abdominal lesion and probable ulcers, Dr. Shirer said. This is in addition to a diabetic condition.

Because of the conflict of diets necessary to diabetes and ulcers, Senator Davis has not been able to take a great deal of nourishment and is in a very weakened condition, the physician added. The doctor said Senator Davis will be unable to leave the hospital this week as planned.

SARRON FLOORS GELB SIX TIMES TO WIN DECISION

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THE first three weeks of the 1933 season may have a very definite bearing on the fate of the Nats, according to the facts dished up by the American League schedule released this morning.

Twelve of the Nats' first 18 games are scheduled with the Yankees and Athletics—5 with the former and 7 with the A's. An even half dozen of these 18 games will find the Nats battling the Red Sox, which may be a compensating factor, but these early clashes with the Yankees and A's will test the mettle of Joe Cronin's club with little delay.

At that, Washington is vastly better off this season than in 1932, when the schedule found the Nats battling the Yankees and A's in 17 of the first 25 games of the season.

Flying Start in Race Important.

But the importance of a flying start is easily recognizable. The club that Joe Cronin brings up out of the South can do itself a deal of good or a deal of harm. Anything less than an even break means much ground to be made up in midseason. Anything more than an even break against the Yankees and the A's in these early battles will be so much velvet to fall back upon in the midsummer campaign when the race usually tightens.

The Yankees and A's are admittedly the teams Washington must beat if the Nats are to win the pennant and victories over these two contenders count double as contrasted with victories over the second division clubs inasmuch as the results not only add a victory to the Nats' standing but add a defeat to that of the Yanks and A's.

New Schedule Relief To Red Sox.

The new schedule arrangement whereby President William Harridge of the American League has called upon the East to invade the West as early as May 2, is a distinct relief to the Boston Red Sox, who each season have been forced to act as the welcome mat for the strong Eastern contenders and see their chances even of finishing in the first division go glimmering during the first five weeks of the campaign.

The Red Sox will be meeting the Nats, A's and Yankees in the first 18 games of the season under the 1933 schedule but even this task is a welcome relief when contrasted with the schedules of former seasons when the Sox were forced to spend the first five weeks battling New York, Philadelphia and Washington. After that the Red Sox were usually washed up. But this season they will meet the softer Western opposition two weeks earlier.

Municipal Swimming Pool To Be Missed.

Among chief sufferers as a result of the Congressional slash in the District of Columbia budget are the child and adult swimmers of the Capital, who are deprived of the only free swimming pool facilities in the city as a result of the erasure of the item in the budget that provides for maintenance of the Municipal Swimming Pool on the Monument Lot.

Under the able and thorough supervision of the Playground Department, the Municipal Pool was the mecca for more than 6,700 men, women and children each week and to the great bulk of the adults the pool provided the only opportunity for swimming before and after working hours.

In the center of the city and accessible to all, the Municipal Pool was open each day at 6 a. m. and drew thousands of Government employes for a morning swim before work. The kids seen walking across town with their bathing suits tucked under their arms were usually headed for this sunlit haven of refuge from the summer heat, and the number that have learned to swim there under the direction of capable instructors is countless. The slash in the budget marks the passing of a free swimming haven that ranked among the highest in tests of the District Health Department.

Rookies Hurl Nats to 6-3 Victory

Manush Gets Homer; 3 Hits by Goslin Lead Attack.

By BOB CONSIDINE
(Post Staff Correspondent).

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 28. Today was ladies and children's day at the splintery local ball yard. The ladies came in great numbers, shrieked and applauded all pop flies to the catcher, and the kiddies of the Washington pitching staff—Rolypoly Ed Linke and Bud Thomas—won the ball game, 6-3.

The child prodigies, whose every pitching feat is bad news for the older men on the Nat flinging staff, turned in a couple of swell performances to beat the Birmingham Barons. They dispensed seven hits between them and to all practical purposes Linke won the ball game way back in the fifth inning by busting a beautiful single over shortstop that scored Bluege and Luke Sewell to give Washington a run advantage it never yielded.

That the effects of Joe Cronin's waspish pep talk of yesterday to the sluggish sluggers had not worn off can be deduced from the dear old box score, which—unless the guy who made it out for me is cuckoo—shows that the Washingtons made 11 hits, including a cover-cracking home run by Heinie Manush. Goose Goslin continued to emerge from a long batting fast with three out of four, all of them very legitimate, too.

Walkup in Good Form.

Our side, however, trailed the Barons very disconsolately for the first four innings. The reason was mostly Jimmy Walkup, who used to pitch for Detroit until the Tiger outfielders went on a strike against overwork. Jimmy coughed up one hit in the first four rounds and in that stanza his colleagues gave him a break and scored two runs. The Baron rally started when Izzy Winetraub, the Cherokee right fielder, clocked a ball through Linke's short, fat legs that was still going up when it passed over second. Abernathy also singled and little Shine Cortazzo, the ingrown shortstop, bumped them home with another single through Linke's legs.

Washington came right back in the fifth. Goose started the three-run rally, with one out, by doubling to right. He scored when Winetraub drop-kicked Bluege's fly. Sewell doubled Bluege to third, and then Linke came through with his hit, to make the score 3-2. Washington added its three remaining runs in the last three innings, one at a time, all in a fashion not worthy of telegraph tolls.

Roy Van Graflan, who at least was standing a bit closer, says Thomas looked better than Linke today, but then umpires aren's very reliable for their eyesight. Both kids looked good enough to forget about being sent to Chattanooga, or points West for that matter.

Al Thomas Awaits Trial.

The branch of medical science that has to do with operating on the salary arms of ailing baseball players goes on the spot tomorrow afternoon when Al Thomas, the unknown quantity of the Nats pitching staff, ambles out on the mound for the first time since early last September, when his major league career threatened to come to a sad close on the wings of an infected right arm.

Although it will only be the Birmingham Barons who are attempting to commit mayhem to the balls he throws down the lane to Cliff Bolton, the situation teems with absorbing dramatic possibilities. Did they sew him up correctly? Has he got the old bounce on his fast one? Can he take it with men on bases? All these things must occupy his mind, and the minds of Joe Cronin and Clark Griffith, who look for Thomas to make the difference between a good and a great pitching staff for 1933.

Tommy, who is a comfortably built right-hander with a slightly hooked nose and an incessant brand of good humor, has never gotten the big league break that he deserved. He went to the White Sox in 1926, after having won the enormous number of 32 games, and lost 12 for Baltimore—more than Lefty Grove had ever won with the Orioles. Chicago was a consistent second raiser. Griffith bought Tommy last June.

North-South Golf Led by Kirkwood

Veteran's 68 and 67 Leads by 4 Strokes in Pinehurst Golf.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28 (A.P.).—Golfdom's "old guard" is on the warpath again.

Last week Walter Hagen put the youngsters in their place by copping the $2,500 Charleston open. The week before that he was home first at Jacksonville. This week, Joe Kirkwood, another grizzled campaigner and once Hagen's touring partner, is furnishing the fireworks.

The halfway mark in the North and South open, one of the richest of the winter stakes, found Kirkwood out in front tonight with a 4-stroke margin.

Two brilliant subpar rounds of 68 and 67 gave Kirkwood a half-way total of 135, and a leg up on the $1,200 first prize money.

Wood Has Rounds of 68 and 71.

Craig Wood, hard-hitting Deal, N. J., pro, was in second place after two rounds of 68 and 71 and a 36-hole mark of 139. Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y.; Henry Picard, Charleston, S. C., and Al Espinosa, Akron, Ohio, were grouped behind Wood with 143s.

Kirkwood finished the morning round one lick behind Pete Webb, a 20-year-old pro from Shelby, N. C., who suddenly clicked off a startling 67 to lead at the end of 18 holes. This afternoon Webb blew up and took an additional 12 strokes for a 79 and a total of 146.

During his morning round Kirkwood collected four birdies. This afternoon he bagged three more. He shot a total of eight 3s on his second round.

Wood was tied with Kirkwood for second honors this morning and only a stroke of hard luck on the final hole kept him from going ahead of Webb's 67 and leading the field.

Manero and Picard were even par for the first 18 and one over on the second. The veteran Espinosa was one over this afternoon and even this morning.

Tommy Armour, who shot 16 consecutive rounds under 70 on the Pinehurst course some weeks back, was 1 over this morning and 2 over this afternoon. Some of the edge was taken off Hagen's game and he was 4 over for the day.

Horton Smith Well Up List.

Horton Smith, the pride of Joplin, Mo., has been finding the going tough in recent meets, but he found himself after a mediocre first round today and treated the galleries to a snappy 69 this afternoon. He is well up on the list with a half day total of 146.

Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., and Harry Cooper, Chicago, trailed the five leaders with 144, and Golden, the defending champion, Bill Mehlhorn, of New York, and Armour were deadlocked at 145.

The amateur contingent was paced

Ed Anderson to Coach Holy Cross Gridmen

Worcester, Mass., March 28 (A.P.). The Rev. T. J. Phelan, S. J., faculty director of athletics at Holy Cross, announced tonight that the college had appointed Dr. Edward Anderson, of Chicago, as head football coach.

The announcement said that Dr. Anderson was captain of the Notre Dame Team of 1921 and is "nationally known as an All-American end."

He succeeds Capt. John J. McEwan, who was suspended as coach in the middle of the 1932 season, and in the second year of a three-year contract. Coach McEwan and Holy Cross settled their difficulties after the captain had brought action in court to recover.

Heeney Took Beating From Poreda for $200

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—In 1928 Tom Heeney, battler from the other side of the world, received $105,000 for boxing Gene Tunney at the Yankee Stadium in what was Tunney's last defense of the heavyweight title.

Last night "Auld Tamas," grizzled and slow, took a terrific beating from Young Stanley Poreda in a 10-round bout at the little St. Nicholas Fight Club and received just $200.

Heeney is reputed to have lost in Wall street speculation the money he received in his big fights five years ago.

Early Shifts In American League

CHICAGO, March 28 (A.P.).—After months of figuring around to make its 1933 schedule as attractive as possible for the clubs needing choice dates to speed up business at the gate, the American League has produced some notable changes from the 1932 set-up.

As usual, the season inaugurals will be intrasectional affairs, opening on April 12 with Boston meeting the world champion New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium; Philadelphia at Washington, in the East, and Cleveland at Detroit, and Chicago at St. Louis in the West.

Last year New York opened at Philadelphia, Boston opened at Washington a day early, then the teams jumped back to Boston to finish the series; St. Louis was at Chicago, with Cleveland at Detroit, the latter being the same as this year's arrangement.

Conforming with the changes in the National League schedule, the Eastern teams will move, en masse, to the West on May 2. Last year the West went East May 6. The Western clubs go East this season, May 16, where this maneuver was not accomplished until June 7 a year ago.

The opening home games this season present another alteration. St. Louis will be at Chicago for the American League opening here on April 19. Detroit will open Cleveland's home season the same day, but Philadelphia will not see its team until April 20, when Washington plays there. Boston will wait still another day, showing against the Yankees April 21.

Boston this year will get 13 Saturday dates, against 12 last season, and 12 Sundays, the same as in 1932. The Red Sox also will play at home on Memorial Day, June 17, which is Bunker Hill Day, and Labor Day. The Athletics, still waiting for the time when Sunday baseball may become legal, get 13 Saturdays, July 4, and Labor Day. Last year Connie Mack's team played at home on 12 Saturdays and Memorial Day.

As usual, Chicago fans will have their choice of American or National League baseball twice during the season. Both the White Sox and the Cubs will be at home on two Sundays, August 13 and September 3. Last year these conflicts came on June 5 and July 24.

C. U. Plans Intramural Field Night April 10

The greatest intramural athletic program in the history of the Catholic University is to be staged on April 10 in the gymnasium, William J. Lansche, grand chairman, appointed by the student council, the sponsorer, has nearly completed arrangements.

The schedule of the event will include contests in boxing, wrestling, running, basket ball. Awards are to be donated by local business concerns.

Nats Draw 1 Holiday Date, Schedule Shows

While the 1933 American League schedule, released this morning, is an easier one for the Nats from a playing standpoint than was that of last season, in that so many games with the Yankees and Athletics are not packed in the first third of the season, it does not give them many choice playing dates.

As against two holiday home double-headers last season, the Nats draw but one, meeting the Yankees in Griffith Stadium on Decoration Day. They play the Yanks in New York on July Fourth and the Red Sox in Boston on Labor Day. Manager Cronin and his charges draw twelve Saturday and eighteen Sunday home assignments, but benefit from but two Saturdays in New York, which also are considered as choice dates.

Garden-Dempsey Alliance Denied

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—Published reports that Madison Square Garden and Jack Dempsey were considering an alliance to provide for a title bout this summer between Jack Sharkey, world's heavyweight champion, and Max Schmeling, from whom he won the crown, today were called "fairy tales," by Garden officials and Dempsey.

The reports were that Sharkey and Schmeling would meet each other instead of engaging in scheduled bouts with Primo Carnera and Max Baer, respectively. The Garden is promoting the Sharkey-Carnera fight and Dempsey the meeting between Schmeling and Baer, already slated for June 1 at the Yankee Stadium.

The reports said the only bar to the alliance was Schmeling's hostility toward Jimmy Johnston, Garden promoter. Johnston said the reports were inspired by interests hostile to him. Dempsey promised a formal denial.

Manager of Carnera Enters Not Guilty Plea

New York, March 28 (A.P.).—William J. Duffy, manager of Primo Carnera and former night club owner, pleaded not guilty today to indictments returned yesterday charging him with violating the income tax law.

Bail was fixed at $10,000 pending arraignment April 10. Duffy was released in the custody of his attorney pending the arranging of bail.

REDS BARRY SIGNS.

Holyoke, Mass., March 28 (A.P.).—Donald (Red) Barry, of Washington, D. C., and Eddie (Unknown) Winston, Hartford (Conn.) Negro, have signed for a ten-round bout with the Valley Arena in Holyoke Monday night. They are heavyweights.

Rowe Shines As Tigers Win, 7-5

Rookie Pitcher Slams Homer and Gives Giants 5 Hits.

BEAUMONT, Tex., March 28 (A.P.). Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe, who helped pitch Beaumont to the Texas League championship last year, made good in his home town today as the Detroit Tigers, meeting their first major league opponent in a spring exhibition game, defeated the New York Giants, 7 to 5.

Rowe held the Giants to five hits in the five innings he pitched, slammed out a home run with a teammate on base his first time at bat and connected with a double on his second appearance at the plate. Although two of the hits were successive home runs by Parmelee and George Davis in the fifth inning, the 21-year-old hurler turned the pitching assignment over to the Veteran Fred Marberry in the sixth, with the Tigers holding a 5-to-4 lead.

Both teams batted hard, each driving out 12 hits. The veteran Earl Combs contributed a home run to the Yanks' score.

Sholl's Routs Crop Five, 43 to 13

Black Hawks, K. of C. Win in Other Games in A. A. U. Event.

IF Sholl's was supposed to lose to Crop Production in The Post's District A. A. U. basket ball tournament last night, somebody was left holding the bag. Or, maybe they forgot to tell Bobby Lucas and the other counterman they weren't supposed to win. Nevertheless, it stands a matter of record this morning that Sholl's won, and won in such convincing fashion that the odds against their winning the 1933 championship are slimmer than the District budget. The final count was 43-13.

At no time was the manifest superiority of the defending champions threatened. They simply started winning the game when Referee Dave Keppel tossed up the ball and Crop Production was unable to do anything about it.

K. of C. Butchers McLean.

There were two other games on the program, but like the feature they developed into nothing to write home about. The Black Hawks pounced on St. Martin's for a 37-22 victory and the K. of C. butchered McLean, 57-24. These teams were 145-pounders.

Crop Production trailed Sholl's by a 20-10 margin at tea time, but they hadn't seen anything. In the final period, the hot muffin dispensers really opened up and the score rose like a thermometer in the old Klosk on an August day. Lucas, Kiesel and Lieb led the attack.

Wick Parrack scored 8 of 13 points credited the losers, and but for the presence of the former George Washington center the Government clerks would have made a much sadder appearance.

Running true to form the Caseys amassed a 27-11 lead in the first half of their alleged contest with the boys from McLean. Jessie Black, formerly of Roosevelt High School; Artie Nock and Bubby Kissal sprayed the Virginians' goal with a barrage of shots that accumulated 30 of the winning team's points. Chapar played a good defensive game.

Black Hawks Upset Saints.

Hillaman and Beckler were outstanding for the losers, but their work was overshadowed by the brilliant offensive of the opposition.

St. Martin's were the favorites to down the Black Hawks in the opening clash of the evening; but shortly after the start, it could be seen that this dope was "all wet." After the first five minutes of play, the Hawks slowly began to draw away from the Saints. They led, 16-10, at the half and never had to worry during the final period.

No Contests Tonight In A. A. U. Tourney

The steady progress of the District A. A. U. basket ball tournament, in progress at Tech High School through the good offices of The Post, will be interrupted tonight while the officials connected with the mammoth court carnival catch their second wind. All games previously scheduled tonight have been set back one night and will be played tomorrow. There will be no change in schedule or time of games.

Gong Saves Hungarian At End

By DAVE HERMAN.

PETE SARRON, bundle of concentrated fury, slammed Miki Gelb all over the ring at Portner's Arena last night, and in one of the wildest finishes in Alexandria fight history knocked down the transplanted Hungarian champion four times for counts in the eighth round to carry off the decision unanimously.

Hopelessly outclassed from the start and knocked down cleanly six times, Gelb made a valiant stand in the face of a terrific two-fisted bombardment, holding on for dear life in the last two rounds when Sarron unleashed everything in his boxing reportoire in an unsuccessful effort to get over the finishing punch.

The fact remains that the swarthy, hairy-chested Syrian, Dixie featherweight champion, made the fight. Had he elected to pedal the bicycle as Gelb did during the early part of the hostilities, the bout probably would have been drab and colorless. As it turned out to be, the match was spirited, with Sarron doing all the leading, all the punching, and the unfortunate Mr. Gelb virtually all the receiving of the blows.

Sarron Displays Class.

It was simply a lop-sided bout, and definitely established Sarron as a logical contender from this section for featherweight honors. So powerful was the Birmingham battler that Gelb failed to win a round. The Post score sheet has given Sarron a clean sweep in

DON ROMIRO, PAYING $60, WINS TROPICAL PARK FEATURE

Winner Leads From Start To Finish

Morgil, Choice, Never Threatens; Brown Wisdom Second.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 28 (A.P.).—Form players considered C. A. Grande's Morgil a "sure thing" in the featured Miami Herald Claiming Purse here this afternoon, but when it was all over the odds-on choice was fifth in the field of seven. The Keeneland Stud's Don Romiro, paying a cool $60 for $2, drove to a length victory over Brown Wisdom, which took the place from Judge Schilling by another length. The winner negotiated the 6 furlongs in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

Morgil was shuffled back enough at the start so that he could not steal the early lead expected of him. The gray son of Morvich never could reach the pace thereafter. Don Romiro broke on top and under capable handling from Alfred Robertson, held his closest pusuer, Brown Wisdom, under control all the way. Judge Schilling could not menace the leaders, but was easily third.

Whisking Awakes in Opener.

Whisking woke up with a band in the opening event, beating Jim Macaw by a length and a half, going away, to pay $17.10 for $2. Calgary Kay was headed out of the place award. The winner raced Judge Primrose and Principio into submission in the first 5 furlongs and continued smoothly to hold safe the closing challenges of Jim Macaw and Calgary Kay. Sis Agnes, well backed, had to take the overland route and never threatened the leaders.

Genteel Lady, daughter of Black Servant, ran to her fast works when she won the 2-year-old affair in a driving finish with Luck In and Aquatis. Genteel Lady won by a half length, while a head separated second and third. The winner was off slowly but rushed up like the wind and took command just before entering the stretch. Her early efforts told, but she stuck it out when Luck In closed steadily. Aquatis came from well back and ran a winning race, being in a jam after the start. The winner returned $5.

A. G. O. QUINTET CHALLENGED.

Bolling Field basketers would like to arrange a game with War Department A. G. O. Manager McKeown is handling the schedule at Lincoln 4567, Extension 44.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: TROPICAL PARK, MARCH 28.

Please forget today. It serves me right for trying some psychology (whatever that is) on race horses. Tried to throw the books away and guess them, but it didn't work. I hustled back from the track today, bought Mike two jig-saw puzzles and then dragged out the nine volumes, that have served me well in the past, and went to work. Although I kept the telegraph office open 15 minutes overtime, I feel that I have done justice by tomorrow's card. Providing you are still in a wagering mood, get on the line. BILL.

FIRST RACE—UPPERCUT scored a smashing victory last out and appears fairly well placed among these. I expect the chief contention to come from another last-out winner—NOAH'S PRIDE. Both are at tops and will be ready to show everything. DORSAYS looks third best.

SECOND RACE—EVEN PLAY hustled to a track record at 4 furlongs, and that race repeated here will take the big end of this purse. I expect to see my friend, BUBBLING WAYS, in the thick of this battle, and the effort might be good enough for second money. WISE MOLLIE to show.

THIRD RACE—WHITE BUD has been tipped, and I'm putting this one on top. Tomorrow will be the day, I understand. Of course, I've listened unwisely before. POLISHER appears to be the best on cold dope. JUST FUN to take care of the minor award.

FOURTH RACE—AMERICAN SIMILE drops down a coupe of pegs and gets the Bennings call in this mile. Perhaps I'm wrong, but I believe MAHOMET will be there or thereabouts and I wouldn't be surprised if the second money didn't fall this way. FLYAT for the show end.

FIFTH RACE—INDIANTOWN may hold speed long enough to take care of this field at 5½ furlongs. Worth an across the board play. BLACK WATCH and JUDGE PRIMROSE to battle it out for the other money positions.

SIXTH RACE—MERIDIAN QUEEN has failed me several times and I want to be present when the pay-off arrives, which I have reasons to believe will be tomorrow. PENNATE and MODERN TIMES appear better than the others.

SEVENTH RACE—LIVE ONE is good enough for me. Has been showing brilliant form of late and needs only a snug ride. BRASS MONKEY gets in well and will have a say in the money distribution. McGONIGLE for the rest.

DUSEKS FACE MAT TESTS THURSDAY

Rudy to Meet Rival in Kampfer; Ernie Meets Grobmier.

WASHINGTON'S first real chance to strike a comparison between those rassling Duseks, Rudy and Ernie, will be provided at Washington Auditorium tomorrow night.

Cofeatured locally for the first time, Rudy goes to a finish with Hans Kampfer, while Ernie tackles Fred Grobmier.

In many respects this double windup looms as Matchmaker Joe Turner's outstanding treat of the indoor season, all four men being seasoned workers and splendid showmen.

Stealing the show recently during a 30-minute draw in Philadelphia, Kampfer and Rudy were hastily matched to a finish by Turner, who beat Promotor Ray Fabiani to the punch in signing them.

Hero of a recent upset of Ray Steele, Ernie nevertheless faces stern opposition in Grobmier. Only recently ferocious Fred succeeded in crushing Abie Coleman, who in turn held Ernie to a two-hour draw this past week.

Outstanding among the 30-minute time limits will be the return of Everett Marshall, Pacific Coast sensation, against Jean Ledeaux, French Canadian. Following a smashing stand against Champion Jim Londos recently, Marshall is being groomed for another shot at the title.

Karl Davis mixes with Frank Brunowicz and Marshall Blackstock is routed against Tom Alley in opening features.

The ticket sale is in progress at Turner's Hotel Annapolis office.

Lower Fees Draw City League Teams

Six teams, all new in the circuit, were represented at last night's meeting of the midget division of the Capital City League, held at the District Building. All were enthusiastic over prespects for the impending season.

A franchise fee of $10, which it is believed will place organized baseball within the reach of all teams, was unanimously adopted. The clubs also agreed on May 21 as the opening date of play.

Another meeting has been arranged for May 10.

UNIONISTS SCHEDULED.

The Annapolis semipros will be the first opponents of the Federal Employe Unionists, it was announced yesterday, the Government nine hooking up against Annapolis on Sunday, April 9, in a twin bill. Pilot Mat Mattare is expected to start Frank Harris, star hurler and hitter, in the opening clash.

The Unionists will hold a meeting Friday night at 8 o'clock in the card room of the Federal clubhouse, 1515 Sixteenth street northwest.

BOB BARNETT WILL RETURN SATURDAY

Chevy Chase Pro to Resume Duties After Winter Teaching.

BOB BARNETT, Chevy Chase golf professional, who is one of two instructors in this section to hold down a winter post, will leave this morning with his family from Miami Beach, Fla., to resume his duties at the District Club.

Barnett, who has been pro at Chevy Chase for the past thirteen years, is expected to arrive in town Saturday morning. He has been the winter professional at the Indian Creek Golf Club for three seasons, and returns to Chevy Chase after an absence of over three months.

Larkin Is Due Back April 9.

Bartnett's assistant, Gene Larkin, who has been the winter professional at the Highland Park Golf Club in Lake Wales, Fla., will report for duty at Chevy Chase, April 9.

With the return of Barnett, who is slated to become the next Middle Atlantic P. G. A. president, and Larkin, the Chevy Chase staff will continue as it has for the past few years. Bill Hardy will round out his seventh year as second assistant. Sandy Douglas remains as caddymaster, and Allen Burton as another aid in the golf shop.

The schedule for team matches slated for women of the District of Columbia Golf Association on two courses next week was announced last night by Mrs. Frank R. Keefer, team captain.

On Monday Kenwood will be host to the members of the first team in the first District matches of the season. Here are the teams and starting times:

First Match Starts At 9:15.

9:15 at tee No. 1, Congressional vs. Beaver Dam; 9:30 at No. 10, Washington vs. Army and Navy; 9:40, at No. 1, Columbia vs. Manor; 10 at No. 1, Indian Spring vs. Kenwood, 10 at No. 10, Chevy Chase vs. Woodmont.

Wednesday at Woodmont the second teams of the District clubs will compete. The starting times:

9:10, Army and Navy vs. Beaver Dam; 9:35, Congressional vs. Indian Spring; 9:50, Columbia vs. Kenwood; 10:10, Chevy Chase vs. Manor; 10:25, Washington vs. Woodmont.

Al Houghton, Kenwood professional, now competing in the North and South at Pinehurst, N. C., wired yesterday that arrangements had not been completed for the appearance in an exhibition match at Kenwood of Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood.

Yesterday Hagen was informed by his manager that he probably would have to change his plans for the exhibition because of other arrangements. Definite booking of the match, in which Houghton and Freddie McLeod will be the other participants, is expected to take place shortly, the Kenwood pro stated.

The match had been planned for April 9.

A. A. U. Makes Plans For Wrestle Program

Preparations are being made for the A. A. U. wrestling championships and District of Columbia Junior Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament, which will be staged at the Washington Boys Club. Harry Child is chairman of the wrestling committee.

The grapplers will dispose of preliminary matches Tuesday, April 18, allowing for one day of rest before the finals on Thursday, April 20. The same procedure will be followed in the boxing tournament, with the preliminaries going on May 3, and finals on May 5.

Indoor baseball leagues for boys 16 years and under, and 14 years and under, are being organized at the Boys Club. Any boy in the city is eligible to participate.

Renaissance And Celtics To Play

Leading Pro Quintets Clash Tonight at Auditorium.

FANS who have witnessed play of both the original Celtics and the Renaissance teams on local courts, but have never seen either team extended, have been promised an exhibition of basket ball tonight at the Washington Auditorium which is what the game was intended to be—a combination of baseball, handball, football and whatnot, mixed with demon speed and court strategy.

The original Celtics, with lightning Davy Banks as the diminutive spearhead, elusive and wily, and Henry ("Dutch") Dehnert, pivot master, pitted against "Tarzan" Cooper, mighty Renaissance center, will play the season's rubber against a team which has seriously threatened their all-time prestige.

The Rens have traveled places and have done things which stand out, winning 101 games and losing 3 this season. They have not lost a game in the past 77 starts. They have previously defeated the Celtics, and have been defeated by them. They won and lost by a single point.

Joe Lapchick will be on hand for the Celtics, and "Fats" Jenkins for the Rens. The former ordinarily does more things with a ball in hand than the budget bureau will permit, while Jenkins distributes his avoirdupois about the court with alacrity that is the marvel of fandom.

Bill Saitch, copper-colored Renaissance forward, is colored champion of the tennis courts. His sidekick, Pappy Ricks, aged without obsolescence, comes up smiling out of every floor melee.

The Celtics will be battling tonight to maintain a championship prestige which the Rens have challenged with their record of consecutive wins against the best teams that America could afford. The game has threatened to prove a test of generalship, "Dutch" Dehnert against the doughty Jenkins, and the victors will lay claim to the world championship title.

Hitting the Headpin

THE Washington Post League wound up in a blaze of glory yesterday afternoon at Lucky Strike, with Gordon Scott (Scotty to you) rolling high game of 131 and high set of 368, thus winning the high average prize for the season with 111-47.

J. P. (The Kid 'imself) Hill took the prizes offered for the highest game and set of the season with his scores of 177 and 428. Gothics, who rolled a 1,532 set yesterday, had the high team game for the year, 580, while the Breviers were credited with the best set, 1,592.

Rubys' 551 game yesterday was high. Tony Suess finished the season with 43 strikes and Kid Hill had 193 spares. That's some record.

Miller's 112 and McDonald's 290 were high in the Lutheran Ladies League at Arcadia last night. Zion had a 492 game, and 1,376 set.

Aldridge topped the Men's Lutheran League with a game of 146 and Waldrop came right after him with 374. St. Mark's had 568 and 1,667 to lead the team.

Simon's 150 and Pete Matrokas' 395 were high in the Columbia Heights League. Swann Service had a 632 game and 1,829 set.

Bess Quigley's 149 and 361 copped both individual prizes in the Washington Ladies League at Columbia. Columbians had a 565 game and a 1,615 set.

Baker and Pitts tied for high game in the Ladies Internal Revenue League at Columbia at 121, but Baker finished out her string for 302, the best set of the evening. Statisticians had a 492 game and Stenographic a 1,407 set.

Miss Collins topped the Ladies Eastern Star League with a game of 117 and 309 while Harmony bagged team honors with its 495 and 1,392, at Lucky Strike.

Proctor had a game of 127 and 350 in the Supervising Architects loop at Lucky Strike. Orientals had a 550 game and 1,585 set.

Grasso cracked the season's game mark in section C, Holy Name League at Temple last night, bowling 157. He finished with a 379 set.

Harry Pitt, who handles a wicked putter on the links, led the Insurance League with a high game of 148 at Lucky Strike. Hoy had the best set, 316. Peoples Life rolled a 556 game and 1,598 set.

Coach Names Maryland Line-up

Old Line Nine Opens Against Penn State on April 14.

THE order in which Maryland's baseball players will step to the plate for their three cuts at the ball allowed by law, was announced yesterday by Coach Burton Shipley. The Old Line team of 1933 will be one of the best in the recent history of the school.

Leading off will be Willie Wolfe, second base, with Buscher, a big hit-and-run man, also center fielder, next in line. Davidson, right field, will get the third crack at the opposing moundsmen and if there is any cleaning up to be done Heine Gorman, slugging first sacker, will be in a favorable position to do it.

The remainder of the batting order reads Maxwell, left field; Chase, short stop; McAboy, third base; Jones, catcher, and the pitcher.

Bill McIlwee and Bob Ruble will bear the brunt of the hurling with Love, who will sub in the outfield, ready to lend a hand. McGuire is the only reserve catcher on the list.

Wyat and Chumbris, outfielders; Miller and Nelson, infielders; Knox, catcher, and Farrell, pitcher, round out the squad. Maryland opens its season against Penn State at College Park on April 14, and then hits the trail for a jaunt through Dixie, opening at Duke on April 17 with a double-header.

MANUSH HITS HOMER AS NATS WIN, 6 TO 3

after he had won a couple of games and lost eight for Chicago. He instantly showed that all he needed was a good team behind him to win. He finished up with a record of 11 and 10 with the Nats, beating St. Louis three days in succession as a matter of fact.

Then his arm went blotto.

"Can't tell you how keen I am about getting back in there," he said a little while ago. "My arm still feels a trifle queer. Tendons I haven't used for so long, I guess, but I'm sure I'm going to be O. K."

Women and Children Saved.

"God takes care of drunks and fools," runs an old Chinesean proverb. "And women baseball fans" would have been added if they had played baseball in those times. Today was ladies' day and it was simply marvelous to sit up in the press box and watch 100-mile-an-hour foul balls shoot up into the stands, ricochet off the arm rests of the seats in which gayly dressed Birmingham women were chatting back and forth. Foul balls that would have made a score of men leave their seats abruptly and flee over each other's necks held not the faintest respect from the women. They simply let them hit all around them—and continued with the story about Warner Baxter's eyelashes.

SHORT PANTS.

Joe Cronin's new batting order fell down badly in the seventh when, with the bases loaded and two outs, Joe Kuhel came up—and popped out. Had Heinie Manush been batting in his customary second place, it might have been different. Heinie was first at bat in the eighth inning and knocked a home run.

Nick Altrock saw the game from the grandstand for the first time in 19 years or sump'n'. . . . A foul tip off Goslin's bat went inside Atwood's chest protector in the fourth, and the Baron catcher looked all around the place for the ball. . . . Joe Cronin's pep talks have snapped everybody out of their batting slumps except himself. R. B. C.

Davis Cup Body to Develop New Doubles Combination

Committee Aims to Leave Vines and Allison Free to Carry Singles Burden; Baker, of District, Is Named.

NEW YORK, March 28 (A.P.).—A program designed to build a new Davis Cup doubles combination that would leave both Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison free to carry the singles burden once more was indicated today as the Davis Cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced personnel of its selection committee of ten.

The announcement merely said that "efforts will be made to develop one or more strong doubles combinations in early spring tournaments" preliminary to the United States opening play in the North American zone against Mexico, in Mexico City, May 5, 6 and 7. These dates were approved by the committee today.

But behind the expressed intent of the committee to build the team around Vines, British and United States champion last year and twice conqueror of Henri Cochet, ace of the French forces, was the intimation that the crack American doubles combination of John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison will be broken to allow Allison to concentrate with Vines on the singles.

The only other outstanding American doubles team so far developed combines Vines and Kieth Gledhill, another California star. The committee hopes to free both Vines and Allison from doubles play and thus create a perfect balance of power by developing a team either of George Lott, Chicago veteran, returning this year to Davis Cup team competition, and Van Ryn, or some other combination involving Lott, Van Ryn, Gledhill, Sidney B. Wood, Frank Shields, or other youngster available for the annual competition the French have dominated since winning the cup at Philadelphia in 1927.

The selection committee named today includes the donor of the trophy, Dwight F. Davis, of St. Louis, and Holcombe Ward, of New York, both members of the first United States Davis Cup team formed in 1900. Bernon S. Prentice, of New York, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, heads the subcommittee. The remainder of the members are Lawrence A. Baker, Washington; Fitz Eugene Dixon, Philadelphia; Walter Merrill Hall, Louis J. Carruthers, Dean Mathey, Jones W. Mersereau and Julian S. Myrick, all of New York.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

ACCORDING to a dispatch from Montreal, repreeentatives of broadcasting networks in the United States conferred with Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, with regard to relaxation of the clause in the Canadian act limiting advertising to 5 per cent of the total time in any program.

Chairman Charlesworth told the network representatives that the regulation would not be amended, but in view of contractual arrangements of the two United States chains, not only with clients but also with Canadian stations, the effective date might be moved forward. The regulation is supposed to become effective on April 1.

With control of a transcontinental wire system, the Canadian Broadcasting Commission expects to be able to advance its plans for the extension of national broadcasting soon, according to an official announcement of the commission. At present the commission's regular coast-to-coast broadcasting is limited to three programs a week.

The high cost of transcontinental wire transmission in the absence of a permanent lease on coast-to-coast wires and the fact that practically all the important broadcasting stations as well as leading entertainment organizations were under contract for the best broadcasting time when the commission came into being have been factors limiting the scope of the commission's activities in national broadcasting. The commission plans, after it secures wire facilities, to provide a complete schedule of national programs to be broadcast from coast-to-coast for certain specified hours each day.

These commission programs will not carry any advertising and it is the intention of the commission to have them comprise all types of entertainment including dramatic production, talks and music, and to present them in a way to interest all classes of listeners in Canada.

The revenue from license fees paid by owners of radio receiving sets for 10 months of the present fiscal year amounts to about $1,400,000, the fee having been increased from $1 to $2 so that the cost of the national radio broadcasting service should be paid for by those receiving the service and by the business of the Radio Commission.

NO plans have been made as yet for the broadcasting of the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge chamber music festival to be given at the Library of Congress April 23-25, it was said at the music division of the library yesterday.

Bohuslav Martinu's string sextet, which won the 1932 Coolidge prize, will have its world premiere Tuesday morning, April 25.

Monday morning, April 24, the Busch Quartet will make its American debut with a first performance anywhere of Pizzetti's Quartet in D and Mr. Busch's "Nine Pieces," new to America.

Monday evening Serge Koussevitzky and a chamber orchestra from the Boston Symphony will play. The festival will open Sunday night with a performance by the Juilliard School's opera school of Cimarosa's "Secret Marriage," conducted by Albert Stoessel.

Josef Lhevinne's interpretation of Rubinstein's Concerto in D Minor, which comes direct from the composer himself, who was a patron of Lhevinne, will be the highlight of the concert over WRC at 9 p. m. Lhevinne, assisted by a symphony orchestra conducted by Frank Black, will play the last movements of the Rubinstein Concerto, concluding a performance begun the previous week.

This program, presented at 9 instead of the usual time, 9:30, also will include two Chopin works, the Etude in E Flat Major and Valse in A Flat Major. The orchestra will play another Rubinstein composition as an interlude.

The mysterious voice which has been interrupting Phil Baker every Friday with "Get off the air!" turns out to be a press agent stunt. The idea was to get everybody excited about the interruption.

Also it was expected that "Get off the air!" would become another famous catchline—such as Baron Munchausen's "Vass you dere, Sharlie?" or Ed Wynn's "So-o-o-o!"

One of the most popular songs of a few years ago, "The Pagan Love Song," will be revived by Singin' Sam during his program from the studios of WJSV at 8:15 o'clock tonight. Also scheduled for this period are "Lonely Park," "Won't You Say Hello?" and "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling."

BELLS, which play an important part in Wagner's "Parsifal," will be heard in a new and electrically controlled form when the Philadelphia Orchestra, with the aid of soloists and a chorus of 350 voices, broadcasts the "Parsifal" music in concert form next Saturday night, Leopold Stokowski, the conductor, promises.

"I have been working for a year on this subject, in collaboration with sound and electrical engineers," he said. "The bells we shall use in 'Parsifal' will be solid steel spirals. They will be struck by hammers. The sound will not be given off at once, but will follow the spiral, and be carried to a place where it will be enlarged electrically. It will be much the same as enlargeing a photograph from a small snapshot.

"In Beiruth they try to get the effect of bells in a tower by having four men pound on a piano with the chimes. Wagner himself was never satisfied with the results obtained."

Mr. Stokowski said he had studied the subject of bells in every country.

"I have talked to Buddhist priests about their temple bells," he related. "I have examined bells in China, India, Ceylon and elsewhere, and find astonishing differences. The tone of a bell is different in fundamentals from every other instrument. When a bell is first struck, it gives off a dominant tone that immediately starts to fade while a tone below it comes up, and there are all sorts of other tones and notes set in vibration."

The Saturday night "Parsifal" broadcast will be heard here over WJSV and will last from 8:15 to 10 o'clock.

Morton Downey will go on the air for his Woodbury program with Donald Novis over the WJZ network at 9:30 o'clock from the studios of WRC. He is in Washington to sing at the annual dinner of the National Press Club, which President Roosevelt is expected to attend.

Downey will begin a week's engagement at Warner Bros.' Earle Theater on Friday of this week.

TRIBUTE will be paid to Elihu Thomson, electrical wizard, at a dinner celebrating his eightieth birthday, to be broadcast from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at 9:30 o'clock tonight. Speakers will be Gov. Joseph B. Ely, of Massachusetts; George B. Cortelyou, and Karl T. Compton, president of M. I. T. . . . Radio Joe will broadcast the second program on his new schedule—Wednesdays—7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight. The half hour will be known as Part 1 of "Baseball Nite," and in addition to the regular talent will feature talent from Loew's Fox Theater. . . . Rose Chanelle, the Singing Dairymaid, accompanied by Sidney's Orchestra, will do "A Tree Is a Tree," "Down in Sleepy Hollow Lane," "A Little Kiss Each Morning" and "Maybe I Love You Too Much" (WRC, 5:45 p. m.). . . . Services in St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome will be heard at 1 o'clock on Easter Sunday, weather permitting. The musical portion of the service will be sung by the Sistine Choir and will be made up of compositions sung only in the presence of the Pope.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

NOWHERE in history is it recorded that an armed force was called out to fight an active volcano, but it did happen that troops were mobilized once because a volcano erupted. When the volcano Coseguina, in Nicaragua, erupted in 1835, it was mistaken for a naval engagement off the coast of Belize, 300 miles away. Officials at Belize ordered the troops there mobilized to be ready for the impending danger.

It is as easy to remember the names of the planets in order of their distance from the sun, as to remember a name. Mr. Vem J. Sun represents Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune; Mercury being the nearest to the sun. It is easy if you remember that "Mr." stands for Mercury; V stands for Venus, E for Earth, while the M in Vem is for Mars. Of course, if you have trouble remembering names perhaps it would be easier to memorize the names of the planets.

Proving that sometimes a well placed hit is a lot better than a long one, Outfielder Thomas, of the South Bend Club, in the Central League, stretched a two-bagger into a homer because his hit was so well placed that opposing outfielders could not find it. The ball was safely bidden in a mud puddle.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE GARBLE SISTERS.
(They discuss some momentous events.)

"I THINK it's wonderful what President Roosevelt has done, don't you?"

"Swell! Why, it's only a few weeks and he's stopped hoarding without a permit, got the banks operating on a three-point two basis and settled the salary row between Babe Ruth and Col. Woodin."

"And look what he's done about the farm problem! He's separated all the bad farms from the good ones and refused a license to any farm that ain't 100 per cent liquid."

"I didn't read the bill in detail. All I know is that they have to have a permit to operate and that even then it is up to the different States to say whether they want 'em back or not."

* * * * *

"It was wonderful the way Mr. Roosevelt cleared up the bank situation, too, wasn't it?"

"Yeah. I guess the allotment plan will be a good thing for them. You know about the allotment plan, don't you?"

"All I know is that it's a plan under which a bank that suffers from overproduction can go to Washington and get the Government to lease half the bank until things pick up or something."

"I remember now. And the Government gets its money back through a tax on process servers."

"That's it."

* * * *

"What do you think about beer?"

"I think it's a good idea to put all those conservators in charge of doubtful breweries and open 'em at once."

"How did the breweries get the money to reopen?"

"It was put in by the R. F. C. and by General Motors, I think, in order to get them liquid without delay."

"Can all breweries open?"

"I don't remember all the details, but I think that they have to get a permit from Prof. Moley or Dr. Tugwell or somebody. And they can only let you have 10 per cent of what you think you need, except in hot weather."

* * * *

"Do you think the saloon will come back?"

"I was reading about the latest plan to handle that problem last night. It seems the administration plans to merge the beer gardens and restaurants with the drug stores and run them under a national administrator."

"What for?"

"To avoid duplication and waste, the papers said."

* * * *

"What do you think of the situation in Europe?"

"I see where Ramsay MacDonald and Mussolini agreed to swap Jehol for Insull as a step to solve the money problem, and I don't think there'll be any war if Hitler agrees to abolish bull-fighting and frees those British engineers who quit the League of Nations!"

AND NO LIQUID FUNDS.

Things were so tough this winter that New York's usually pampered park squirrels were allowed to withdraw only 10 per cent of their hoardings.

And there is a rumor that the First Robin has been forbidden to take a worm without a Federal permit.

REVISED.

Well, the "No Beer, No Work" slogan has been changed to "Beer, and No Work!"

Gov. Lehman of New York insists that bars be prohibited in the sale of beer. Where will a fellow hang his umbrella, governor?

Ima Dodo is sorely disappointed at the failure to allow beer drinking in New York drug stores. She has a boy friend who has been tending a soda fountain days and taking vocal lessons nights so he could become a singing waiter in a drug store.

CHIMPANZEE SHOWS KINSHIP TO MANKIND IN WEIGHT OF BODY

Chemical Society Session Is Told Farm Waste Is Rich in Cellulose.

The chimpanzee is the only member of the animal kingdom which can claim kinship with the human race in body weight, the American Chemical Society in convention here was informed yesterday.

Experiments with Buddy, pet chimpanzee of the Bronx Zoo in New York, conducted by the Rev. Francis W. Power, S. J., professor of chemistry at Fordham University, have proven conclusively that the metabolistic processes of this anthropoid ape are nearly identical with those of man.

Buddy was given a daily dose of phenyl-acetic acid by Prof. Power and consistently detoxicated the substance in the way a human being does, while similar doses given to all lower animals were detoxicated in an entirely different manner.

"No other experimental subject had been found that shared with a human being this rather unusual detoxication power," said Prof. Power. "Buddy, however, proved to be just as human in this particular respect as any man. The compound manufactured in his body turned out to be the same that would be produced in a human being after a dose of the acid."

Synthetic Morphine Near.

Immense industrial potentialities in farm waste products, early creation of a nonhabit-forming, synthetic morphine and increased automobile motor efficiency at lower cost through use of "oiled" gasoline were also outstanding developments reported at yesterday's session.

Bureau of Standards chemists reported that "100,000,000 tons of pure cellulose, 6,000,000 tons of sugars and large quantities of gums and lignins are contained in the 300,000,000 tons of cornstalks, cotton stalks and straw annualy discarded as waste by American farmers."

Great potential value was ascribed to the waste products in a summation prepared by Dr. S. F. Acree and his coworkers, H. A. Hamm and Mary T. Kausgy.

Explaining that cellulose is the chief constituent in paper and rayon as well as being extensively used in the manufacture of numerous other articles, Dr. Acree said that the manufacture of cellulose from farm wastes is not yet commercially successful and that the Bureau of Standards is only in the initial stage of research.

Gains of from 4 to 8 per cent in gasoline mileage, increases in crankcase oil mileage up to 100 per cent, and reduced carbon formation were among the results of petroleum tests made by Dr. Gustav Egloff, research chemist of Chicago.

The "oiled" gasoline—fuel containing a minute amount of lubricating oil—also prevented freezing of piston rings and sticky valves, made for less valve grinding, and lowered the "run-in" time on engines after overhauling, said Dr. Egloff. The tests were conducted by a passenger bus fleet and comprised 10,000,000 miles of operation in every part of the country.

Question of Atoms.

The society was told by Dr. Lyndon F. Small, of the University of Virginia, and Dr. Nathan B. Eddy, of the University of Michigan, that in waste coal tar there is "great promise of achieving one of medicine's spectacular goals, a nonhabituary morphine.

The coal tar morphine idea is a new tack in the synthesis sponsored by the National Research Council and the Universities of Virginia and Michigan. The starting point in phenathrene, a hydrocarbon in tar, now thrown away in road and similar tars. The molecules of both this tar hydrocarbon and morphine are shaped almost exactly alike. Both are made of three rings of atoms stacked like a flat pyramid. The tar rings are all carbon and hydrogen. Drs. Small and Eddy declare that by pinning extra atoms on the outside of tar molecule, morphine is produced. The habituary propensities of morphine, they declare, can be greatly altered by shifting around of the added atoms in real morphine.

Among other scientific developments reported yesterday were a new method of detecting duodenal ulcers, hit upon at the Mayo Clinic and described to the society by A. E. Fosterberg and F. R. Van Zant.

About Ulcer Signs.

The balance between acidity and pepsin indicates the disease quite clearly, it was declared, except for persons with "ulcer personalities." Such people have extra pepsin in their stomachs, causing them to be "high strung" without ulcers.

Widespread and aggravating skin ailments, such as ringworms, are responding favorably to application of salts or synthetic fatty acids, according to a report read by Miss Cornelia Burwell, of the University of Michigan.

Even the most stubborn fungi were killed in a 20 per cent concentration of the salts, it was disclosed by Miss Burwell, in a summation of laboratory work on bacteria and fungi. Bacteria were killed in ten minutes with a 12 per cent concentration of the salts in water.

McKINLEY HIGH CADETS WINNERS IN WAR GAME

M'KINLEY COMPANY WINS MAP CONTEST FOR REPEAT VICTORY

Col. Craigie Enthusiastic in Praise of Exhibition by Capital Cadets.

A team representing Company A of McKinley High School won the annual military map problem contest held at the Franklin Administration Building yesterday afternoon. This is the third successive year that McKinley has won the contest. The same team captured the prize last year.

Company E of McKinley, was chosen as honor guard company in a contest last week. The only remaining cadet honor to be won is the competitive drill June 6.

McRae Team Leader.

The winning war game team was led by Capt. Robert McRae. Others composing the team were: Paul J. Clarke, Milton Pilcher, John Duever, LeRoy Willett, Lloyd Burk and Gordon Davison.

Maj. William H. Hobson, U. S. A., professor of military science at Georgetown University, was umpire. The contest was directed by Col. Wallace M. Craigie, U. S. A., military instructor in charge of Washington High School cadets.

Eastern Unit Second.

Company A of Eastern was awarded second place in the contest; the staff team of Western, third place; the staff team of Central, fourth, and Company I of Business and Roosevelt, fifth.

"The work performed by members of the winning team was worthy of men twice the age," Col. Craigie declared. "I feel a personal pride in the splendid exhibition."

The contest was held on a 12-inch Gettysburg map. The winning team will receive the Gen. Anton Stephan silver cup. The captain of the winning team will receive a medal from the cadet fund.

DEPRESSION THEME OF PLAY AT DINNER

Wage Cuts, Furlough and Other Troubles Depicted at Barker Hall.

A modern "Alice in Modernland" was depicted by the Business and Professional Women's Department of the Y. W. C. A. at its annual dinner last night at Barker Hall.

Alice is having tea with the Mad Hatter, the Dormouse and the March Hare. The Mad Hatter has just consumed his thirtieth cup of tea and is bemoaning the unemployment situation, when suddenly in rushes the Lion and the Unicorn, all dressed up as Capital and Labor.

They are fighting, as usual, and the Lion (Capital) is pelting the Unicorn with a two-week furlough, cutting his wages terribly. The Unicorn is about to annihilate the Lion with a terrific strike at his dividends, when in comes the White Queen, disguised as the Secretary of Labor.

All goes well then until the Jack of Hearts steals the Queen's tarts, which she has made to bolster up Humpty Dumpty, who has fallen off the wall and can't get back again since the King sold his horses for an automobile.

Humpty, who represents the world, is in a terrible depression, and the Queen hoped her tarts would put him back on his feet, or rather on the wall, and so she is very much put out with the Jack of Hearts, who is the stock market, or somebody.

And so on.

FEVER DEATH RATE IS LOWER IN EAST

Dr. Dyer Warns All to Be Careful Against Getting Spotted Variety.

With the season for typhus and spotted fever already beginning, Dr. Rolla E. Dyer, assistant director of the National Institute of Health, said last night that while Washington apparently is immune from the dreaded scourge of typhus, this locality nevertheless lies within the zone of the equally dangerous spotted fever which until recently was thought to exist only in the Rocky Mountain regions.

The public health scientist, who recently established typhus as a rat-borne disease and that the form of typhus found in rural districts in the East was actually Rocky Mountain spotted fever, discussed the whole range of questions involved in these two diseases in a lecture he delivered under auspices of the Kober Foundation at Georgetown University. He warned also of the precautions that must be taken now by hikers and picnickers against spotted fever due to the prevalance of the common wood and animal tick. This prevalance begins in March, he said, and reaches its greatest incidence in June and July.

He said, however, that the cases are comparatively few in the East. While difficult to estimate, he said the comparaison was about 200 cases in the East with not less than 750 in the whole Western region.

The general features of spotted fever are similar to those of typhus, he said, but are usually intensified. The fatality of spotted fever varies greatly in sections, he said, from 80 per cent in Idaho to approximately 5 per cent, while in the East the rate is approximately 25 per cent. Children are less apt to die from it than adults.

"A vaccine prepared from infected ticks has been found of value in prevention of spotted fever," he said. "This vaccine has been administered to those whose occupations expose them particularly to tick bites in known infected areas. Probably the most effective method of prevention is the exercise of personal care."

Military Experts To Visit Academy

Representatives of 43 military schools and colleges of the Nation, in annual convention here yesterday, heard high Army officers discuss various military training problems and at round table discussions threshed out questions of pertinent interest.

Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly, speaking on "Activities of the Associated Military Defense Council," made the chief address of the day. The convention is being held at the Ambassador Hotel.

Today delegates to the convention will hold a morning business session and go by bus to the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, in the afternoon, dining at the academy after observing the afternoon routine of the school.

Boy, 13, Wounds Self With Pistol He Found

William Calomeris, 13, of 606 H street northwest, has a bullet wound in his left hand to bear evidence that he found a pistol yesterday, police said.

The boy was visiting his cousin, William Contos, at 610 Indiana avenue. The pair found an automatic pistol in a bureau drawer and Calomeris accidentally shot himself in the hand. He was treated at Emergency Hospital.

Visitor's Car Robbed of $105 Loot.

Clothing valued at $105 was stolen from the automobile of Wythe O. Dabney, of Charlottesville, Va., when he parked it near Seventh and H streets northwest yesterday.

BLACKMAILING LAID TO JAILED SEAMAN

Is Accused of Getting $300 From House Member on "Exposure" Threat.

Charged with blackmailing Representative Walter Gresham Andrews, of Buffalo, N. Y., Luther C. Sykes, a 24-year-old seaman, of 1321 I street northeast, yesterday was arrested on a warrant issued at the behest of United States Attorney Leo A. Rover.

Sykes was taken before United States Commissioner N. C. Turnage, who ordered him held under a $10,000 bond for a preliminary hearing next week. Unable to furnish bond, Sykes was committed to District Jail.

Mr. Rover, under whose auspices the case was investigated, said Sykes had extracted about $300 from Representative Andrews on the basis of "exposing him." Just what this "exposure" was to be was not made public.

Detective Sergt. Earl P. Hartman arrested Sykes at Fifteenth street and New York avenue northwest. Hartman said a letter written to Mr. Andrews by Sykes and a signed statement by Sykes were in the possession of the prosecuting authorities. These writings were described as "highly important." The Buffalo representative resides at the Racquet Club.

Dr. Arthur L. Day Marries Ruth Easling

Dr. Arthur L. Day, director of the geophysicial laboratory of the Carnegie Institution, was married yesterday in New Haven, Conn., to Miss Ruth Easling, according to word received here. The ceremonies were performed in Yale Chapel.

Associates of Dr. Day last night confirmed the announcement, but knew nothing of his future plans. He makes his home in Bethesda, Md.

Civic Association Plans Park Dinner

Ickes and Director and Mrs. Albright to Be Guests April 19.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, and the Director of the National Park Service and Mrs. Horace M. Albright, will be guests of honor at a National Park dinner on April 19, at Barker Hall, Y. W. C. A., when the hosts will be Frederic A. Delano, president of the American Civic Association and Mrs. Delano, and members of the executive board of the association.

A program to include both exhibits and illustrated talks is being arranged and will be presented by the National Park Service to cover the scenic, geological, biological, archeological and historical aspects of national parks and monuments.

Special guests will include officials of the Park Service. The dinner will be attended by local members of the association and others interested in the protection and preservation of the park areas of the Nation.

Mother Wins

$4,000 Suit Against Son for Injuries Suffered in Auto Accident.

A mother and son court battle ended yesterday with the mother, Mrs. Mary Keren, of 3615 Warder street northwest, being given a $4,000 verdict against her son, Barney J. Keren, of the same address.

Mrs. Keren brought the suit through Attorney A. L. Newmeyer, who asked $5,000 damages because of injuries Mrs. Keren suffered when an automobile driven by her son crashed into another automobile near Richmond, Va., on July 5, 1931.

Mrs. Keren was lacerated by flying glass and was badly bruised and shaken up. She testified she had suffered a permanent scar on her forehead and had received other injuries of a more or less permanent nature.

The case was tried before Justice Jesse C. Adkins in District Supreme Court.

'FOX' WILL BE TRIED MAY 3 IN THEFT PLOT

Means' Alleged Accomplice Asks Early Arraignment or Bond Reduction.

Norman T. Whittaker, known as "The Fox," who is under indictment with Gaston B. Means on a charge of conspiring to commit grand larceny, will be tried on that charge on May 3, Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue decided in District Supreme Court.

Through his attorneys, Whittaker went into court yesterday to ask for either an early trial or a reduction in the $10,000 bond set for his release, he having been surrendered by Milton Kronheim, professional bondsman, Monday.

The motion for an early trial was opposed by United States Attorney Leo A. Rover, who informed Justice O'Donoghue that 25 witnesses, many of them from distant points, would have to be summoned for the trial. He also suggested the bond be not reduced in view of the affirmation by Florida courts of a conviction on Whittaker last week. The conviction carried with it a three-year sentence.

Whittaker and Means were indicted jointly for conspiring to steal $100,000 from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean on their promise to effect the return of the Lindbergh baby. Means was found guilty on another charge and is serving fifteen years.

TROLLEY VALUATION QUIZ WAITS MERGER

R. E. Elgen Avers Hearings of Little Worth Before Consolidation.

Coincident with the revelation of preliminary deductions with regard to the valuation of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. yesterday, Vice Chairman Riley E. Elgen stated that in all probability no hearings would be held on either of the street railway valuations pending an actual merger of the lines. Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman, had previously indicated that the policy would be adopted.

Pointing out that valuation figures at this time would be of little value for rate-making purposes, Mr. Elgen said that there would obviously be certain changes in valuation under the merger brought about by duplication of equipment.

While deductions of the commission's valuation engineers are still in a very tentative stage, it was said that the reproduction cost new of the Washington Railway & Electric Co.'s properties only in the District would appear to approximate $23,500,000.

Several weeks ago Mr. Elgen announced a corresponding figure of $20,000,000 for the Capital Traction Co.

During a hearing before the commission about three years ago the two companies set $53,000,000 as a minimum valuation of their respective properties for consolidation. Of this, $25,000,000 was ascribed to the Washington Railway, deduced by adding net additions and betterments to the $17,000,000 set by the commission in 1914. William A. Roberts, special assistant counsel for the commission, contended that the combined valuation should not exceed $40,000,000.
